Famous Godino Siamese Twins To Be At Fair

The world famous Godino Siamese twins—Simplex and Lucia, who have achieved international fame by reason of their several tours of the world since their initial debut, are among the many outstanding feature attractions of the Ruben and Cherry exposition which presents the midway attractions at the Cleveland County Fair, Shelby, starting on Tuesday October 6.

The only living male and married "Siamese Twins" in all the world were born on March 2nd, 1908 on the island of Samar in the Philippine Islands and at the age of seven years were brought to the United States for exhibition purposes. They were educated in Washington, D. C., graduated with high honors, were made assistant scout-masters in the Boy Scouts of America and resumed their tour playing the leading vaudeville theatres in the United States and Canada, as well as the continental music halls of Europe and theatres all over the civilized world.

Are Married.

On July 17th, 1927 they were married to two charming Filipino sisters in a public wedding ceremony that took place in front of the City Hall at Manila, P. I., the ceremony being witnessed by over 10,000 people. Joined together for life by a bond of flesh and blood at the base of their spines, forever united until death parts them, they have puzzled physicians and surgeons the world over, having been examined by physicians at the Mayo institute in Rochester, Minn., and at the John Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, Md., and other leading hospitals, the examining physicians being unanimous in declaring that an operation performed to sever the bond, would result in the death of both of the twins.

There are only two other pairs of "Siamese Twins" in all the world today, both of the other sets being girls, namely the Hilton sisters—Violet and Daisy—born in Brighton, England and the other set being Mary and Margaret Gibbs, American sisters, born in Holyoke, Mass., and now on tour.

Dismissing a disorderly conduct charge against the wife-kisser, the judge told him: "Things have come to a pretty pass when a man and his wife can't sit in their own automobile and kiss each other. I commend any sentiment that reports two persons married for four years to be kissing in public or private."

UNC Meets Terps In Next Contest; Face Real Test

CHAPEL HILL, Oct. 5.—Heralded as having its best team in several years, the University of Maryland football squad will journey down here next Saturday afternoon to provide the fireworks for the Tar Heels' third game of the season and their second home test. The scene of battle is Kenan Stadium. The kickoff is set for 2:30 o'clock.

The Terrapins and Tar Heels will be renewing an old acquaintanceship. Their first grid argument came up in 1899 with the Tar Heels winning 6-0. There was a lapse until 1920 when the Old Liners bested the University outfit 13-0.

Carolina has the better of the 13 game series, winning nine and losing four. Many of the games have been nip-and-tuck affairs. In 1927 on rain-soaked Emerson Field Red Whisnant's perfect boot through the uprights gave the Tar Heels a 7-6 margin. In 1928 the count was 26 to 19 in Carolina's favor.

Johnny Branch, the stocky speed merchant of the 1930 team, streaked 96 yards on a return punt to break a 21 all tie. The final score of that affair was 28-21. Extra point kickers batted a 1000 that day—seven successful kicks out of seven attempts.

The two teams didn't meet again until last season when the Tar Heels rocked and rolled to a 33-0 win. But the Old Liners sounded their 1936 warning last Saturday by romping hither and yon to beat St. John's of Annapolis 20-0. The first stringers saw little action. But Coach Dobson's shock troopers took up where their brethren left off and more than held their own against the Annapolis eleven.

The Terps will bring to Chapel Hill one of the finest sets of backs in Dixie. Bill Guckeyson, triple-threat All-Southern star, heads a veteran combination composed of Charlie Ellinger and Coleman Headley, ball-toting experts; Ed Daly, outstanding 1935 reserve, and John Gormley, hard-driving "full-back."

State Chairman

"Take the campaign to every Democrat in the state. It is the individual vote that counts." Such is the political text being preached over the state by J. Wallace Winborne, this year serving his third term as chairman of the state Democratic executive committee.

He said that if the state legislature refused to pass an act limiting work hours to 48 a week for all industrial employees, "We'll try to get the bill passed for women, at any rate."

Under the present statute, women are allowed to work a maximum of 55 hours a week. The proposed child labor law would prohibit the employment of manufacturing enterprises of boys or girls less than 16 years of age, and would require children between 18 and 16 to obtain certificates from labor officials before they could be hired.

TALK TO PARENTS

Disloyalty

Discussing one's children with one's friends is really a form of disloyalty, and many parents are guilty of it. The very mother who is shocked because her son has been talking her over with his chum, would not hesitate to produce the boy and his personal peculiarities and problems as a topic of conversation at afternoon tea with her friends.

It is a poor rule that does not work both ways. To air one's soiled linen in public is always bad taste. But many persons do.

Any group of mothers is nearly sure at some time during their conversation to talk over their children. Mrs. Smith repeats a conversation she had with Mary the other day; Mrs. Jones tells a funny story about her Jane—a story which Jane would hate to have known; Mrs. Brown tells, in confidence, of course, what Henry told her also in confidence, in a moment of ill-considered expansiveness. Afterwards Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown go home and retell all the intimate trifles they have gleaned to father and the children. Mary and Jane and Henry feel like butterflies on pins the next time they see each other. How can one confide in a mother who cannot hold her tongue? Mothers don't seem to realize.

Of course this kind of mother son finds herself excluded from her children's inner lives. They hide what they can of their thoughts and actions, and put up as well as they can with whatever undesirable publicity they still have to endure. Mothers who wish the trust and respect of their children will guard their secrets with the utmost care, and never even to prove a moot point, repeat what they have seen or heard. A mother, by virtue of her position has an unfair advantage over her child; she knows too much.

Fletcher Wishes 48-Hour Week, No Children Working

Will Present Bills To Legislature In January Asking Changes.

RALEIGH, Oct. 5.—Major A. J. Fletcher, state commissioner of labor, said today he planned to present two bills to the General Assembly of 1937 which would limit all industrial employees to a work hours a week and prohibit children under 16 years of age from working in factories or textile mills. Fletcher, recently elected president of the International Association of Governmental Labor Officials, returned here today from Topeka, Kan., where he had been attending a convention of the association.

Model state child labor and maximum work hour laws, similar to the ones he will present were drawn up at the session.

He said that if the state legislature refused to pass an act limiting work hours to 48 a week for all industrial employees, "We'll try to get the bill passed for women, at any rate."

Under the present statute, women are allowed to work a maximum of 55 hours a week.

The proposed child labor law would prohibit the employment of manufacturing enterprises of boys or girls less than 16 years of age, and would require children between 18 and 16 to obtain certificates from labor officials before they could be hired.

The state child labor law in effect prohibits the employment in certain work of children less than 14 years old, and requires children between the ages of 14 and 16 to have certificates.
