Lovely Party Is Given By Miss Inez Humphries

(Special to The Star.)

CAMP CREEK, April 4.—Preaching services were held at Camp Creek church Sunday morning with the Rev. H. E. Waldrop in charge. It was his first service as new pastor.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Clay Hawkins March 25 a daughter, Caroline Louise. She is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Miss Inez Humphries gave a delightful party Saturday night. A large number was present and many games were enjoyed.

Hickory Grove school closed Friday night with a very interesting program.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Davis and son H. B., of Gaffney, S. C., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Davis.

Miss Reba Hamrick spent the week end with Miss Nell Davis of Cherokee.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Waldrop of Shelby were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Jones Sunday.

April Fool Party Held At Mt. Sinai

Miss Madge Hardin Entertains Many Friends; Foolish Ideas Complete.

On Monday evening Miss Madge Hardin entertained a group of friends at her home in Mt. Sinai community with an April Fool party.

As the guests arrived Miss Hardin carried a lantern and directed them across the field to an empty tenant house, which was lighted and decorated with foolish signs for the occasion where they were entertained.

Greeting the guests as they arrived at this old house were: Miss Violet Hardin and little Misses Margaret Ann Ellis, Selma Hardin, and Margie Bridges, who were all dressed in a foolish grown-up disguise and wore paper bags for gloves.

Many interesting games and contests were enjoyed.

Jesse Ellis of Earl rendered an interesting feature by tap dancing, while Nancy and Dean Ellis furnished string music throughout the evening.

Those calling during the evening from other places were: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kiser, Mrs. C. H. Reinhardt, Mrs. Nance, and Mr. Lanier Ellis, all of Shelby; Jesse Ellis, Fred Nichols, Marsden Blanton and Prof. J. A. Hallman of Earl; Howard Bettis of Limestone college; Gaffney, S. C.; A. V. Allen and Ray Moore of Zoar and Misses Lyda Poston and Christine Honeycutt, members of the high school faculty of No. 3. About fifty guests were present.

Notes And News From Here And There About Cleveland County People You Know

THE ANSWER to the little conundrum we ran a week or so ago isn't so tough. Several persons worked it out. The idea was to get seven gallons measured by using only an eight and a five gallon measure. This is how to do it:

Fill the five and pour in the eight. Fill five again and fill the eight. Pour out the eight. Pour the two in the five in the eight. Fill the five and pour in the eight.

THE PING PONGERS are getting better 'n' better. George Blanton was the sponsor of the game here, owning the first table that this dept knows of, and under his eye Cecil Gilliat, Ben Kendrick, and their madams, and Hersh Cohen have developed into mighty players. The Cohens, by the way, have got their own table now, and interest in the game is spreading. Hersh used to play team matches back in old England.

OVERHEARD after court adjournment the other day: two prisoners talking before being led off to jail. Said one: "I'm mighty glad I did not get me a lawyer. Why, I got off with six months. If I'd had one of these here Shelby lawyers he'd of talked me into a year at least."

REV. J. L. JENKINS, president of Bowling Springs college, tells this one on the Baptists. Two fellows who were boyhood chums parted and didn't meet again for years. One became a Baptist parson. Returning home, he met his old friend, who inquired as to his business.

"Why, I've joined the Army of the Lord," said the first.

"What you mean?" said number two.

"Why, I mean I'm a Baptist preacher."

"Shucks," said the friend: "you aint in the army—you joined the navy."

A LAST YEAR'S crop of un-gathered corn was seen in the field of a farmer in the Double Springs community on Sunday. Why this corn was allowed to stay in the field all winter has not been learned. The farmer either has an abundance or believes that Mother Nature wraps the ears so securely in waterproof shucks and that when the ear drops its head the corn is as well protected as it would be stored in a bin. Contrast this with the information that Andrew Lattimore, one time New Yorker by adoption, who has returned to his native county and to his first love, farming, planted 135 acres of early corn more than a week ago.

"IT WAS REALLY a very beautiful pantomime, given with dignity and, in my judgment, entirely appropriate to the church." This is the appraisal of the so-called dancing maidens introduced in the First Christian church at Columbus, Mo., by the pastor, Dr. C. E. Lemmon. Arthur Brisbane called them "dancing maidens" and left the impression that they were imitating, to some extent, the much talked of Sally Rand. Dr. Lemmon says it was a "beautiful pantomime."

TWO INTERESTING salesmen come periodically to The Star office selling typewriter ribbons and carbon paper. One is Mr. Iwaya, a native born Japanese. Mr. Iwaya has learned enough English to sell his merchandise and do it very successfully. His territory is the United States east of the Mississippi, and wherever he goes he expresses loyalty and pride for his adopted country. The other salesman is a blind man, whose eyes have perhaps never seen a typewriter ribbon, but through the sense of feeling, he can detect quality and color. Whenever he greets a former customer he always says, "I am glad to see you again." Although he does not ask for business on sympathy, he usually gets an order.

TWINS AND MORE TWINS: The list continues to grow. From a Lawndale scout we learn of the following twins: John A. and Dovie Self, Gene and Dean Ward, Dean and Billy Ashley, little son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ashley, Edward and Joyce Lee, children of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lee . . . Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Barrett of route 2, Kings Mountain, have twins whose names are twin except for a Z: Elmer and Zelmér.

Casar Cows Eat Nitrate of Soda; 3 Of Them Die

(Special to The Star.)

CASAR, April 4.—O. G. Newton had the misfortune to lose three cows one night last week. The cows were thought to have eaten some nitrate of soda. A. L. Wortman lost a nice fresh milk cow one day last week also.

The South Mountain singing convention met Sunday at Pisgah church with a large crowd attending. Those taking part in the singing were: The Lawndale, Fallston and Zion Hill quartets, the Mitchell twins, the Haynes quartet from Cherryville, the Hoyle quartet from Carpenters Grove, Pisgah choir and the St. Paul choir.

Mrs. Marvin Brittain of Valdeese spent Wednesday in Casar.

Those recently moving to Casar are: Charles Mull and family of Clover, S. C., brother of Mrs. J. O. Hoyle; Preston Lail and family of Morganton to the Knox Hunt old residence; A. B. Roberson and family from near St. Paul to the Mrs. Propet old place.

Mrs. Joe Hoyle is still very sick at this time and shows no improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shepherd of Grover visited Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Newton Sunday.

There will be a parent teachers meeting at the school building here next Tuesday night.

Mrs. Nancy Short is showing a little improvement after a severe attack of pneumonia and high blood pressure.

Dock Turner is spending 10 days with his parents. He is with the marines stationed at Quantico. He has been to the Panama Canal since he joined last spring, and has traveled more than 4,000 miles on water.

In 1865 the English parliament passed an act forbidding the playing of tennis, which was becoming very popular among the youths of the country. The reason for this was the belief that tennis did not improve the military strength of the nation and so was merely a waste of time.

WHY YOUR MONEY IS SAFE

It is secured by a large number of first mortgages, covering medium-size homes in Shelby and vicinity. Conservative loans upon this type of property have proven beyond all doubt to be the safest type of loans. No small group of stockholders can "rock the boat" by drawing out more than a normal amount of money, because in time when a small minority of members become excited, withdrawals may be limited to the income of the Association.

Building and Loan Association's are under the strict supervision of the State Insurance Department. Periodical examinations of their records are made and Building and Loan officials are adequately bonded.

FOR "PREPAID" INVESTMENT

Or you can "prepay" each share for $72.50 each. We have never paid less than 6% dividends in 13 years of business, and these shares will be worth $100.00 at maturity.

FOR TEACHING THRIFT TO CHILDREN

Building and loan is the easiest way to teach thrift to your children. It teaches them the value of small sums and their earning power. It will teach them regularity and start them on the road to future success. Open a share or two in this series and give them the pass book.

Drop in today for a few minutes and arrange for your shares in this new series. Millions of people just like you and me, have found it the easiest way to save. Don't put it off any longer. We will be glad to tell you all about it.
