Price Candidacy Not Impossible Think Observers

RALEIGH, Feb. 12.—Julian Price, president of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, in Greensboro, has as yet made "no definite decision" as to whether he will become a candidate for lieutenant governor, as had been rumored in some political circles here, he indicated in a letter. The letter was written following the publication of a story to the effect that most opinions in political circles here was that Price would not become a candidate for governor, but that he might be a candidate for lieutenant governor.

The reason for this opinion in political circles here was that Price would have to depend for his support upon the same groups which are now supporting either Clyde R. Hoey or Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham—The principal business interests of the state—and that his entry would thus help to insure the nomination of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald rather than his own or that of Clyde Hoey or Sandy Graham. Thus it was surmised that Price's entry as a candidate would not even be welcomed by his own class of business associates. This opinion still prevails here. It was conceded, however, that if Price should run for the nomination for lieutenant governor that he might get some very substantial support and have a good chance to win the nomination.

In referring to the portion of the story which said he probably would not run for governor, Price said: "Up to this moment I have given no definite decision," while with regard to the suggestion that he might become a candidate for lieutenant governor, Price said: "Such an idea never entered my head."
