

Five Teams Compete While Raising Funds For BCC

Five teams are vying to win the "Turkey Bowl," a friendly competition being held in conjunction with the Brunswick Community College Foundation's community fundraising drive.

The drive continues through Dec. 16 and is headed by Foundation Vice President Bruce Caldwell of Southport.

Five teams of business and community leaders are working to raise $50,000, which will be used for student scholarships, a work-study program for students and other ongoing Foundation programs, Caldwell said. The teams will compete by scoring points which are awarded for successfully soliciting new donors and gaining increased donations from existing donors. While the top team wins the Turkey Bowl, the losing team earns the dubious title of "Turkey's Tail."

Team leaders are David Kelly of Yaupon Beach, Kelly's Knights; Bruce Caldwell of Southport, Caldwell's Chargers; David Batten of Holden Beach, Batten's Bolts; Al Laughinghouse of Ocean Isle Beach, Laughinghouse's Leaders; Sheila McLamb of Shallotte, McLamb's Mediators; and a special team headed by BCC President W. Michael Reaves.

On Kelly's team are Bill Rabon, Jenny Rabon, Barbara Vice and Jim Rabon, all of Southport, and Pam Greer of Long Beach; on Caldwell's team, Sam Carr of Wilmington, Jesse Clemmons of Supply, Gary Fulbright of Yaupon Beach and Teresa Ray of Long Beach; on Batten's team, Kay Batten and Alan Holden, both of Holden Beach, Dennis Crocker and Virginia Gibson of Ocean Isle Beach, Wilton Harrelson and Bobby Davis of Shallotte, Paul Dennis of Seaside, Don Hughes of Long Beach and Annette Odum of Sunset Beach.

Also, on Laughinghouse's team, Brad Bruestle of Holden Beach, Floyd Kirby of Shallotte and Odell Williamson of Ocean Isle Beach; on McLamb's team, Velva Hall of Winnabow, John and Vicki Marshall of Shallotte, Russell Price of Calabash, Rep. E. David Redwine of Seaside, Percy Woodard of Supply and Joe Stanley and Lewis Stanley of Wilmington.

The special team consists of Vicki Spencer of Yaupon Beach, Ben DeBlois of Shallotte, Ann Harrison of Long Beach, Gaye Fulford of Varnamtown and Phil Morgan of Wilmington.

This community drive follows a successful campus-wide fund drive in which faculty and staff recorded the highest level of participation yet among college employees, donating an average of $90 each, said Vicki Spencer, institutional development officer. Among North Carolina community colleges, the average is $50 to $60.

Contributions from individuals or businesses can be arranged by contacting any "Turkey Bowl" team member or by calling Vicki Spencer.

Christmas Parade Will Feature Local Beauties

Miss Brunswick County Wendy Williams will be one of about a dozen beauty queens participating in the annual Shallotte Christmas Parade slated for Saturday, Dec. 3, at 10 a.m. With more than 50 confirmed entries as of last week, parade coordinator Sandy Hewett said she expects an even greater turnout than last year when there were about 115 participants.

As of last Wednesday, 10½ floats had been reserved of the 15 the town hopes to rent. Participants on those floats, which cost $225 for a full float and $150 for half, include Brunswick Community College, The Brunswick Hospital and several town merchants.

Local volunteer fire and rescue squads and about a half dozen sudan groups including the Thunderbolts will also participate in this year's parade. The Brunswick County Saddle Club will be one of three saddle clubs in the area that will be showing off approximately 15 horses each.

Other attractions will include Cathy Carlisle of Boone's Neck, three-time defending state oyster shucking champion, current women's national champion and past winner of the overall national title. Also, several boy scout and girl scout troops from the area will be taking part in the parade along with the marching band and junior ROTC squad from West Brunswick High School.

There is no entry fee for non-profit groups such as churches, schools or civic organizations and beauty queens can also participate free-of-charge if they provide their own transportation in the parade. Area businesses must pay a $35 fee to take part.

While the parade will begin at 10 a.m., entrants are asked to be at Shallotte Middle School no later than 9 a.m. The parade will follow the same route as last year, starting at the middle school, following Blake Street to U.S. 17 and moving north to the main branch of United Carolina Bank.

The deadline for renting a float is this Friday, Nov. 18, while other entries will be accepted through Nov. 25.

For more information, or to register for the parade, call Shallotte Town Hall at 754-4032.

Fishing Workshop Slated For Dec. 6 In Bolivia

Bolivia will be the site of a workshop next month held by Sea Grant and the N.C. Fisheries Association for commercial fishermen.

Part of a series, the session will address the problems of vessel safety, rising insurance costs and the U.S. Customs Service's Zero Tolerance Policy.

In August, the U.S. Senate passed the Commercial Fishing Industry and Safety Act of 1988, which is the first law to mandate federal safety standards for the commercial fishing industry. It addresses concerns about increases in vessel losses and crew injuries and the resulting increases in insurance premiums.

Fishermen also have been affected by vessel seizures associated with the customs service's new policy to crack down on even small amounts of controlled substances on vessels.

Jerry Schill, executive director of the N.C. Fisheries Association, says the workshop will provide fishermen with an overview of fishing vessel safety problems in the United States and particularly in the Southeast.

Fishermen will learn about the North American Fishing Insurance Mutual Association. To participate in the association, fishermen must be members of the N.C. Fisheries Association.

Also, a representative from the customs service will be on hand to discuss the Zero Tolerance Policy and the fisheries association's initiative Agreement. The agreement provides for customs service jurisdiction over the vessel without taking custody of the boat in the event that illegal drugs are found on board—a measure which prevents lost fishing time.

The workshop will be held on Dec. 6 from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the Public Assembly Building in Bolivia. It also will be repeated on Dec. 7 in Beaufort and Dec. 8 in Manteo.

For more information, contact Jim Murray at Sea Grant at 737-2454.

A TRIBUTE TO TEACHERS DURING NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK NOV. 13-19

WE ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE CHILDREN

- We are responsible for children who put chocolate fingers everywhere, who like to be tickled, who stomp in puddles and ruin their new pants, who sneak Popsicles before supper, who erase holes in math workbooks, who can never find their shoes.
- And we are responsible for those who stare at photographers from behind barbed wire, who can't bound down the street in a new pair of sneakers, who never "counted potatoes," who are born in places we wouldn't be caught dead, who never go to the circus, who live in an x-rated world.
- We are responsible for children who bring us sticky kisses and fistfuls of dandelions, who sleep with the dog and bury goldfish, who hug us in a hurry and forget their lunch money, who cover themselves with Band-aids and sing off key, who squeeze toothpaste all over the sink, who slurp their soup.
- And we are responsible for those who never get dessert, who have no safe blanket to drag behind them, who watch their parents watch them die, who can't find any bread to steal, who don't have any rooms to clean up, whose pictures aren't on anybody's dresser, whose monsters are real.
- We are responsible for children who spend all of their allowance before Tuesday, who throw tantrums in the grocery store and pick at their food, who like ghost stories, who shove dirty clothes under the bed, and never rinse out the tub, who get visits from the tooth fairy, who don't like to be kissed in front of the carpool, who squirm in church and scream in the phone, whose tears we sometimes laugh at and whose smiles can make us cry.
- We are responsible for those whose nightmares come in the daytime, who will eat anything, who have never seen a dentist, who aren't spoiled by anybody, who go to bed hungry and cry themselves to sleep, who live and move, but have no being.
- We are responsible for children who want to be carried and for those who must, For those we never give up on and for those who don't get a second chance.
- For those we smother . . . and for those who will grab the hand of anybody kind enough to offer it.
