

Cotton Men To Get Seventy Millions

of the adjustment efforts will bring $134,000,000 more than the full crop of 17,000,000 bales would have brought. However, in addition to the value of the 13,200,000 bales ($594,000,000) there is to be added the $112,000,000 the farmers have received in benefit payments and a profit of $48,000,000 on cotton options.

"This brings the total income from lint cotton for the present year of $754,000,000, the most valuable crop since 1929 when the price was 16.8 cents a pound."

Figuring the trimmed crop at nine cents a pound, he said, farmers would receive $314,000,000 more than they would have gotten for the entire crop had it gone to harvest and been sold at five cents.

"As a result of the added increase in price, the augmented income and due to the fact that the 1933 crop left to be harvested was one of the best in history in point of yield and cheapest in point of production," Cobb said, "business conditions throughout the cotton belt shows radical improvement over what they have been at any time during recent years."

It was pointed out that the yield per acre of land left in cultivation, estimated by the crop reporting board at 309.4 pounds, was one of the highest per acre yield on record.

Cobb said the plow-up program in the south not only was accepted enthusiastically by farmers but was faithfully carried out. The goal at the outset was to take not less than 10,000,000 acres or 3,000,000 bales from production. The amount of land actually plowed under was approximately 10,400,000 acres. The balance taken out was estimated at $400,000.

Cobb now is working out plans for next year's reduction program. It is the goal of the farm administration to hold the cotton cultivation to 25,000,000 acres against more than 40,000,000 planted this year.

Tenting Again On Old Camp Ground

CCC Workers Labor Where Soldiers Once Gallantly Fought in Virginia.

Fredericksburg, Va., Dec. 14.—The seventy-first anniversary of the battle of Fredericksburg finds men tenting once more on the famous old campgrounds of Spottsylvania county, Virginia.

Six hundred men in khaki, recruited in the President's war against depression, spent today clearing underbrush and building trails as a part of a plan to perpetuate forever the memory of the thousands of brave men in blue and gray who lost their lives in the hard fought battles in and near Fredericksburg during the war between the states.

On December 13, 71 years ago today, Gen. A. E. Burnside sent division after division to storm Marye's Heights above the town of Fredericksburg but not a man reached the wall lined with rifle-men from Longstreet's corps, though many brave Federals fell within a few feet of it. The engagement ended with the withdrawal Burnside's troops to their camps at Palmonth on the night of December 15.

Three companies of emergency conservation workers are encamped in the historic area now known as the Fredericksburg and Spottsylvania battlefields memorial. One is located at Spottsylvania Court-house, and another at Chancellorsville where Stonewall Jackson was mortally wounded by his own men in 1863 after one of the most brilliant flank attacks of his career had helped to achieve a great victory for the Confederates. A third camp is located in the Wilderness area where in May, 1864, General Lee thwarted General Grant in a determined effort to clear the way to Richmond. This bitter contest lasted 13 days.

71,000 Mark Passed In CWA Placements

Raleigh, Dec. 14.—The number of jobs created by the civil works administration in North Carolina passed the 71,000 mark today, Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, state administrator, reported tonight.

Projects to give work to 4,289 men at a pay roll of $615,774.33 were approved today, bringing the total number of jobs created to 71,236.

Mrs. O'Berry said 35,468 persons actually were at work on CWA projects last week.

McLean Is Named Lawyer For Banks

Ex-Governor Will Represent Six Washington Institutions Now Being Liquidated.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Angus W. McLean, former governor of North Carolina, who has been practicing law here for about six months, today was appointed by Controller of the Currency O'Connell to be attorney for the six Washington banks now being liquidated by Receiver Norman R. Hamilton.

Mr. McLean is the third prominent public figure to be brought into the Washington closed bank situation. Mr. Hamilton, who has already taken over three of the six local banks which he is to liquidate, was appointed from Portsmouth, Va., where he is publisher of the Portsmouth Star. Former Gov. Cary Hardee of Florida has taken charge of liquidation of the remaining assets of two banks, the old Federal-American National Bank and Trust company and the Chevy Chase Savings bank.

Six institutions which will be served by former Governor McLean as attorney are the District National Bank, the Northeast Savings bank and the Washington Savings bank, which have been taken over officially by Receiver Hamilton, and the Seventh Street Savings, Woodridge-Langdon Savings and Commercial and the Potomac Savings bank.

Mr. McLean took over his new duties as attorney for Hamilton today. Headquarters for liquidation of the six banks is in the District National bank building on G street near Fourteenth. It is understood the position pays $20,000 a year.

Roosevelts to Have Old-Fashioned Yule

Lacking since the days of "Roosevelt the First," the gleeful laughter of small children will contribute to the Christmas spirit at the White House this Yuletide. For many weeks the "First Lady" has been planning a joyful reunion of the family, which always has spent Christmas under the same roof. The President's sons, James, John, Franklin, Jr., and Elliot are expected to be on hand, as well as the President's mother Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt. Principal guests, however, will be the grandchildren of the President, "Sis-tie" and "Buzzie" Dall, and little Sarah Roosevelt, daughter of James. They are to have a real, old-fashioned Christmas, tree, hanging stockings, Santa Claus and everything. So it looks as if the White House is to have a Yuletide to be long remembered.

Shelby And Fallston Split Doubleheader

Rushing from behind in the second half, with the score 15 to 8 against them, Shelby High's girls basketball team staged a scoring rally last night to defeat Fallston by the comfortable margin of 33 to 26. Coach Morris doesn't want individual scores emphasized, but the leader of that triumphant rush was Jumping Centre Poston.

The boys' team trailed all the way, but had a chance to win at the half, with the score at 10 to 7 against them. The second half saw them snowed under, however, and the final tally was 25 to 12—a bitter dose for a game they had expected to win on their home court.

This ends the High school basketball season until after the holidays, when several games will be played each week.

The line up for the girls:

Shelby (33)	Fallston (26)
Hopper	Wright
McSwain	Wallace
Poston	Turner
Blanton	Stacey
Wright	Baxter
Wilson	A. Turner

Line-up for the boys:

Shelby (12)	Fallston (29)
Conner	C. Wright
Williams	Hoyle
Sparks	T. Wright
Irvin	D. S. Hamrick
Robertson	Fortenbury

Cow Climbs To Barn Loft To Munch Food

Forest City, Dec. 14.—A cow in a barn is nothing unusual in a farming community, but when said cow is found in the hay-loft that is something else. M. H. Kennedy, of the Providence community, Forest City, route 2, thinks so anyway, for the other day he went to his barn and discovered that one of his bossies had ascended to the second story loft. A pair of steep steps had been used by the cow to get to the loft where a quantity of food was stored. She would not walk down them, however, and other means had to be resorted to.

Survey To Widen No. 10 At Valdese

Morganton News-Herald.

Engineers in the state highway and public works commission's office here last week made a survey of No. 10 highway through Valdese with the view to widening the boulevard with aid from CWA funds.

The street is about 30 feet wide, and at present the paving is only 18 feet wide. Curbing has been laid and the new project would give Valdese a broad street.

A number of unemployed men will be given work when the project, already approved in Washington, gets under way.
