Mr. Seefeldt came to Shelby a week ago upon invitation and made a most favorable impression as a singer, educational director and preacher. He is an ordained minister, having entered the seminary in Texas five years ago after following a business career for a number of years.

Mr. Seefeldt has accepted the call and will return to Shelby to enter upon his work about Sept. 1st. He has a wife and two children.

Dr. Reid Morrison Injured In Wreck

Dr. Reid R. Morrison, prominent farmer and citizen of Mooresville, was injured near Barium Springs Saturday afternoon when his automobile skidded on the wet pavement and overturned after a blow-out.

Dr. Morrison who is a captain in the national guard, was on his way to Statesville to attend the funeral of Sheriff Godfrey C. Kimball. He was taken to the H. F. Long hospital, suffering with a fracture on the left arm between the elbow and shoulder, and a scalp wound.

Three young women in the car with Dr. Morrison escaped injury. Dr. Morrison may be confined to the hospital for sometime.

Dr. Morrison was in Shelby last week shaking hands with friends. He was returning from the Boy Scout camp at Tryon where he had taken a car full of scouts.

John Best Home For Four Weeks

John M. Best, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Best who live on South Washington street, is at home in Shelby for four weeks vacation.

John, a musical protege of W. T. Sinclair, former director of music in the Shelby schools, has for the past several years been playing trumpet with outstanding orchestras throughout the eastern part of the United States.

For the past several months, he has been playing first trumpet with Henry Blaginn in Louisville, Cincinnati, New York, and New England. When his vacation is up John will return with this same band which will open the fall season at Detroit.

Salesmanship Is Being Taught Here In Course By Hawk

Describes Salesmanship As Science Of Inducing One To Want What He Needs.

"From the standpoint of our every day welfare, which is the greatest, or most important profession?" was asked of Edward Hawk, human analyst and vocational adviser, who has been in Shelby for some time lecturing under the auspices of the Cleveland Star and the chamber of commerce. "All of the standard professions are very important so far as man's welfare is concerned, but perhaps the one that affects man the most and that does the most for him is salesmanship," he answered.

In its commercial sense it means "Inducing the other person to want what he needs and get what he wants." That definition will apply in a broader sense as well for every child needs some culture, an education. The parents and teachers must therefore induce it to want culture and education and to get them. Older persons (grown-ups) often need additional education, but unless they are in some way induced to want it they go on throughout life more ignorant and inefficient than they should, or need to be. The preacher's big job is to induce people to want religion and get it—to want to live right and do so. Salesmanship all the way down the line means "Inducing people to change their minds, and do what they should do."

A class is being organized here to take Mr. Hawk's special course, "Human Analysis in Selling" and will begin Wednesday night of this week at the court house at eight o'clock. This course is open to all who are interested in it. There will be a small tuition.

with the knife and then started after Miss Lane, but Mr. Lane told her to leave.

"They took me to the hospital and I have had to have my side dressed two times since."

Siller did not take the stand but questioned Pruett, asking him if he hadn't been going with her for fourteen years, if he hadn't told her time and again that the Lane girl was just dirt under his feet. If he didn't call her the "sweetest thing in the world." Most of this Pruett denied.

Then Siller questioned, or rather argued with, the Lane girl telling her that she had no right to step in and try to take Pruett. Lintay replied "You're not married to him are you? He's a free man, and I'll go with him if I please."

The love-story of Pruett, unrolled by the testimony of the two girls, furnished the court with the most amusement it has enjoyed since the trial of the wife of a Hollis preacher the other day.

Siller was bound over to Superior court under a bond of $500, probable cause having been shown.

Immediately after the trial, Siller started up to Pruett with the words "You got me into this. Now I'll—" but Chief D. D. Wilkins stopped her before she could say more, and took her from the court room.

Mooresboro Girls Give Small Party

(Special to The Star)

MOORESBORO, Aug. 19.—Miss Bab Burrus and Miss Virginia Greene, popular young ladies of this place, entertained some forty odd youngsters with a colorful and enjoyable party at the home of the former here Friday night.

Among the out of town guests were Misses Blanche, Evelyn and Marjorie Burrus of Canton.

Interesting and humorous games were played on the spacious front veranda of the Burrus home. L. W. Greene, Jr. took a peep at the silvery moon that hung in golden hued clouds, stretched his mouth accordingly and walked off with the mouth-stretching contest.

The World Moves On!

GORN FED—Famous Dionne quintuplets of Corbell, Ontario, having passed their 51st day, have lived longer than any other quintuplets in medical history. The original eye-dropper diet of corn syrup, milk and water that kept them alive their first few days on earth has given way to new menus and the babies will soon be taking their corn syrup on hot cakes if their present health continues.

WHEAT—63 bushels of it an acre, a record in Ohio, was harvested in July by Herman Brown of Wilmington, using "A.A. Quality" fertilizer.

QUADRAGENTENNIA—August 7, 1994 was the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the publication of Martin Luther's translation of the Bible, at Wittenberg, Germany. (Above, the only copy in this country, property of N. Y. Public Library. Right, facsimile of title page; (insert) Luther in 1533.) Two great conventions will officially celebrate the event—that of the United Lutheran Church, Oct. 17-24 at Savannah, Ga., and that of the American Lutheran Church at Waverly, Ia., Oct. 12-18.

RACER—Bruce Eying, famed power boat racer, takes a turn around picturesque Hamilton Harbour, Bermuda, with characteristic white coralstone houses along its shores.

NEW YORK—Miss Ann Middleton, New York's only woman truck driver, whose heavy White freight truck can be seen in traffic daily. San Francisco also boasts a woman truck driver, Mrs. Y. Kemp, and in Philadelphia, N. J., Mrs. Emily Libe operates a fleet.
