Humorist Amuses College Students In Chapel Talk

BOILING SPRINGS, Mar. 3.—Dr. C. L. Ripley, who is not of the Believe It or Not Ripleys, delivered one of the most amusing, most intelligent and one of the most interesting lectures to be heard outside the chaatauga here in the Memorial building Friday morning. Dr. Ripley, a former Methodist preacher of Dallas Texas, jumped from one subject to another, from humor to drama, with the alacrity of a Texas jack rabbit, but the main topic of his theme was "The Open Door."

Dr. Ripley, who has retired from the ministry to travel throughout the east, jammed his message full of humorous jokes and sketches, but followed each laugh with a seasoned statement. Some of the points he brought out were: A man who works with the young will always stay young. There is nothing in your way but yourself. No man can shut the open door.

Talent Necessary. The Texas preacher also declared that the work of the world is coming to one talent—that this talent must be used to its utmost.

"Ignorance is a sin, a crime," Dr. Ripley solemnly repeated. He said the world had been built through dreams—the dreams of Edison, Ford, Burbank, Watt, Fulton and others. "Build your air castles, bring them down to earth and live in them," he ordered. "Don't turn a job loose because it is hard."
