Long Bay Garden Club members filled the fellowship hall of Camp United Methodist Church in Shallotte last weekend for their standard flower show entitled "The Miracle of Spring."

Members prepared two dozen exhibits for the artistic division and received comments and awards from visiting National Council of Flower Show Judges during the March 18, 19 and 20 event.

Jamie Ward won the Tricolor Award for her design of eucalyptus and daffodils, while Vicki Jones, co-chairman of the flower show, received the Creativity Award for an arrangement of clipped palms and winter cabbages.

In the horticultural division, Dianne Baxley's camellia japonica received the Aboreal Award and the Award of Horticultural Excellence. She received the Sweepstakes Award for having the most blue ribbons in that division.

Awards of merit were won by flower show co-chairman Frances Gravatt for her daffodil entry and club president Sibyl McLamb for a Saint Paulia African Violet.

An award of appreciation was presented to the Sunset Sands Garden Club, whose members provided four designs in the novice/invitation class, as well as horticultural entries.

Betty Shreve also won a free crape myrtle tree.

Visitors to the show viewed a display of foliage plants provided by Harrelson's Farm and Garden Center as well as a poster of North Carolina wildflowers painted by club member Helen Cranford.

Another display, aimed at demonstrating the need to control litter in Brunswick County, was included as part of the exhibit. Club members serving as show hostesses distributed car litter bags.

DRIVING AT A DISADVANTAGE

Safe driving depends on good vision. It has been estimated that some 90 percent of driving decisions are based on vision. As changes in your vision are often gradual and imperceptible, you may be unaware that you are driving at a disadvantage.

The only way to find out if your vision is good enough for safe driving is to have them examined periodically. A thorough examination will test for ALL the necessary skills. There's much more to it than visual acuity (being able to read the eye chart).

For safe driving, you also need good peripheral vision, the ability to "see out of the corner of your eye;" depth perception, the ability to judge between yourself and other objects; eye coordination, the ability to focus both eyes at the same object quickly, easily and automatically; and accommodation, the ability to change focus from near to far and vice versa.

If you haven't had your eyes examined recently, isn't it about time you did? You owe it to yourself, and everyone else on the road.
