Three Plans Given by Smith For School Book Purchases; Also Gives Economy Rules

Three plans by which textbooks for the coming school year may be secured were revealed today by Capt. B. L. Smith, superintendent of the city schools, along with a complete price list of every book that will be used in the elementary and high school this year.

The superintendent also gives several suggestions for parents to go by in purchasing other school supplies which each child will need.

There will be three possible ways of securing textbooks during the coming year. (1) They may be bought new at the book room which will be maintained at the high school, or at the Austin-Cornwell Drug company, or at C. H. Shull's store. (2) They may be bought second hand from neighbors or from Mr. C. H. Shull, who handles second-hand books. (3) They may be rented at one-third the cost price for new books and turned back at the end of the year.

All elementary school textbooks will be available for rent, but only textbooks in the fields of Natural Science, Social Science, and Home Economics in the high school will be available for rent. All other books will have to be secured new or second-hand and from any available source. They will not be available at the high school book store.

Transfer Slips
In case a person moves to some other place within the state, the textbooks in hand are turned in and a transfer slip issued which will enable the child to secure his textbooks without further rental charge upon enrollment in the other school.

In case the pupil moves to some place outside the state, the books are turned in and a prorated refund is made, in accordance with the length of term remaining. In order to save the parents money and to have uniformly suitable materials the schools will buy in quantity such supplies as the children will need. Each child is requested to bring 25c to cover the year's cost of crayons, drawing paper, construction paper, practice writing paper, mimeographed seat-work materials, primary pencils or pen and ink, scissors, cardboards, paste, etc. These will be bought at the state contract price, kept in the school, administered by the teachers, duplicating, where possible, their use. In this way the children will get the most for their money and there will be the maximum use and minimum waste of materials.

All required supplementary readers needed for the year will be rented for 25c. The parallel reading in the high school English courses will be supplied for 50c.

Laboratory Courses
Those who take laboratory courses which call for materials which are used up are expected to pay: (1) Home Economics, 50c (2) General Science, 50c (4) Biology, $1.00 (4) typewriting, $5.00, and (5) special students in typewriting, $10.00. These laboratory courses are not compulsory, but if they are taken, it will be necessary for those taking the courses to provide for any materials that will be expended in offering the course.

Pupils taking General Science, Home Economics or Sociology should not buy their books until they are classified. Those who expect to take typewriting will be privileged the use of the Lonsberry Twentieth Century Typewriting Manual for 50c per person. The regular purchase price is $1.25.
