

To Publish Book By Lindy's Father

Volume Suppressed During War By Secret Service Because Of Socialistic Ideals.

Philadelphia, March 3.—A book written by the late Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh, sr., the plates of which were destroyed by the United States Secret Service during the World war because of its liberal tendencies, was published on the first anniversary of the "New Deal."

Announcement of its publication was made by Gordon Dorrance, of Dorrance and company, an old Philadelphia publishing house.

The Minnesota congressman, whose son gained fame by his transatlantic flight, predicted many of the economic innovations which have since been enacted into law by the Roosevelt administration.

At the time his book, "Your Country at War," was being printed—early in the spring of 1918—liberal and anti-war manuscripts were far from popular in official Washington.

The book vigorously attacked big bankers and speculators and stressed the need for a planned economy which would protect the average worker from big business.

"Is the social and business policy of our country such that it is impossible for the masses to secure their industrial rights?" Lindbergh asks in the first chapter and then goes on to say: "I prove herein that it is impossible."

"Regardless of who wins in the World war now being fought," he continues, "the major portion of mankind, if spared from that, will be reduced to abject industrial slavery."

Warlick To Abolish Petty Indictments

Asserts Taxpayers Paying For Cases That Never Should Be In Court.
North Wilkesboro, Mar. 6.—Too many cases growing out of malice and spite are crowding the dockets of courts all over North Carolina, Judge Wilson Warlick of Newton, declared in his charge to the grand jury at the opening of the March term of Wilkes superior court.

Many of the cases which are piling up expense on the tax payers ought never to be placed on the docket, the jurist stated. The grand juries should make every effort to prevent such cases from coming to trial, he said.

Judge Warlick indicated that no process should be accepted by the state in many cases already on the calendar for trial and left the impression that his court would make short work of petty and trivial indictments.
