Council Assessing Local Need For Day Care For The Elderly

The South Brunswick Interchurch Council is studying the need in Brunswick County for day care for the elderly, a growing segment of the local population.

According to spokesman Isobel Beebe, day care might consist of a place where the elderly could be cared for during working hours (similar to day care for children), provided their condition permits them to leave home.

Other program alternatives may be considered for homebound elderly.

Several council members have visited care programs for the elderly in New Hanover County. However, before the council pursues the idea of a local day care program, it must determine the extent of the need for such projects in Brunswick County.

The council wants to hear from persons who would be eligible for a day care program or who care for such a person, perhaps a relative.

Among other information needed is:

- Whether the elderly person could attend a center or would require homebound services;

- Whether the respondents would be interested in working on such a project themselves as a volunteer;
- Name, address and telephone number for follow-up.

Replies should be sent to Mrs. Isobel Beebe, Route 7, Box 78, Shallotte, NC 28459.

Anyone interested in joining the South Brunswick Interchurch Council or in learning more about day care for the elderly is asked to call either Mrs. Beebe, 287-3584, or Katherine Shawver, 754-6129.
