Millions Of Ducks Headed Southward As Season Opens

NEW YORK.—Duck hunters, at the opening of hunting seasons in Northern States October 21, should have opportunities for the best sport in years. Final statistics, assembled by the More Game Birds Foundation from its recent and first international wild duck census, indicate a continental duck "crop" this year of approximately 65,000,000 birds.

Basing its figures on a total of 40,000,000 quackers actually census with the aid of five airplanes and over 1,000 Canadian co-operators in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta alone, the Foundation points out that the figure for these three most important nesting regions comprises probably not more than 60 per cent of the gross total for the entire continent.

The supporting cast includes Aline MacMahon, Frank Morgan and Eric Blore.

68 Pages In Opinion Of Reynolds Case

RALEIGH, Nov. 2.—The supreme court decision today affirming the "compromise" settlement of the estate of the late Smith Reynolds, tobacco fortune heir, closed for North Carolina courts the suit that involved the largest sum of money ever in litigation in this state.
The estate, estimated to be worth approximately $30,000,000, was left when Reynolds died in 1932 of a bullet wound mysteriously inflicted after a drinking party at "Reynolds," the family mansion near Winston-Salem.
Records in the case also are among the most voluminous of any ever fought through the courts. The opinion alone required 68 pages.
