Joint Meeting Of Trustees And Boards Of Two Association Ends In Decision To Liquidate, Meet Standard

"To live and not die," was the slogan adopted by officials of the Kings Mountain and Sandy Run Baptist Association and representatives of Boiling Springs junior college it was learned today following a joint meeting of the general boards and trustees of the college.

The 30-year-old institution will not close its doors permanently, if present plans go through, but instead will liquidate its debt and meet all standards set up by the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges.

Raise $4,200

Upon the closing of the college for the current school year it was announced yesterday by J. H. Quinn, chairman of the board of trustees that the sum of $4,200 has been subscribed and other plans made for the immediate raising of $5,800 more, which sum is said will free the college of all debt.

Another meeting of the general boards of the associations and the trustees will be held June 1 when plans for meeting the required standards will be considered. They were presented last week by Clyde Erwin, J. H. Highsmith and J. E. Hillman, educational officials of the state.

The special committee which will work towards liquidating the indebtedness within the next 30 days is composed of B. T. Falls, college attorney, Rev. Rush Padgett, of Grover, Rev. D. G. Washburn, A. W. McMurry, G. V. Hawkins, Mrs. Rush Stroup, of Shelby, D. F. Ford of Kings Mountain, and Mrs. J. F. Wacaster of Waco.

"It will be a long hard fight and if we succeed at all, it will take the co-operation of every church in both associations," an official was quoted as saying today.

Some 40 churches in the two associations are sponsors of the junior college and are being called on to rally to its support to meet the higher requirements.

Autoists Damage

Street Surface

Two auto drivers have disregarded barricades where new streets are being surfaced, by driving on the fresh asphalt and thereby doing damage to the amount of $125.

While the surface treatment is being applied to the streets, traffic must remain off until the barricades are removed. Those who disregard the warnings to stay off will be indicted or required to reimburse the city for damages done.

The city spent $75 for barricades and lanterns to warn drivers to remain off of streets undergoing surface treatment. When these signs are disregarded and wheels run over the freshly applied surface, another treatment is required, adding to the expense of the work.

Morning Cotton

LETTER

NEW YORK, May 20.—Steadiness in near months due to covering and price fixing while easiness in new crops attributed to increased hedgers against 12c loan purchases. Estimates pool sales yesterday of up to 10,000 bales of May contracts. Exports so far this season increased 1,400,000 bales over same period last season. Moderate to light trading in Worth street yesterday.

While development of price trend does not appear as an immediate prospect we believe price of new crops reasonable. E. A. Pierce & Co.

Paving Contract

Let To Brown Co.

For $7.60 Per Ton

Up-Town Streets Get Asphalt Coat

Lexington Company to Finish $7,000 Job By June 30, Says Mayor.

The city administration began the official saying of "goodby" to the bumps and irregularities in the main up-town streets of Shelby today in announcing the letting of a contract to Brown Paving company of Lexington to put down a coat of hot asphalt on the most traveled streets of the city.

The lowest of the bids submitted to the board was by the Lexington company and was for $7.60 per ton, and the work will call for about 850 tons, to be put down and ready for traffic by June 30.

Paving Is $6.40

Paving alone will total an expenditure of approximately $6,460 and the city will also care for raising manholes and storm-sewers and for incidental expenses which may arise during the work.

Beginning with the intersection with Sumter on the north and extending south on LaFayette street the work will proceed about 1,200 feet west Graham. It will also be laid down on all the streets around the square.

From curb to curb the asphalt will be put down hot, with special equipment furnished by the company and will fill all the rough places, and will be at least an inch thick on all present street surfaces.

Of Administration

Mr. Hoey And Mr. Graham Warn Against McDonald's Short Record.

The four candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor continued their verbal attacks on the status quo and on each other yesterday, Clyde R. Hoey and Sandy Graham counseling against electing a man with so short a record for the Democratic party, Mr. McDonald "promising a New Deal to the western part of the state," and J. A. McRae criticizing the old age pension plan.

ASHEBORO, May 20.—Clyde R. Hoey, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, said here last night he proposed to "go forward in making North Carolina a better and finer state" if he was elected governor.

He criticized the record of Dr. Ralph McDonald, one of his opponents, and asked, how long ought a man be a Democrat before he asks the Democratic party to nominate him for governor and entrust him with the leadership, of the party?

"Is four years long enough? Is the party willing to select as its leader a man who has given his allegiance to the party for only four years and who has voted the Democratic ticket only twice in his life? That is the record of Professor McDonald, who registered and voted for the first time in 1932 and who was in the state for eight years before he found out whether he was a Republican, a Democrat, or something else."

GREENSBORO, May 20.—Sandy Graham, candidate for governor, continued his attack on one of his opponents, Dr. Ralph McDonald, here last night, declaring, "The

WPA Adult Teacher

Sees Improvement

A report made by a WPA adult teacher this week indicates that at least in his field of teaching the world is not "going to the dogs." He said:

"About four months ago I was in the home of one of my students and saw on his magazine stands the following periodicals: Thrilling Detective, Weird Tales, Whiz Bang Annual and From the Ballroom to White Slavery. I was in the same home again a few days ago and found a copy of Liberty, Colliers, Woman's Home Companion and a book of the Best Short Stories of 1934.

We have been discussing books and magazines that are worthwhile and those that are a waste of time. By improving the reading habits of my pupils, I can recognize an improvement in their personality."

Saturday, May 23

Is Last Day For

Registration Here

Names Of Registrars Given

Goal Is To Give Mr. Hoey 10,000 Plurality In His Home County On June 6th.

Saturday, May 23, is the last day to register for the June 6th primary. No new registration is called for but those who will become of age by the November, 1936 election, have moved into the precinct in which they now live or have not registered and participated in the Democratic primary for any reason, are entitled to register.

The goal is to give Mr. Hoey, Cleveland county's favorite son, a 10,000 plurality for governor over his three opponents in the June 6 primary. With a population in the county of well over 50,000, it is entirely possible to cast ten to twelve thousand votes.

All registrars in the 26 precincts will be at their respective polling places for the last time on Saturday, May 23. They can be seen between now and Saturday at their homes or places of business where they will register voters.

Names of the registrars are as follows: Holly Springs, M. B. Earl; Youngs, R. V. Green; Boiling Springs, W. C. Hamrick; Sharon, B. R. Moore; Patterson Springs, O. F. McSwain; Earl, S. H. Austell; East Kings Mountain, Jim McGinnis; West Kings Mountain, Eugene Mathis; Grover, J. B. Ellis; Waco, M. C. Whitworth; Shelby No. 1, Guy Fortune; Shelby No. 2, J. A. Ellis; Shelby No. 3, L. Z. Hoffman; Shelby No. 4, Henry Lee Weathers; South Shelby, Marvin Blanton; Queens, L. E. Hamrick; Double Springs, G. T. Cabaniss; Lattimore, D. C. Bridges; Mooresboro, V. B. Lovelace; Folkville, W. J. Bridges; Delight, E. M. Eaker; Lawndale, F. L. Rollins; Falkston, Stough Beam; Double Springs, C. R. Spangler; Muls, Edgar Cooke; Casar, O. C. Downs.

Adult Teacher Finds "New Deal" Calls For More

Readin', Writin' 'Rithmetic For Illiterates

The illiterate adult of Cleveland county has for too long been the "Forgotten Man" of the county, said John Kennedy, Federal Emergency education teacher in a remote selected yesterday as one of the best submitted by teachers in adult schools from all parts of the county.

Mr. Kennedy has had several classes of adults, from young to old, and ranging the entire scale of occupations from mill workers, farmers, technicians and housewives. His report in part says:

"My rural class I found to be farmers who seemed to have just one object in coming to school; that

Road Location Fights Halt

Construction In Cleveland

Work Suspended On Boiling Springs-Cliffside, Boiling Springs-Lattimore Units; Chmn. Waynick Writes

Locations of proposed roads in Cleveland county have been for the past few weeks cause for much concern on the part of several groups of citizens, road officials and members of the state highway department.

At the present time two major projects are completely suspended on account of disagreement about location. They are the Boiling Springs-Cliffside route and the Boiling Springs-Lattimore section. There is also much alarm over proposed routes to Casar from either Polkville or Lawndale.

Letters to Commissioner Chairman J. L. Herndon this week are to the effect that the Boiling Springs-Cliffside work will be resumed very soon, as the funds allocated for the road will not permit the re-surveying and re-routing the road as was asked in a recent petition. The present road will

Joe L. Mull Dies

In Burke County

Joe L. Mull, retired merchant who for many years operated a store near "three county corners" in southern Burke, died Sunday at his home in Lower Fork township. He was a native of upper Cleveland county.

Mr. Mull, who was 83 years of age, succumbed to a heart attack after an illness of six days.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at Zion Hill Baptist church. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Ivester, was assisted by Dr. Zeno Wall, of Shelby, and burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Mull was born December 9, 1852, a son of John Mull and he had wide family connection. His wife, Mrs. Emaline Mull, preceded him in death.

Surviving are two sons and two daughters: Mrs. Minnie Hicks, of Vale; Sanford Mull, Mrs. Rosalie Ramsey and Edson Mull, all of Connelly Springs.

Mr. And Mrs. Groome

Attend Funeral Of Former's Mother

Mr. and Mrs. Zack Groome and their son, Zack, Jr., were called to High Point Monday by the death of Mr. Groome's mother, Mrs. Ada Ballinger Groome, who died there Monday morning after a lingering heart illness. Mr. Groome had been with his mother over the week-end, but had returned home, thinking her condition improved.

Mrs. Groome had been bedridden at the Guilford General hospital for the past 12 years and was a patient there at the time of her death. She was 60 years of age.

In addition to Mr. Groome of this place, she is survived by another son, Paul B. Groome, of Greensboro, and two sisters and a brother. Funeral rites were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Groometown Methodist church, of which Mrs. Groome was a member, and burial was in the church cemetery.

Waynick Speaks

In regard to the Casar situation Mr. Waynick says, "I am surprised that the people expected immediate action on the surface treatment of this road. It is a major operation and we have already set up the funds we can use in Cleveland county during the current fiscal year." He said after July 1 the department would be better able to give it more consideration. "I think we can make some progress on it

For the first time in the agricultural history of Cleveland county a dairy herd has been named the best producer in its class in the state of North Carolina.

This was done yesterday when the herd of George L. Hamrick of near Lattimore yielded final figures for state extension department tests that show that each one of his 29 Jersey cows produced an average of 371 pounds of butterfat last year, plus an almost 7,000 pound average per cow.

Going Up

In order to meet this mark, some of the better cows had to push above the 400 pound mark, which to dairymen means a lot.

The announcement was made by Inspector Basinger, tester for the extension department of State college, and was based on herds which are milked twice daily. Only four other herds in the state ranked better and they were those milked three and four times daily.

Co-incidentally the announcement of the state record came at the same time of the dairy conference which was being held at Mr. Hamrick's farm attended by some 75 leading dairymen and farmers in the county, Gaston and Catawba counties. Among the speakers at the meeting were Jack Nesbitt, specialist from Hards Dairyman in Wisconsin who with a series of charts and figures gave an educational lecture on how to build up a good herd, stressing first of all the use of good bull, and secondly the keeping of accurate records as in any other business.

Other speakers included J. A. Arey, of the department of dairying at State college, his field man, F. R. Farnham, who gave something of the history of Mr. Hamrick's herd in the county which was begun in earnest about seven years ago.

There was also Lawrence Gardner of New York, and other officials in the American Jersey Cattle club.

The meeting as a whole was planned for its educational interest and was said to be quite significant in better dairying which may arise in the coming months and years.

Word Fights Mark

"Pre-Convention" Campaign Tactics

WASHINGTON, May 20.—(P)—Sharp word battles today quickened the pre-convention campaign pace. Participating in a double-barreled argument were Chairman James A. Farley of the National Democratic committee, Senator Metcalf, Republican, Rhode Island, Chairman Henry P. Fletcher of the Republican national committee, and John H. Fahey, chairman of the Federal Home Loan bank board.

In an open letter to Farley Metcalf disputed the latter's prediction that President Roosevelt would be elected. Fahey in a letter to Fletcher assailed the Republican chairman's recent assertion that the operations of the Home Owners Loan corporation constituted "a debt obligation saddled on every family."

Fahey predicted the government will suffer no losses whatever as a result of HOLC operations.

Jersey Primary

These arguments shared interest with the results of the New Jersey preferential primary in which Governor Alfred Landon of Kansas ran ahead of Senator Borah of Idaho. Landon's lead jumped to better than 3 1-2 to one with nearly one-half of the vote counted.

In 1556 of the 3,578 election districts in the state Landon received 155,519 votes and Borah 42,851. Landon was assured of the votes of the four delegates at large in the Cleveland convention and at least 22 of the 28 district delegates.

Democratic voters ratified a slate of fifty-six district delegates and eight delegates at large pledged to President Roosevelt.

The returns also virtually assured the election of Governor Harold G. Hoffman as a delegate at large to the Republican convention.

Labor Provision

Fully Eliminated

New Measure Is Drafted And Presented To Congress. By Guffey.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 20.—A substitute for the outlawed Guffey Coal control bill was drafted today, following President Roosevelt's assertion that "the New Deal must keep trying to reach the objective of the invalidated act." Congress also considered the Townsend investigation, and learned of the resignation of Ralph W. Morrison from the Federal Reserve Board.

Price fixing was the heart of the new measure. Senator Guffey, Pennsylvania author of the act said it will seek to regulate the coal industry through the commerce clause and eliminate the labor provisions which were ruled unconstitutional.

Support Uncertain

Whether the White House would support the newly drafted act was uncertain. Requirements for enactment of the new measure was said to call for repeal of the old act in its entirety.

Although the new bill is essentially the same as the original act, with the unconstitutional labor provision eliminated, it contains one significant change. Under its terms the national bituminous coal commission would consist of seven members instead of five. Officials said this change was made to provide direct representation of both producers and miners. Three of the commissioners would have no interest or connection with the industry. Upon passage of the new bill the president would be required to appoint a new commission and a new consumers council.

Another development on capitol hill was an estimate by Dr. F. E.
