

First Responders To Discuss AIDS

A workshop offered by Brunswick Community College is aimed at better informing emergency first responders about responsibilities and legal issues relating to the AIDS virus.

The workshop, offered through the continuing education department, is free to all personnel likely to be the first responder in an emergency situation. These include volunteer rescue squad members, volunteer firefighters, local law enforcement officers and members of the Brunswick County Sheriff's Department.

The workshop will be offered at two locations from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. It will be held in the West Brunswick High School cafeteria at Shallotte on Wednesday, March 23, then repeated on Thursday, March 24, in the cafeteria of South Brunswick High School at Boiling Spring Lakes.

The program will be presented by Peggy Bargaquist, health educator with the Brunswick County Health Department. It will consist of a lecture, a video presentation and a question and answer session. Topics covered will include laws regarding the AIDS virus, the responsibility for reporting AIDS, hospital and health department authority and responsibilities, and ways to reduce the risk of AIDS.

Along with Bargaquist, representatives from both The Brunswick Hospital and Doshier Memorial Hospital will be present.

For more information about the workshop, contact the college's continuing education department, 754-6900 or 457-6329.

South Loses In Area Bowl

South Brunswick High School lost its opening round match to a squad from host Duplin County at the regional Quiz Bowl Saturday.

James Kenan High School defeated the local squad by a score of 100-70 to force the reigning Brunswick County champion out of the single-elimination competition. Team Sponsor Mabel Calloway said, "We're just real proud of them for going. They did the best they could."

Terry Sanford High School from Cumberland County defeated Bladen County's Clarkton High School in the championship match by a score of 160 to 65. The Cumberland County team will represent the region at the state Quiz Bowl to be held April 23 in Raleigh.

The South Brunswick team advanced to the regional quiz bowl after defeating a foursome of sophomores from West Brunswick for the county championship Jan. 30.

Team members include Jeremy Clemmons, Raymond Englerth, Dewey Propst, Rob Balentine, Susan Finley, Nikki Richards, Tom Corbitt and Alison Owens.

The annual event tests students' knowledge in the areas of history, mathematics, English, current events, science, literature, geography and foreign language.

Other counties competing in this region were New Hanover, Robeson, Columbus and Onslow.

Mrs. Calloway added that the South Brunswick squad will lose only one senior to graduation from this year's team, which included two sophomores.

"We have a very young team and we should be even stronger next year," she said.

BOLIVIA ELEMENTARY SCHOOL first grader Christopher Gore said he liked this "dragon" created by Daphene Suggs' Union Primary School second grade class in honor of the Chinese Year of the Dragon.

Chris and his family, Bonnie Scott and Chad Scott, were visiting the Brunswick County Schools Curriculum Fair Saturday.

County Students Share Work At Fair

Furniture carefully crafted by West Brunswick High School carpentry students, a button and cloth "dragon" by Union Primary School second-graders, poetry, computer games and a school "television show."

These are just a sampling of the hundreds of examples of work shared by Brunswick County students Saturday at the county schools' Curriculum Fair at Bolivia Elementary School.

While entries in several categories were judged, only three first-place winners in math will advance to regional competition.

They are Doodle Cowan, South Brunswick Middle, in general/consumer math; George Kelly, North Brunswick High, algebra I; and Andy Clemmons, West Brunswick High, geometry.

The regional competition will be held Saturday in the UNC-Wilmington gymnasium from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.
