

Prominent Couple United In Pretty Wedding Rituals

Boiling Springs High School Teacher Weds Athletic Coach At Home of Bride

BOILING SPRINGS, July 5.—Characterized by beauty and simplicity was the marriage of Miss Sarah Lee Hamrick and Eddie A. Lawhorn on Thursday afternoon, June 25, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Hamrick of Boiling Springs, N. C.

Tall baskets filled with Queen Ann's lace and daisies formed a background to the arch under which the vows were spoken in the living room. Suspended from the center of the arch was a large wedding bell covered with daisies, and from the bell festoons of daisies and ivy extended to the rear of the arch. From the daisy chain lacy bits of fern tied with baby ribbon hung, creating an unusually pretty effect.

A program of wedding music was rendered just prior to the ceremony; John Andral Barry, jr., of Fountain Inn, S. C., accompanied by Charles R. Hamrick of Asheville, sang "At Dawning." Mrs. Hudson Hartgrove of Shelby accompanied by Mrs. Charles Prince of Inman, S. C., sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly."

To the strains of the wedding march, the Rev. John A. Hamrick of Charleston S. C., cousin of the bride, took his place just back of the arch. The bride and groom entered alone and in the presence of their families, relatives and intimate friends, the ceremony was performed. The ring service was used.

Dressed in an afternoon frock of blue chiffon with white accessories and wearing a large natural colored leghorn hat, the bride presented a strikingly pretty picture. Her bouquet was of white roses and valley lilies.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride changed her costume for a navy blue ensemble and the young couple left for their wedding trip in the North Carolina mountains.

The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Hamrick and is a granddaughter of the late Hon.

James Y. Hamrick, who was one of the leading citizens in his county and state. She was educated at Limestone college where she took a leading part in the various college activities, being especially prominent in dramatics. Since her graduation, she has taught at Pampllico, S. C., and at present is a teacher in the Boiling Springs high school. Possessing an attractive, vivacious and winsome personality. She has countless friends wherever she is known.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Lawhorn, of Carthage, attended Wake Forest college and was an outstanding athlete, being a member of the football team. Since his graduation he has been the popular and efficient coach at Boiling Springs High school.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. Charles Prince of Inman, S. C., Charles Hamrick of Asheville, Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Hamrick, sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Hamrick, jr., of Rutherfordton, Mrs. J. A. Barry, John Andral, jr., and Martha Byars Barry of Fountain Inn, S. C., Mrs. C. T. Hamrick and sons John, Clarence, jr., and Fitzhugh of Charleston, S. C., Mrs. L. W. Hamrick and Mrs. L. M. Ritch of Kings Mountain, Mrs. Rush Hamrick and Mrs. Hudson Hartgrove of Shelby, Mrs. Jim McSwain, Misses Julia, Mary Louise, Katherine, Zudie and Ann McSwain of Gaffney, S. C., Miss Verne Cabiness of near Shelby, Therman Harris of Caroleen and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Mt. Airy.

Just Ten Years Ago

(Taken From The Cleveland Star of Wednesday, July 7, 1926)

A new business firm, one of considerable importance, opened up in Shelby this week when Messrs. Fred Dean and his partner, Mr. Turner, moved the headquarters office of the Chickasaw Thread company from Memphis, Tennessee to Shelby.

The new firm is located in one of the business rooms of the Weather's apartment building on South LaFayette and will deal in textile mill threads and twine. Salesmen of the firm will be located over practically all of the county.

Another sidewalk paving program is being inaugurated by the city, according to Mayor A. P. Weathers, and bids are being asked on 9,050 square yards of concrete sidewalks, 1250 cubic yards of earth excavation. Bids will be opened on July 20.

By a new arrangement Shelby will have a trained, volunteer fire department, of which Herman Eskridge has been named chief. He and 14 of the volunteers went to Hickory Tuesday evening to attend a meeting of the crack fire department of that place and watch its fire fighting teams drill.

At a meeting of the school board held this week it was decided to give the old Ledford school building, vacated because of the building of a new consolidated school, to the colored people of No. 10 and No. 11 townships.

At the same meeting J. H. Grigg, county superintendent, was authorized by the board to purchase five or six new trucks for transportation of school children of the county and during the coming year.

The Waco school is to be electrically lighted and an appropriation was made for wiring the building.

Combined filing fees of all candidates in the recent election primaries amounted to $142, and check for that amount has been turned over to Mrs. Mary E. Yarbrough, county treasurer.

R. S. Matthews of Florence, S. C., who was a member of the high school faculty last year. Eugene Hoyle and Presley Wilson, left Monday for Kiowa, Oklahoma, making the trip in Mr. Matthews' car.

Dr. D. Forrest Moore has returned to Shelby from Atlantic City, N. J., where he has been completing a hospital course. Dr. Moore is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moore of Boiling Springs and having completed his course in medicine is thinking seriously of locating in Shelby, Lattimore or Lantdale.

Miss Betty Suttle, who has been honored by being selected to represent Shelby at the races in Charlotte in August has selected the following six young women to be her maids: Misses Nancy Blanton, Elizabeth Suttle, Dorothy McBrayer and Virginia Hoey.

LINCOLN FARMER THRESHES 1,800 BUSHELS OF WHEAT

LINCOLN, July 6.—Threshers have completed their work at O. A. Costner's farm and Mr. Costner after checking his crop found that he averaged twenty-five bushels to the acre. He threshed 1,800 bushels of wheat and 1,100 bushels of oats and barley.

Virginia Weidner, pig-tailed little, actress, is the daughter of a Hollywood architect.

Jim Farley, Jr., Adds His Cheer

One of the youngest—and loudest—of the thousands who attended the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia was Jimmy Farley, son of the post-master-general. And Jimmy, riding on the shoulders of one of the delegates, is exhibiting an enthusiasm that even his politically wise father should admire.

Ike's Tale

I was agin the whole thing rite from the start, but you well know how a woman is when they get on a thing. If they don't have their way you will get into a fuss with 'em every time. Sal lowd hit wood be rite and proper tu let 'em gather in at our house last Saturday nite and make sum ice cream and cut up a little, tu show how thankful we was for the rain that fell on both the just and unjust. A straw vote shows that if you take the whole county that them just air in the majority and especially so in the big places like Shelby and Casar. Sal is a woman that wont have jist any sort of folks hanging around. So when you hear of em being here at her house hit means that they have a good character even if they do git so drunk the their wives have tu cum and haul 'em home next morning.

First she got word tu Singletary Hoyle and Plato Ledford fur you can allers depend on them tu have a couple of gallons even if the weather is hot. Then she got word down as fur as Fallston, a little town on 18 highway that belongs tu Rufe Lackey and Lem Williams, and sum more of our friends.

Then thar was two here from the wilderness of Polkville, whose names will appear later on. Several drifted in from other places and was given the hand of fellowship. That morning Sal begin tu sit ready fur a big crowd—and washed down tu the branch and went her feet and set down on a rock and picked most of the briars out of 'em. Then she cum back tu the house and put on her tucker dress and combed out her hair a standing thar in the dore she looked every bit as young as she did 40 years ago. Sum of 'em was purty quite and orderly fur a while, but we couldn't do a thing with uncle Decatur Warlick. He swore that he was the buy of Belwood and wanted tu fight John Falls and P. L. Peeler both at once. Hit tuck two of his boys tu git him home, but then he got away from 'em and come right back. Amzi White started tu git rough but Walter Lee told him tu behave or he wood tell hit on him about stealing that hog, so Amzi went in the house whar Sal was and ceased from troubling. Next Andy Elmore and Horace Mooney knocked a few rounds, but Sal come out and got 'em by the hands, and tuck and give them all the ice cream they could hold, whio sorter cooled 'em off. About this time Tom Stamey and Johnson Bridges come. Tom was too ful to bother anybody; Johnson was jist about right. He entertained us with his jokes and singing love songs till the whiskey overcome him, and we laid him on sum old guano sacks beside the ashopper. When he cum to he raised up on his elbow and looked like everything was thousands of miles away. A bumblebee was a buzzing over his head and he thought hit was one of these ere electric fans, so Jonson sez "Durned if the rich folks like me can't have jist anything we want but a blamed pore man like Ike and Tom Stamey has tu take the weather jist as hit comes."

Jots in Jest

"ONLY about one man in 200 is taller than six feet." And yet he always manages to get the seat in front of us.

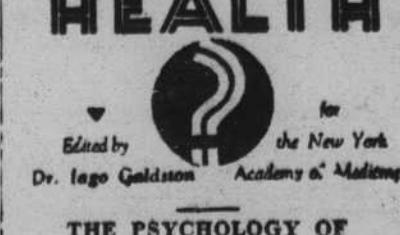

According to a nature item, the "aye-aye" is one of the queerest monkeys in the world, a statement that should be represented by any spirited yes man.

An old Greek superstition holds that it is unlucky to marry in May. A more modern belief is that it is unwise to pick a month which has more than two letters.

"In one year, 1923, man flew higher, faster, and farther than ever before in history." Whoever he was, his sweetheart's dad must have been busy.

An Ohio woman found a dollar bill inside some bread, but didn't complain because there was dough in the loaf.

HOW'S your HEALTH

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF THE CRIPPLE

Dr. Alan DeForest Smith of the New York Orthopedic hospital draws on his experience to formulate a few guiding principles for dealing with crippled children. Some, he observes, are cheerful others resent their misfortune and appear to blame all mankind for their lot. Some are independent and insist on supporting themselves, while others feel that the world owes them a living.

Their attitude is largely determined by the way people treat them. It is natural to sympathize with the handicapped child, but a grave mistake to induce self-pity.

Crippled children should be encouraged, it is astonishing to see that they are capable, and to attempt things which may seem difficult or impossible. So encouraged, it is astonishing to see what can be done in spite of severe handicaps and such achievements bolster the child's morale.

Some parents attempt to compensate their children for their misfortune by rewarding them in various ways. They are showered with presents, are condoned when they fall at school, and are always allowed to have their own way.

Thus, the children are thoroughly spoiled and made into disagreeable brats who grow up with the idea that they are entitled to care for the rest of their days.

It is a great mistake to shelter the crippled child and keep him away from other children. True, children are generally cruel and inclined to taunt the cripple. However, it is essential that the crippled child should be taught to fend for himself and acquire equanimity in the face of hardship.

A firm, even somewhat stern, attitude on the part of parents and teacher is better in the long run than one of too great sympathy and indulgence. Any cripple who has been brought up to take care of himself and who has been treated as normal will have every reason to be thankful later and will also be far happier during his childhood.

BIG LEAGUER RETIRES TO WINSTON-SALEM HOME

WINSTON-SALEM, July 6.—Alvin Crowder, of Winston-Salem, who has been in organized baseball since 1922, has gone into voluntary retirement and has returned to Winston-Salem, where he will remain during the summer. His wife is ill here and his father died in the spring. Crowder operates two pool rooms in the city.

HELP STOMACH FIGHT ACIDS

Excessively acid stomach permits sour, half-digested food to poison the system and cause a number of distressing symptoms such as gas, colic, indigestion, heartburn, foul breath, and headache. To correct this condition, just take one tablespoonful of Anti-Ferme in a half tea-spoon of water after each meal. You will be astonished at the way it will help you. Anti-Ferme is the balanced prescription of an old family doctor, and its nine ingredients work together to neutralize acidity, check fermentation, destroy bacteria, soothe inflamed membranes, and restore normal action of the digestive system.

If you would like a 32-page book of favorite songs and poems absolutely free, just send your name and address on a post card to Anti-Ferme Co., 1201 L & E. Bldg., Columbia, S. C.

DWIGHT BEARD LOSES HIS APPEAL FOR NEW TRIAL

DALLAS, Texas, July 6.—Augustus Dwight Beard, 26, of Lenoir, N. C., given death April 10 for the slaying of ex-Detective John Roberts during a holdup last December was denied a new trial today by Judge Grover Adams.

F. M. Smith, Laredo, Tex., set a wolf trap to catch rats, but caught an even dozer "possums" . . . a mothar carrying 11 in her pouch.

Lady Took Cardui When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. E. R. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
