

Business Leaders Report Shortage In Skilled Labor

Hundreds of Technical Jobs Open Lack Trained Men to Fill Them.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 12.—A serious shortage in skilled labor, due to the business up-trend, was reported today by the nation's industrial executives. Though hundreds of technical jobs were opening, trained men could not be found to fill them, a 3-day conference of business leaders disclosed. The shortage was described as most acute in the automobile and machine trades although it was felt by industry in general. The situation was summed up by Alvin Dodd of New York, executive vice president of the American Managers association, sponsor of the conference on personnel and industrial relations problems:

"Industry is facing a serious shortage of skilled workers," he said. "The pinch is already being felt and will grow more acute as business continues on the up-grade."

The labor shortage, discussed by 700 executives at the conference session, was due largely, Dodd said, to the economic crisis that threw skilled workers out of good jobs into poorer ones or onto relief rolls. When skilled work was offered and the unemployed were dulled to old tasks. To care for this situation and prevent its recurrence, Dodd said industry was beginning to realize it must accept a social security along these lines:

- 1.—Employment relief for a long time to come.
- 2.—Old age pensions.
- 3.—Unemployment insurance.

Doris And Husband Shop For New Car

DETROIT, Feb. 12.—James N. R. Cromwell and his wife, the former Doris Duke, were in Detroit Monday to visit Cromwell's daughter, a boarding school pupil and incidentally to buy a new custom built town car. The car, which it is understood will cost about $15,000 is to have several special features, including body mountings and bumpers in brass in "natural gold color," instead of the usual chromium.

Starting with 300 baby chicks last April, Askew Strickland of Middlesex, route 1, Johnston county, made a labor income of $154.30. His expenses were $181.00; income $185.95; and inventory gain, $149.35.

Two Youths Held for Murder

(Taken From The Cleveland Star Of Friday, February 12, 1936)

Gastonia.—Miss Carolyn Wray, 17, high school honor student and daughter of Joe S. Wray, local chamber of commerce secretary, lay tonight in the Gaston sanatorium suffering seriously with a punctured lung and her father and three companions are suffering minor injuries and shock as the result of their car's being hit near Lowell this afternoon by a laundry truck.

Formal announcement is made today that Efrd's is instituting a millinery department as a unit of the store. It will be elaborate and complete, in every way.

A new and up-to-date auto paint shop will be open Monday, February 15, in the Beam block at the Wright Machine shop stand, it is announced.

Plans are being laid, it is said, whereby the Baptist church of South Shelby will improve the church building and add a new Sunday school room to the edifice.

Plans for an extensive advertising campaign for Shelby and Cleveland county were discussed at the Thursday night meeting of the Kiwanis club when the necessity of presenting this section in the form of attractive literature was pointed out by Dr. J. S. Dorson and Lee B. Weather.

Citizens of North Carolina nearly a hundred years ago, were "viewing with alarm" the tendency of newspapers to be "sensational" according to a copy of the Western Carolinas published in 1835.

Contract will be let in a few days for the erection of two beautiful Spanish type bungalows to be built on the Cleveland Springs road near the entrance to Belvedere Heights by Lee B. Weathers.

J. C. Bowling formerly head for three and a half years of the Central Pressing club, is establishing in the Beam block a thoroughly modern pressing, dry cleaning and dyeing establishment.

Hollis Faculty Will Give Play Saturday Night

A three act comedy "A Family Affair" will be presented by the Hollis school faculty in the school auditorium at Hollis on Saturday evening, February 15, at 7:30 o'clock. Proceeds will go to the local school fund.

The play is highly rich in comedy from beginning to end. Dan Gillespie, played by John Howell, gets in many jams in his attempt to find a ready-made family to introduce to the deacon from New York, a character played by Mr. Paul Hutchins. W. P. Boland plays the part of the blundering gardener; Miss Ruth Thompson, that of his wife. While Miss Carrie Blanton is the applicant for the matrimonial agency; Juanita Whinnant, the mother-in-law of the gardener; Miss Vda Price, the stepdaughter of the deacon; Miss Vada Glover, the deaf and dumb Dora; Miss Mozelle Gold, the romantic old maid; and Miss Leona Hardin, the negro mammy in search of her kidnapped baby.

The play is being coached by Thomas E. Crowe.

The public is invited to attend.

Cherokee Names Service Council

GAFFNEY, S. C., Feb. 12.—A Cherokee county service council was organized at a meeting held in the office of Miss Elizabeth Williams, county home demonstration agent, Thursday afternoon. Miss Williams was elected president. Other officers named were the Rev. H. L. Kingman, pastor of the Buford Street Methodist church, vice president a. c. Miss Floy Wilkins, county director of the National Youth administration, secretary and treasurer.

The meeting was attended by about 30 persons, including representatives of various agencies and organizations. Miss Annie Doty, of Columbia, field representative of the temporary South Carolina Board of Public Welfare, was the principal speaker. She discussed the national security program and urged that Cherokee county make arrangements to participate.

The purpose of the service council, it was stated, will be to coordinate the work of various agencies and prevent overlapping and interference one with another.

Miss Adella Panther, oldest inhabitant of Leno, Eng., who celebrated her hundredth birthday recently, received a message of congratulation from King George and Queen Mary.

Man Who Spoke Historic Phrase Is In News Highlights Again

Death penalty will be asked by the state when James Jarrett, left, and his pal, Everett Rambo, right, both 15, of Edwardsville, Ind., are brought to trial here on murder charges in connection with the slaying of John Higgins, deputy county treasurer, who was shot by the youths when they attempted to rob his home, according to police.

Man Who Spoke Historic Phrase Is In News Highlights Again

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Brigadier-General Manus McCloskey—the man who spoke the historic World War words "retreat? hell, no, we just got here!"—is in the news again.

Veterans recalled McCloskey's colorful career when they learned that Senator Reynolds, democrat, North Carolina, was conducting a fight—so far unsuccessful—to have the general promoted.

On the senate floor last week, Reynolds accused the secretary of war of discriminating against McCloskey by failing to recommend his promotion to major-general recently when younger officers were selected for advancement to that rank.

Reynolds at first objected to senate approval of the other promotions, but withdrew his protest when it was explained that army regulations prohibit the promotion of officers to major-general when their retirement is less than two and a half years off.

McCloskey, 42 years an artillery man, and now commander of Fort Bragg, N. C., will reach the retirement age of 64 in April, 1938.

A report in the army archives, signed by Brigadier-General James G. Harbord, tells how McCloskey, then a cavalry, spoke the seven words that won him fame.

It was June 3, 1918 and the Germans had launched a mass attack that bent the French line. McCloskey's battery took a position between Remme De Paris and Ferme D'Issogne to relieve French field artillery.

"In plain view of the German observers in their balloons and under a heavy shell fire, Colonel McCloskey posted his guns in the positions being vacated by the French so he might have the advantage of their firing data. . . .

"The commander of the French regiment, remonstrated with Colonel McCloskey.

"It is impossible to remain here," he said. "Surely, you are going to retreat?"

"Retreat? Hell, No! We just got here," answered the American artilleryman."

The building boom, which has been current in Buenos Aires for several years, continued unabated through 1935, according to reports to the department of commerce.

Charlie Hamby, of Atlanta, is credited with firing the smallest yards, all within an inch circle.

McDonald Criticises Hoey On All Issues Of "Opener"

By J. C. BASKERVILL

RALEIGH, Feb. 12.—The address of Clyde R. Hoey last Thursday night, in which he outlined for the first time his position on various state issues in his campaign for the democratic nomination for governor "was the voice of the Ehringhaus-Gardner regime" and has served to outline six major issues in the campaign, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, one of the other three candidates for governor said here today in an exclusive interview with this correspondent. He did not list the liquor question as one of these issues, since all three of the major candidates have already "passed the buck" on the liquor question to the 1937 general assembly, McDonald continued.

"The first issue in the campaign, in the light of Mr. Hoey's speech, is now the perpetuation of the Gardner-Ehringhaus machine, with its train of appointees and preferred groups," McDonald said. "Such an able defense of the present (Ehringhaus) administration as Mr. Hoey gave can mean only one thing: the continuance of its machinery and the furtherance of its trend towards the short ballot.

Hits Tax Stand
"The second issue is taxation. Mr. Hoey, like Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham (a third candidate for the nomination for governor), would keep the sales tax under the false cloak of an 'emergency measure.' Mr. Hoey made it perfectly clear that he would not undertake to bother wealth and seeking from the major corporations and wealthy individuals their fair share of the tax burden. If the schools are to receive more money and if old age pensions are to be granted, as even Mr. Hoey agrees should be done, Mr. Hoey makes it perfectly clear that he would go to one place to get the extra revenue needed: the tax-ridden poor of North Car-

Plays Liberty League
"The fourth issue is Liberty League, the internal cancer of the democratic party, an issue which Mr. Hoey makes very pointedly by omission. If Mr. Hoey really believes in the new deal, he would be willing to join with us in driving the money changers out of the temple by expurgating the democratic party of Liberty Leagueism in high positions.

"The fifth issue concerns the present unbalanced budget, the huge cash surplus, the exorbitant interest rates on state and local bonds, the favoritism to bondholders and

See No Trouble In Alma Strike; Employer Speaks

GAFFNEY, Feb. 12.—No trouble has been reported thus far in the strike by union employees of the Alma unit of the Hamrick mills at Gaffney, and the strikers are accepting conditions philosophically and have gone quietly to their homes.

A group of union men from Gaffney Manufacturing company plant, variously estimated to number from 25 to 75 men, were present when the plant was scheduled to reopen for work after the weekend, yesterday morning. The Gaffney mill men created no disturbance, according to reports.

The strike was voted by members of local No. 1804, United Textile Workers, at a meeting held at Evans store on Cherokee avenue Sunday. The meeting had been called by members of the textile union for the purpose of discussing the alleged changes in the setup of the work at the plant.

Waite C. Hamrick, sr., president of the Hamrick group of mills, of which the Alma is one, yesterday afternoon issued the following statement: "A few minor changes were made partly to enable us to meet competitive manufacturing costs and present market conditions. If labor will not co-operate on a 'live-and-let-live' basis, there is no other policy for us to pursue, other than curtail operations."

Vocational Survey On In Rutherford
FOREST CITY, Feb. 12.—The vocational guidance committee of the Forest City Kiwanis club is sponsoring an occupational survey in the Cool Springs high school here. The civic classes of the high school will conduct the survey, in which they hope to determine what occupations may be open to graduates. The survey will be complete as to the number of people employed in each field of work. It will also show the approximate compensation in each field of work.

In addition a study will be made of all high school students to see what they have in mind for a life work. As soon as a tabulation has been made of the occupations and professions in which the students are interested and desire information, a schedule of speakers will be provided.

Cherokee Farmers Sell Much Poultry
GAFFNEY, S. C., Feb. 12.—In spite of the snow and resulting almost impassable roads, 175 farmers sold a little over 5,700 pounds of poultry at the poultry car at Gaffney Friday and Blacksburg Saturday of last week, according to information from the office of County Agricultural Agent S. C. Stribling, who supervised the loadings.

The farmers who sold received a little more than $900 for the poultry, which brought the total sales for the year to approximately 20,000 pounds sold for $3,400.

The shipment of last week resulted in the loading two nice cars of approximately 31,000 pounds of poultry from Spartanburg and Cherokee counties.

HOW DO YOU KNOW YOU "CAN'T AFFORD" A BUICK?

WE GRANT you that Buick looks expensive—smart things usually do! We grant you a lot of people think of it in terms of a $1500 automobile because Buick used to cost all of that—and some still do.

But give us a chance, and we'll show you in cold figures how to own a Buick for little if any more than one of the lowest-priced cars would cost you.

We'll show you a big car with a small car operating cost. We'll show you roominess and comfort and safety, with a freedom from repair bills that makes costs-per-mile hit a new low. We'll show you how to begin a luxury car—on a brass-tacks budget! There's no mystery to it—no trick figuring. Buick simply licked the problem of building first-class quality in a low-priced car. Now we've got some interesting figures that will change your ideas about automobile values.

Don't resign yourself to small-car comfort, small-car ability until you find out how very little per week it costs to own a Buick.
