

Just Ten Years Ago

(Taken From Cleveland Star Of Tuesday, December 9, 1924.)

With the auditorium packed to capacity the final service was held Sunday evening in the old Central Methodist church. Such a part has the church played in the history of the town and such are the memories connected with it that many of other denominations heard the final sermon by Rev. A. L. Stanford.

In the large congregation that gathered for the farewell service in the old building Sunday evening there were three who heard the first service 51 years ago—William Hamrick, Mrs. Laura Wells and John K. Wells.

"Ladies Night," the big program of the year with the Shelby Kiwanis club, was held Thursday evening at Cleveland Springs and was as brilliant and entertaining as scheduled. The guest of honor—in addition to the ladies—and chief speaker was Dr. D. W. Daniels of Clemson college, an after dinner entertainer of unusual ability.

Around Our Town Hereabouts and practically all over the state lately there has been an epidemic of colds something like the "flu." An unusual thing about the epidemic is that it produces what is called the "sore head," or a painful feeling on the exterior of the head. In some instances the head becomes so tender that a touch produces considerable pain. Out near Waco, a local doctor relates, one fellow had it so bad that he called his wife to come and "feel how sore my head is." Now you know it must've been sore.

The street department of the town of Shelby, in charge of Hoyle Alexander, has planned a number of water oaks on the court square to fill in the vacant places and beautify Shelby's central park.

One hundred seventy members were present Sunday at the men's Bible class of the Central Methodist church. The class which is taught by Clyde R. Hoey, has on a membership contest with the aim of having a class of between 200 and 250 members by the time the Sunday school goes into the new church.

Local people will be interested to know that Hugh Arrowood, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. U. Arrowood, of this place and a freshman at Davidson college, was selected as a member of mythical all-star football team. Young Arrowood was a star on the Shelby high eleven last year and has made quite a record as right end on the Davidson Wild Kitten squad this year.

With a beautiful setting and witnessed by a large assemblage of relatives and friends, the marriage of Miss Adele Dolores Cross and Mr. Burton Forrest Mitchell was brilliant solemnized at six o'clock Wednesday evening at Trinity church.

The many Shelby friends of Harvey W. Jetton, Jr., son of former Chief of Police H. W. Jetton of the town of Shelby will be interested in the announcement of his wedding which took place Friday evening at 7 o'clock in the home of Mrs. J. J. Austin, 1931 E. Fourth St., Charlotte, the Rev. C. B. Mashburn officiating.

The groom holds a position with Belk Brothers in Charlotte.

Mr. Troy McKinney was a delightful host on Friday evening when he entertained a number of his high school friends with a most enjoyable party. After games and music delicious refreshments were served these happy young people.

Patton To Fill Kistler's Place

MORGANTON, Dec. 4.—Frank C. Patton, prominent local lawyer and former United States district attorney, has been named to the presidency of the Morganton Chamber of Commerce to fill out the unexpired term of the late J. Frederick Kistler, victim of an airplane crash. The selection was made by the board of directors, and S. J. Ervin, Jr., was named to fill the post of the late Mr. Kistler as national counselor to the United States Chamber of Commerce.

DISTRESS AFTER MEALS Relieved by Black-Draught

"I had sour stomach and gas," writes Mr. Jess Higgins, of Dawsonville, Ga., "and often I would have bilious spells. I read about Theodor's Black-Draught and began to take it. It relieved me of this trouble. I keep it all the time now. I consider it a fine medicine. I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals when I need it. It helps to prevent sick headache and to keep the system in good order."

Get a package at the store. Try it! Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a BRUPEL for CHILDREN.

Historic Debate Society Disbands After 97 Years

DAVIDSON, Dec. 6.—The Phil literary society, extant on the Davidson campus for almost a century, has disbanded because of a lack of interest on the part of the students.

This society, founded in 1837, has played a prominent part in the life of Davidson. With U. S. society, the other literary and debating organization on the campus, this society formerly held a position of prominence in the social and political life of the campus.

From their inception in 1837 down to the beginning of the last decade, the two societies were the leading organizations on the campus. They virtually controlled the social life of the campus, were the major factors in the commencement occasions at Davidson, and were the leaders in the literary life of the college.

Since 1920, however, the two groups have been declining steadily, and have been replaced by other groups, so that their function during the past 15 years has been restricted almost exclusively to debating.

The halls which have been the meeting places of the two societies are two of the oldest landmarks at Davidson, having been constructed during the first half of the nineteenth century. The Phi hall is famous for the chandelier which is a replica of the one under which Napoleon III was married. Eu hall is noted for the fact that Woodrow Wilson, when a student at Davidson, made his first public address there.

Cameron Deans, of Davidson, president of the society, stated that it was the hope of the officers to re-organize the society at some time in the future.

State Buys 87,103 Acres For Parks

RALEIGH, Dec. 4.—The purchase of 87,103 acres of national forest lands in six North Carolina units was approved at the last meeting of the National Forest Reservation commission. State Forester J. S. Holmes has been notified by William P. Kramer, assistant regional forester with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

The new program marks the first areas in two new purchase units to be approved for acquisition by the commission. They include the Croatan in the extreme eastern part of the state and the Uwharrie in the piedmont section.

Shelby's Grand Old Man, Reaches 81

Rev. J. E. Thompson, "Shelby's Grand Old Man," sits on his piazza or walks the streets in beautiful resignation to the tides of time. His eighty-first birthday has come and gone; still he patiently waits and still he says with Henry Van Dyke:

"I shall grow old But never lose life's zest. Knowing that the last turn of the road Will be the best."

Truly, he has good reason for the equanimity of spirit which he enjoys. His life has been lived on such a high plane that he now finds that serenely that is attained only by the great hearted.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson was born in Alamance county in 1853. He attended Trinity college (now Duke university) during the presidency of that great man, Dr. Braxton Craven. Mr. Thompson won many honors during his college days and was graduated with the A. B. degree in 1878. He got his Master's degree in 1880.

During the presidency of Dr. Crowell, Mr. Thompson was asked to accept a professorship in the college, but he declined feeling that his work was in the active ministry. He joined the conference in 1879 and was in the service for 47 years. At one time he was pastor of the Central Methodist church in Shelby. Among other churches, he served as pastor of Asheboro, Belmont, Concord and High Point. He was presiding elder of the Statesville and Charlotte districts.

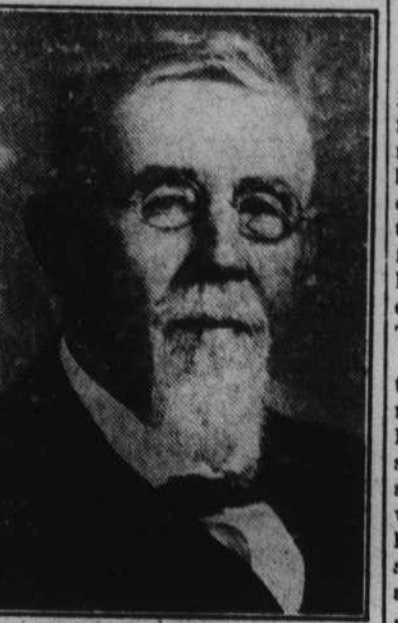

The church at Belmont retained his services for six years. This was one of the first extensions beyond the customary quadrennium. Many offices in the Western North Carolina conference were given him. He was the first president of the Historical Society.

Several years ago he served as president of the Trinity College Alumni association. He has maintained a keen interest in that institution for more than a half century. He has seen it grow from a little college into a great university. It is now his plan to attend the Duke day dinner in Shelby on December the tenth, the tenth anniversary of the signing of the Duke Endowment by Mr. James B. Duke.

Mr. Thompson married Miss Rosa Peques, a daughter of one of South Carolina's oldest and most prominent families.

Since his superannation in 1926, he has made his home here with his daughter, Mrs. Lamar Gidney.

His presence is a blessing to the community. His many friends wish for him lengthened days. As for himself, he says, "I don't know how far down the road I'll journey, but I expect to stop in front of my Father's house."

Education Heads Get Bids Soon On New Text Books

RALEIGH, Dec. 6.—The State Board of Education will hold hearing Dec. 17-19 on basal school book materials in the natural sciences, home economics, health and agriculture and will receive bids on these and supplemental material from publishing houses Thursday, December 20, at noon, it was decided at a meeting held of the board Tuesday.

The board received the reports of the State high school textbook committee which contained a multiple list of books, usually three for each subject, which the committee considers satisfactory for basal, as well as supplemental books for the high school pupils in the public schools of the state. Any new books adopted will be decided upon before January 1 and will for use beginning with the opening of school next fall.

The basal books, those to be adopted for all of the schools, are general science, biology, chemistry and physics, with laboratory manuals for these studies, and geography and physiology, while the supplemental books to be adopted, largely to be used from school libraries and not bought by the pupils, are in health, home economics, woodwork, drafting, printing, machine shop, electricity, automobile art jewelry and work books to go with these studies.
