New Federal Building For Shelbys Included In Post Office Plans

Small Two-Story Structure With Elevator To Be Built In Rear On Warren Street; To Enlarge Lobby And Mail Room

Blue prints of the additions and annex planned for the Shelby Post Office arrived here yesterday and revealed for the first time the fact that a separate building will be erected on East Warren Street for the accommodation of Federal Court Offices, including a small assembly room for Federal Court hearings.

This new building will be 35 by 31 feet, facing Warren street to be built on the space now occupied by the two buildings known as the Hoey group. The Federal relief offices are quartered in part of this building.

New Work Room The addition to the post office comprises, besides an enlargement of the lobby, the addition in the rear of a work room 36 by 36 feet, with an extremely tall ceiling, giving it the appearance of a two story structure. Behind this wall will be a new mailing vestibule from which will protrude a marquee over the driveway for use during wet weather. The entire addition will occupy space now used as a driveway.

Bigger Lobby The lobby will be enlarged by a set-back, taking space from the present mailing department. By this arrangement, all mail boxes will be at right angles to the entrance, parallel to each other on each side of the set-back. The parcel post, stamp and letter drop windows will all face the entrance and be located between the boxes.

Entrance to the new building will of course, be on Washington St. On the first floor will be space for three offices, one of which is to be occupied by Charles Burrus, probation officer. On the second, in addition to the judge's chamber, will be 15 by 32 feet, will be a private office for the judge and a waiting room. These offices will be reached by elevator.

The doorway to this building, according to a glance at the blueprints, will be of handsome stone, with a columned facade of Greek simplicity and dignity. Bids for the two projects will be received up to and including Nov. 26. Plans may be seen at the post-office, from which they may not be removed, or obtained from Washington on payment of $15 security.

Cobb To Discuss 1935 Cotton Plan In Address Here

U. S. Executives Will Speak On Nov. 13

He and I. O. Schaub, State Director, To Tell Of Reduction Program.

Authoritative and first-hand information on what next year's AAA cotton program will be like will be brought to Cleveland on Monday by C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton production section, Washington.

Mr. Cobb's visit here was announced this morning by R. W. Shoffner, county agent. The cotton chief will spend only three days in North Carolina, and one of them here.

Speaks Here Tuesday He will speak at a mass meeting of farmers and whoever else cares to attend in the court house at 10 a. m. The date is Tuesday, Nov. 13. Accompanying him and also speaking on the cotton program will be Dean I. O. Schaub of State college, director of the extension service in North Carolina.

On 1935 Program They will give the nearest answer possible to the question now on the lips of every cotton grower: "What will we do in 1935? How much will we reduce? What will the government do for us, and what will we be asked to do?"

In the meantime, Cleveland farmers are rushing to enjoy some of the benefits derived from this year's program--their share of the $203,000 that recently arrived here for distribution to farmers who took part in reduction, and gin certificates allowing for tax free cotton under the Bankhead measure.

Crowds This Morning This morning, farmers crowded into the court house around the small office of the county agent in swarms that out-numbered yesterday's election crowds. More than one-half of the reduction money has been distributed, Mr. Shoffner said, and very probably the remainder will be distributed this week.

50,000 Acre Game Preserve Now Open

Big Concentration Point In Hyde County Under Close Supervision.

RALEIGH, Nov. 7.--Public hunting and fishing will be permitted this season at Lake Mattamuskeet, 50,000-acre concentration ground for wild fowl in Hyde county, under supervision of the state department of conservation and development, John D. Chalk, state game and inland fisheries commissioner, announced Monday.

The federal government plans to make of the area a migratory wild-fowl refuge, and the lake is now in charge of the United States biological survey. A proposal of the state conservation department to administer a limited area of the lake as a public hunting ground has been approved and arrangements are being completed for the state management of the shooting and fishing privileges on the sanctuary.

Under the agreement a daily fee of $1.50 for hunting and 50 cents for fishing will be charged. A guide service is planned and a schedule of fees for this purpose will be announced later, but Chalk indicated the combined fees would be considerably lower than the $7.50 charged last year.

Due to the limited area on which hunting will be permitted, the number of hunters will be restricted to 60 per day.

Sheriff Forney Rinehart, Republican, was apparently re-elected.

Another unofficial report said that the Democrats had carried the county posts, with the exception of the sheriff's office. Bankhead bill and labor disputes played a heavy part in the campaign.

Rochel Hendrick Buried Today At Sunset Cemetery

Contractor And Building Inspector Succumbs To Stroke Of Paralysis.

Rochel L. Hendrick, contractor and city building inspector, passed at noon Tuesday at his home on highway No. 20. He suffered a slight stroke of paralysis two weeks ago while working on a job and was carried to his home where pneumonia developed a few days ago.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Central Methodist church where he was a member of the board of stewards and teacher of a Sunday school class. Mr. Hendrick was born in the Beams Mill community 62 years ago last New Year's day, son of James Crowder Hendrick and Betsy Ford Hendrick. Thirty-two years ago he moved to Shelby where he was a building contractor and one of the city's most dependable and upstanding citizens. For thirty years he taught a Sunday school class and the members of his class from Central Methodist church served as active pallbearers with the church stewards and other close friends as honorary pallbearers. Half Cent Piece Owned By Citizen

F. S. Dedmon of this city is the owner of a somewhat rare piece of money, which despite the depression, he has had for a number of years.

The coin is a half cent piece and bears the date 1833 which means it has been circulating for 101 years, although it has been more than two score years since a half cent would buy anything. The date would indicate that the lowly little piece of copper went through the depressions of '37, post-war, '93, and '29. It still shows its Roman face plainly and advertises liberty and a scroll of freedom.

Peculiarly enough, the half cent is about the size of the present quarter.

Bulwinkle Wins By 6,543 Ballots; Takes County 3-1

Lead In Mecklenburg Puts Him Across

Major Is Re-elected To Congress In Hot Race As Calvin Edney Threatens.

Major A. L. Bulwinkle, Democratic candidate for congress from the tenth district, leads his Republican opponent by 36,415 votes to 27,872 with 207 out of 257 precincts in the district accounted for. This majority is tantamount to election.

Pulling away from his Republican opponent in early returns here last night, Major A. L. Bulwinkle, Democratic candidate for re-election to the house of representatives, piled up a steadily mounting lead throughout the district and by nine o'clock last night had such a safe lead that his election was conceded. A majority of more than 5,000 in Mecklenburg county early indicated how the election would go--and the major needed that pile of votes, with Democrats apathetically staying away from the polls in many counties.

Major carried Cleveland easily, about 3 to 1, the total vote from the 26 precincts being 3636 to 1,872.

He fared less well in Lincoln, where, it was reported this morning that he had lost by less than 100 votes as the county took a whirl with the Republicans.

In Burke county, which Bulwinkle supporters considered extremely doubtful, the major has apparently won a small majority.

In Mecklenburg The greatest defection of Republicans to the cause of their candidate appeared to be in Mecklenburg county. As compared with the latest "off year" when no presidential candidate was in the race to draw out the vote, namely, 1934, Major Bulwinkle lost only 18 votes. His vote in 1930 was 7,834 and this year, 7,816, with all boxes accounted for.

On the contrary, only 2,885 votes were cast for Mr. Edney, as compared with 4,586 cast for Charles A. Jonas, the Republican foe of Major Bulwinkle in 1930. This represented a loss of 1,911 votes.

Mr. Edney, however, fared better in Gaston than did Mr. Jonas in 1930. Major Bulwinkle with 8,341 Gaston votes in all of 34 precincts was 2,381 votes behind his 1930 votes while Mr. Edney with 6,395 Gaston votes was only 1,523 behind the 1930 figure of Mr. Jonas.

Republicans Get 8 In Rutherford

Sheriff Moore Beaten By McFarland; Vote Of 10,000 Is Recorded.

RUTHERFORDTON, Nov. 7.--Republicans of this county took advantage of the apparent lethargy of Democratic voters yesterday and elected five county commissioners, a sheriff, a representative to the legislature, and a member of the board of education.

Congressman Zeb V. Weaver, incumbent, was returned by a small majority to the Democratic fold. Other county offices also were won by Democrats.

J. E. McFarland, Republican took his race over Sheriff Moore, Democrat, by a majority of only 167 votes. He was defeated two years ago by Moore.

A total of more than 10,000 votes were cast in the election yesterday, which indicates that practically every Republican in the county voted.
