

Southport Woman Sentenced In Check Forgery Cases

A Southport woman received a suspended sentence last week in Brunswick County District Criminal Court after being convicted of check forgery.

Rosemary Hall, 19, of East Leonard Street, Southport, entered guilty pleas last Wednesday to four counts of common law forgery, according to the Brunswick County Clerk of Court's office.

Judge Jerry A. Jolly sentenced Ms. Hall to two consecutive two-year prison terms, both suspended for five years with five years of supervised probation.

Also, she was ordered to pay $865 in restitution to two banks, $150 attorney fees and court costs.

Court records showed that Ms. Hall was arrested Feb. 16 by the Brunswick County Sheriff's Department on four counts of forgery and uttering. She was released on a $2,000 unsecured bond.

Three of the checks were taken from the residence of Dr. Norman Hornsien of Southport and were passed for a total of $640 on Dec. 17, 1987. The fourth check belonged to Emily Blake of Southport and was passed for $225 on Jan. 11.
