Mrs. Norman Nelson of Savannah, guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. A. Lattimore, of Shelby, and Mrs. Harvey London, who is moving soon from Blacksburg to Greenville, S. C. were honor guests and each received an attractive gift. Mrs. J. A. Lattimore won the prize for scoring high and Miss Aileen Turner scored low.

Guests were present for play at three tables. The living room where the tables were placed and decorated with a pretty assortment of spring blossoms. Tallies and table appointments were suggestive of Easter.

An elaborate salad and sandwich course with iced tea and sweets was served.

CARRIER BOYS ENJOY BANQUET

The carrier boys for The Cleveland Star were entertained Saturday evening at a banquet at the Shelby hotel by the Star Publishing Co. After dinner inspiring talks were made to the boys assembled by Editor Lee B. Weathers, J. C. Jenkins, circulation manager, and Mrs. C. R. Hoey. Mr. Weathers acting as master of ceremonies, made a short talk after which he introduced Mr. Jenkins and Mrs. Hoey, who spoke in turn. Mrs. Hoey, the principal speaker, talked informally and charmingly, urging the boys to cultivate habits of honesty, loyalty and courtesy in the discharge of their duties.

Mr. Jenkins presented cash prizes, won in a recent subscription contest. The first prize of $3 went to Dewey Welch of Kings Mountain; the second, $2, to Hood Watterson of Grover; the third prize, $1, to Bobby Arey; fourth prize, $1, to Earl Hicks; and fifth prize, $1, to Forrest Glass.

After the presentation of these prizes Mr. Weathers introduced his son, Henry Lee, as a former carrier boy, who presented gifts from Star Publishing Co. to Mrs. Hoey and Mr. Jenkins.

Those present were: Mrs. Hoey, Mr. Weathers, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Miss Joyce Wilson, Mrs. Renn Drum, Wyan Washburn, Dewey Welch, Hood Watterson, Bobby Arey, Forrest Glass, Jack Southard, James Barnett, C. Fallston Trips Waco Team By 8-7 Colder Tuesday

Fallston won their third straight baseball game this year Friday afternoon by defeating the Waco sluggers 8-7 after Waco had led 7-0 in the fifth frame.

Kendrick and Biggerstaff were the big noises in the pitchers box. Beattie hurled a good game for the losers. Biggerstaff got a three bagger in the fourth. Waco's catcher knocked a home run in the third.

Mrs. Jessie Kendrick Buried In Arkansas

Funeral services were held Sunday in Magnolia, Ark., for Mrs. Jessie Kendrick, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kendrick of Shelby. She died in St. Margaret's hospital at Montgomery, Ala., on Friday night, suffering from erysipelas, after an illness of only a few days.

Her husband, father, mother and several brothers and sisters survive. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Looney.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick had made their home in Opelika, Ark., for the past three years.

Chase Through Hills Solves Store Robbery

The purpose of Sheriff Cline and Deputy Jolly in their foray into the South Carolina Mountains a month ago, in which they inadvertently scared the wits out of two moonshiners in a chase over rutted roads over steep slopes, was revealed this morning.

They are seeking evidence for the arrest of suspects in the robbery of the Ora Mill store on Feb. 18.

Lloyd McCraw is under bond as the result of the investigation and warrants have been issued for the arrest of two other suspects.

Asks Clerk To Sell Drivers Licenses

H. J. Hatcher, Burke's representative in the legislature, has introduced a bill in the house to provide for the sale of state motor vehicle license plates by clerks of superior courts.

No action has yet been taken on the measure, which provides for the payment of eight cents to the clerk for each tag sold.

Polkville Seniors To Present A Play

CLAUDE WEATHERS SELLS HOME TO C. V. HANNA

Claude Weathers has sold his new home just off the Cleveland Springs road to C. V. Hanna, superintendent of the Cleveland Cloth mill. Mr. Weathers and family have moved to the home of his father, Zeb Weathers on N. Washington street.

Senior Play Is Feature Affair; Plan Gift Soon

One of the biggest crowds ever to attend a performance in the high school auditorium was present Friday night when the senior class presented "Little Miss Fortune," a comedy in three acts.

The play was directed and coached by Mrs. Cecil Gilliat and was said to be one of the best pieces of dramatics given in Shelby literally circles for some time. From a financial point of view the play was also a success, the class clearing more than $100 which they will combine with other money made this year to make the "senior gift" to the school. Just what that gift will be has not been announced.

Miss Marie King, as a sweet young working girl, was acclaimed the star player of the evening although she was ably supported by other members of a well chosen cast. They were Ruth Toms, Hill Hudson, Jr., Harold Bettis, Helen Wilson, Marilyn Smith, Woodrow Wall, Pansy Fetzer, Louise Lybrand, Ruby Bridges, Will Arey, Jr.

Nearly 80 of the seniors had parts in the play as marshalls, and committee members for advertising, costumes, property and stage features. Mrs. B. E. Hendrick was chairman of committees.

O. W. Green Out For City Council Running In No. 3

O. W. Green, of the Shelby mill, today announced himself as a candidate for alderman in ward 3. He made the following statement:

"I believe in a new deal government, for the people, and by the people. I do not believe we should sell the city light plant. For then, the people could not set the price rate."

"I am unaware of the facts, concerning our city water rate, but if it is at all possible, I am in favor of a cut in rates."

"I believe in an economic government. I do not believe in putting our taxpayers in debt for anything unnecessary."

"I believe in a clean government, also a clean city. That trash and garbage be taken up regularly from all parts of the city. That streets and sidewalks be kept up, as far as possible in all parts of the city."

"I have been a resident of Shelby for the past 10 years. Have learned to love and respect lots of its citizens. I am a World war veteran. Served 18 months overseas."

"If elected, I will serve to the best of my ability for a square and honest deal to everyone concerned."

Boiling Springs High School Has Senior Class Meal

A smart social occasion was held Friday night at Boiling Springs junior college when the high school senior class was feted with its annual banquet.

The address of welcome was made by Paul Hamrick, jr., which was responded to by Mary Louise Huskey from the senior class. President of the college, J. L. Jenkins, gave a response from the faculty.

Illumination of the class was given by Prof. O. P. Hamrick, being followed by a special dance feature given by Margaret Hamrick, Nancy Carroll Moore, Katherine Jenkins, Pauline Brooks and Dorothy Sue Hamrick.

A message of spring was given the seniors by Miss Cora Lee Burnett.

done in Virginia. His remarks caused the resolution.

Dr. Henderson spoke on "The Office of the Deacon" and "The Deacon at Work," emphasizing the vital part deacons and other laymen can play in the work of the church. I. G. Greer spoke in the morning session on "What a Deacon Can Do" giving a vivid portrayal of the deacon as a spiritual force at work in his own community.

Are Key Men Judge G. H. Jones, prominent High Point layman addressed the body in the afternoon giving 10 points for the "key men" of the church to follow.

Special music was furnished by a male quartet and by H. C. Seefeldt of the First Baptist church here.

The meeting was the first of its kind ever to be attempted in the state and possibly the south, in which the deacon is emphasized as being as important for the church and community as even the pastor.

Too much could hardly be said for the unusually large picnic dinner served at noon as tables 100 yards long were loaded with food for the huge delegation. The women declared that they had prepared for 2,000 persons.

Pastors, speaking of the meeting, said it was one of the finest in spirit of fellowship ever held in the county.

Murder Trial Is Started Today

morning with B. T. Falls, shrewd defense counsel, appearing for Parks. The state, represented by Solicitor L. S. Spurling, alleges that Parks slew J. R. Downs when the latter pursued him after the negro broke away from an arresting officer in No. 10 township.

Murder Trial Young Downs chased the negro over several fields, until the fugitive turned suddenly, pulled a pistol hidden in his cap, and fired point blank at Downs' chest. The latter fell, but climbed a barbed wire fence and held the captive until help arrived. He died almost immediately.

The special venire is composed of S. H. Allison, L. P. Humphries, R. R. Green, Gilbert Jones, J. C. Beason, Rex Bridges, J. B. Walker, A. C. McSwain, D. B. Matthew, Vic Bowen, Hayne Patterson, R. Biggers, J. I. Morehead, W. A. Ware, J. M. Williams, M. H. Jenkins, Carl Martin, George G. Beatty, W. W. Greene, V. B. Lovelace, T. A. Bridges and W. F. Davis.

ago to Miss Nell McGinnis, of South Shelby. The couple were expecting their first child sometime this week.

He had been employed several years ago as janitor for the South Shelby school and worked part time at the high school. Teachers said he was a conscientious worker, faithful and intelligent.

Besides his wife, his mother and father, three brothers survive. They are Luther, Edward and Boge, all of South Shelby. Three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Hamrick of Double Springs, and Charles Harrill of Gaffney also survive.

It was said that he died of internal injuries.

It is estimated that deaths from tuberculosis cuts off one and one-half years for the average length of life in the United States.

Heavy Sentences For Barn Burners

Canipe, received long sentences here Friday after witnesses told strange tales of vengeance and moonshining in the South Mountain foothills.

The murder trial opened this hatred of men on being "turned up" to officers but revealed evidence of a big liquor making ring which may have been the cause for barn burning, using the men who were convicted as "tools."

The case against Andrew Goins, admittedly a partner in the liquor manufacturing activities, was declared a mistrial for lack of evidence.

Holocaust The Pruett barn-burning was a spectacular holocaust in which a half dozen head of mules and cattle, two automobiles, and produce valued at several thousand dollars was destroyed. Cliff Carter, son-in-law of Pruett, was said to be a "branch walker," an informer who trudged along creek banks in search of stills to report to officers.

The shiners, all of whom took the stand told a yarn of moonshining that sounded like a chapter from a William Faulkner novel. It involved expensive and extensive liquor operations and a rather pretty girl, who also testified. She was a "moonshine moll," hillbilly version of gangster gal, who helped her man and went to all with him. Her name was Mrs. Selma Murphy, sweetheart of the moonshiner, Eli Ritchey, a confessed partner in the syndicate managed by an alleged boss in Charlotte.

Sheriff Raymond Cline is credited with a coup in the conviction of these men and in the indictment of four negroes, on charges of barn burning. He believes he has broken up two liquor rings which controlled widespread distribution through threat of fire by night.

An appeal was taken by the defense.

Carrier Boys Win In Star Contest

Dewey Welch of Kings Mountain won first prize in The Star's carrier boy contest which recently closed. Points were scored on the number of new subscribers, absence of complaints on the part of subscribers and neatness in keeping of their records. Young Welch scored 1570 points. Hood Watterson of Grover won second prize with 1535 points, Will Arey, jr., of Shelby third place with 1505 points, Forrest Glass of Shelby fourth prize with 1330 points. Twenty five Star carrier boys scored points in the contest.

At The Theatres

Songs, comedy and romance in a colorful tale of the old South are the entertainment features offered in Paramount's version of "Mississippi" starring Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields and Joan Bennett, today and Tuesday at the Carolina. Bing introduces several new song hits and is assisted by Queenie Smith, star of the musical comedy stage. The Cabin Kids will also appear in the several numbers in the feature.

"Gold Diggers of 1935" brings a magnificent spectacle to the Webb's screen beginning today. Unique dances and laugh features punctuate the feature. The cast features Dick Powell and a dozen other favorite stars, including Adolphe Menjou, Gloria Stuart, Alice Brady, Glenda Farrell, Frank McHugh and Grant Mitchell, plus the internationally famous dancers, Ramon and Rosita.
