Sail Away, Sail Away

"Light boats sail swift," as William Shakespeare once wrote, especially when fueled by a steady wind. At right, Eric Carpenter of Supply shows his winning style in the Rain Gutter Regatta held last Saturday by Cub Scout Pack 227, which is sponsored by Camp United Methodist Church. His fleet craft sped across the 10-foot distance in 11 seconds, though there were a few moments of peril. Among the 15 Cubs participating were (below, from left) third-place finisher Clinton Rountree, second-place finisher Westley Fenton, Peter Macon, Scott Macon, Patrick Covil, Jordan Reeves, Eric Carpenter, fourth-place finisher Nicholas Carpenter and Cliff Cheek. The boys, who made their boats from kits, finished the day with a gutter-length giant ice cream sundae.

Literacy Tutor Training To Begin Sept. 7 At BCC

Adults interested in helping other adults learn to read and write can still sign up for a tutor training workshop that begins Sept. 7 at Brunswick Community College.

Sponsored by the Brunswick County Literacy Council, the Laubach Way To Reading workshop will meet for four consecutive Thursday nights at the Brunswick Interagency Building. Class hours are 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., with a minimum of 10 contact hours required for certification.

Cost is $15 except for students age 65 or older, who will not be charged.

Tutor training is offered by the Council four times a year, as a large pool of volunteers is needed in order to match students with tutors who live nearby and are available at suitable hours.

There is also a demand for new or reactivated tutors interested in working with individual students enrolled in Brunswick Community College's Adult Basic Education program at locations throughout the county.

All materials needed for tutoring are provided. Tutors and students are expected to meet at least once each week and preferably twice each week, for sessions that last approximately one and one-half hours each.

Pre-registration is required for all participants. To sign up, or for more information, contact the Council at 754-7323 days or 754-5082 evenings.
