

Spend Christmas Up in Aeroplane

Women Flyers Spend Holiday Flying Around Over Miami, Enjoy Turkey Dinner.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 28.—Christmas meant just another tiresome day in the skies for Helen Richey and Frances Marsalls, endurance fliers. "There ain't no Santa Claus up here," said the women aviators in a Yuletide note dropped as they pilot ed their plane in monotonous circles into the sixth day in the air.

The only variation for the fliers in an otherwise routine day was a big turkey dinner, sent up to them along with a tiny artificial Christmas tree and a greeting from an American aviatrix in far-off Moscow.

N. Y. Code Authority Hits At Sales Tax

New York, Dec. 28.—The retail code authority went on record today as vigorously opposing a proposed two per cent sales tax and contended that enactment of such tax legislation would drive many retail merchants out of business.

The authority's chairman, Grover A. Whalen, expressed the organization's views in a letter to Senator Seabury C. Mastick, chairman of the New York state commission for the revision of the tax law.

The code authority is composed of representative merchants of New York and supervises the functioning of the retail code among 50,000 merchants.

"I am confident that your commission," Whalen wrote, "has no intention of imposing burdens that would put small retailers out of business. After all, a two per cent tax on gross sales amounts to a 50 per cent income tax on net profits in many instances."

American Streamlining More Scientific

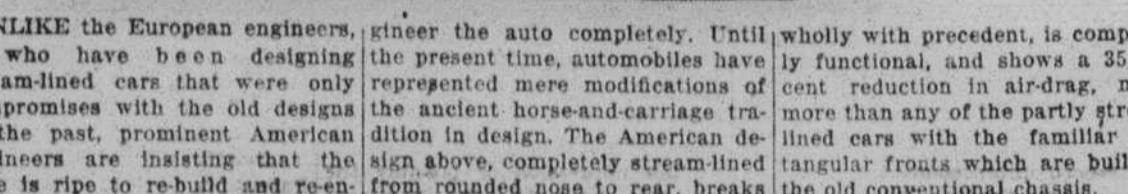

AMERICAN STREAM-LINING (Above): with rounded nose as well as streamlined rear, this model shows a 35% reduction in air-drag over familiar cars, and represents a complete redesigning of the old auto chassis, with all steel functional construction and interior so designed that no passengers sit over the wheels.

GERMAN STREAM-LINING: The most costly automobile in the 1933 show in Berlin—the stream-lined Maybach on a conventional chassis.

FRENCH STREAM-LINING: A model by Gaston Grummer, Paris, showing, as in all these other foreign models, merely the conventional chassis stylized to obtain a stream-line appearance.

Little Gold In Them Thar Hills, Amateurs Discover In California

San Francisco, Dec.—Amateur gold miners lured to the gold fields of California by the prospect of a new El Dorado find their dreamed of wealth as elusive as the fabled Golden City itself, according to Walter W. Bradley, state mineralogist. "Of the 15,000 prospectors who operated in California fields this summer," Bradley said, "few averaged more than 50 cents a day, and many less."

Pool's Gold. The bright flakes buried in placer gravels are not the easy means of livelihood that the inexperienced think them, he warned.

Though there is as much gold scattered in California's lode mines and buried river channels as has been taken out, the task of recovering it is becoming daily a more difficult operation. The pioneers of '49, followed by the painstaking Chinese miners who worked over old diggings, have left little gold along the beaten tracks.

Many Difficulties. "It's a hard life," Bradley said, "and the returns are meager. With the winter season coming on, the weather will drive the prospectors out of the higher levels. Down below the difficulties will be increased."

Through Bradley's urging, the treasury department recently did away with the necessity of small miners making individual affidavits, at a cost of 50 cents, that their metal was "newly mined," each time they sold their product.

"In many cases," he declared, "miners sell only 50 cents' worth of gold at a time and paying for an affidavit would leave them no profit."

Reynolds Returns To Washington Job

Washington, Dec. 28.—Senator Bob Reynolds returned yesterday from Asheville, where he spent Christmas with his mother. He was out early, despite freezing weather, looking for jobs for constituents. He said today that he expected to wind up his job hunting campaign this week. Among his callers today were Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Rucker of Greensboro, who brought their 12-year-old son, Walker Fry Rucker, to go to work next Wednesday as a page in the senate. He was appointed by Senator Reynolds. Mrs. Rucker will take an apartment in Washington for the winter.

St. Paul Island, Bering Sea, Dec. 26.—There was a happy group of Eskimos and Indians on this rocky island yesterday for their larders were filled with reindeer and sealmeat, an old Saint Nick had not failed to stop by on his hurried jaunt around the globe.

The less than 100 children on the island got up early. They gathered around their Christmas trees—not at all bothered by the fact that they weren't real trees, but artificial ones, because their island does not produce trees—and plunged chubby hands into stockings and mukluks for their presents.

The toys and other Christmas supplies had arrived during the summer months on trading ships from Seattle, but it took Old Santa to get them into the stockings left beside fireplaces.

They sang carols at the church and their elders gathered at a community dance after a holiday feast from stocks of plum puddings, fruit cakes, nuts, canned goods and turkeys that a prosperous season in selling seal and fox furs had brought.

But the visitation of good saints was not yet finished. Bahuska, the Russian saint who brings good things to little children of the Russian orthodox church, will come about January 7. Bahuska, the legends say, was the busy house-cleaning her home that she had no men, when they passed by on their way to worship the Christ Child, wife who was so engrossed with and since then has gone about the world during the Epiphany season doing good deeds for little children.
