

Presbyterians Begin Services At Calabash

Starting Sunday July 17, Presbyterian worship services will be held weekly at 9:30 a.m. at the VFW Building, at Traders' Village, Calabash.

Rev. Frank Elliott of Whiteville will conduct the services.

"We've got enough members for a church," said Elliott in a telephone interview from his home, noting that an initial survey has been made and that a location and program are under consideration.

While in the past the church had few members in this area, over the past six to eight years its numbers have increased by about 18 households each year, he said.

"The Presbyterian Church has long had plans to expand here," he said, noting the 25-mile gap between the Shallotte Presbyterian Church and the nearest Presbyterian congregation in Horry County, S.C.

Services are open to all, he said, with a special invitation extended to members of related churches, such as United Church of Christ and the Reformed Church in America, which do not have congregations in the area.

For more information Elliott can be contacted at Route 7, Box 41 AA, Whiteville, NC 28472. Locally, individuals can call mission contacts Mr. and Mrs. Archie Farr of Hunter's Trace, 579-5586.

Camp Meeting Set

Dr. Herbert Carter will preach an old-fashioned "camp meeting" at Shallotte Middle School July 4-8.

Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. each day, with special singing.

For 25 years Carter was general superintendent of the Pentecostal Free Will Baptist Church, a full gospel denomination headquartered in Dunn, and is currently its general director of world missions. He is co-founder of Heritage Bible College.

Special music will be provided as follows: Monday—United Faith Choir and Visions; Tuesday—Coastal Voices and Kingsway;

Wednesday—Sunshine Choir and Methodist Choir; Thursday—Cedar Grove Gospel Choir and BLESS; and Friday—The Couriers.

No admission is charged.

Dinner Planned

Ocean View United Methodist Church of Yaupon Beach will sell barbecue chicken dinners this Friday, July 1.

Plates will cost $3.75 each and will include cole slaw, potato salad and a roll. Dinner will be served from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The church men's group, sponsors of the dinner, will also run a free delivery service. Those interested can call 278-5973.

The church is located on East Oak Island Drive in Yaupon Beach.

Sale To Aid Boy

A yard sale planned Saturday, July 2, by the Dixon Chapel United Methodist Church Ladies Club will feature special tables set up to benefit the Richard Lancaster Hospital Fund.

The fund was established to help pay hospital bills incurred by Lancaster, a high school freshman hospitalized following an aneurysm in his brain earlier this month.

Those with items to donate for the tables are asked to contact Marlene Varnam, Mary Dawson, Vonn Ferguson or Gayla Varnam, or to bring the merchandise to the sale early Saturday.

The sale will be held next to June's Fabric Shop on the Holden Beach Road (N.C. 130 east).

No Early Service

No early worship service will be held Sunday, June 3, at Camp United Methodist Church.

However, the service will resume at 8:45 a.m. on July 10, when following the 11 a.m. worship service, a covered dish luncheon will be held to welcome the new pastor, Rev. George Blanchard, and family.

mand is higher, according to the Red Cross. During a summer holiday, more Americans are involved in activities likely to lead to accident or injury, while regular donors often slip out of their routine of giving blood.

Anyone age 17 to 71 and in reasonable health may donate blood.

Love And Grief: Emotional Partners

BY GREG WHITE
BRUNSWICK FUNERAL SERVICE

Love and loss are two of our strongest emotions. When the happiness and well-being of another has priority over our own, we are experiencing love. Grief is our emotional response to loss and separation. Love is often the criterion that determines the intensity of the grief we experience in human loss.

Though your funeral director has no cure for the pain of loss, he or she is no stranger to grief. They know ways to help.
