

CHURCH ACTIVITIES

Calabash Presbyterian Church Sets Organizational Service

Calabash Presbyterian Church, a new church that is serving the Calabash-Sunset Beach area, will hold its formal organizational service Sunday at 9:30 p.m. as part of morning worship service at the Calabash VFW Hall. The service will be conducted by a commission of the Coastal Carolina Presbytery.

Charter members will be received, said Jerry C. McCann, pastor. Also, nine persons will be ordained and installed as elders: Horst Burkert, Archie Farr, Vic Hahn, C.F. Houlgan, Mary Medeiros, Doris Minor, Christine Rosdahl, Walter Ruback and Julia Thomas.

Members of the commission to organize the church are the Rev. Frank Elliott of Whiteville; the Rev. Jerry McCann of Long Beach; the Rev. Jan Smook of Wilmington; and elders Doug Baxley, Shallotte; Betty Hill, Long Beach; Leo Vereen, Wilmington; and Mary Young, Southport.

The church has secured a site on Old Georgetown Road. Plans are being made to begin construction of a first unit by the end of the year.

Following Sunday's service a reception and fellowship period is planned.

Marks Anniversary

Von Ferguson and The Coastal Voices, a popular area gospel group, will mark its third anniversary with a sing at Dixon Chapel United Methodist Church at Varnamtown Saturday, Feb. 24, at 6 p.m. There will be no charge.

In addition to Mrs. Ferguson, members of the group include Landon and Marie Gray, Penny Gray and Velma Hewett.

Also appearing on the program will be The Browns, The Homes Quartet, and Jim Fincher.

Rally Slated

The Rev. Horace Jackson of Wilmington, retired pastor of Sunset Park Baptist Church, will be the guest speaker for the Brunswick Baptist Association's "Here's Hope" rally 7 p.m. Friday, Feb. 23, at Southport Baptist Church, Southport.

"Here's Hope. Jesus Cares For You" is the theme for the Southern Baptist Convention simultaneous revivals which will be held nationwide this spring. Thirty-one member churches of the county association will participate in March and April.

In addition to Jackson's message, spokesman Brenda Crisco said the rally will feature an associational choir presenting two songs, Here's Hope and The Name of Jesus, a variety of congregational singing, and personal testimonies of faith by Ruby Carsonova, Faith Baptist Church; Tyler Potter, Leland Baptist Church; and Rebecca Chapman, Southport Baptist Church.

The Rev. Wayne Trexler, pastor of Southport Baptist, is chairman of the association's steering committee for the simultaneous revivals. The Rev. Marvin Chapman is director of missions for the association.

Sets Yard Sale

Seaside Christian Fellowship will hold a yard sale Feb. 23 and 24 in front of King's Plaza shopping center on N.C. 179 near Seaside. Proceeds will go to the building fund, said Dwight Reeves, pastor.

Clothing, books, tools, radios and television sets and other items will be offered, along with baked goods, coffee, cold beverages and hot dogs. Attendees can register for free for a handmade mirror to be awarded in a drawing at the sale.

To Serve Barbecue

Farmers Chapel Baptist Church at Maco will serve homecooked barbecue dinners Friday, Feb. 23, with proceeds to go to the building fund.

Spokesman Shirlene Scoggins said each plate will cost $3.50. Delivery can be arranged by calling 655-2937.

Quartet To Appear

The Regent Quartet, formerly of Liberty University, Lynchburg, Va., and now based in Myrtle Beach, S.C., will appear at Jennies Branch Baptist Church near Shallotte March 4 at 7 p.m.

Organized in January 1986, the quartet offers a mixed southern gospel repertoire in its ministry.

CEDAR GROVE AREA NEWS

Mass Male Choir Will Perform

BY BARBARA T. HEWETT

Ocean View Association will once again be graced, inspired and ministered to in music by its one hundred voice male mass choir Sunday, Feb. 25, at 5 p.m. at Pleasant View Missionary Baptist Church of Grissetown.

The Rev. James Smith of Nakina is the host pastor.

Sponsor for the event is the Youth Department, under the supervision of Arvella Marlowe of Pleasant Grove; the Rev. Samuel Stanley of Nakina; Dorothy Lee Frink, wife of mass choir president Raphael Frink of Little Prong Missionary Baptist Church in Ash; and the Rev. M.C. Herring of Mt. Zion Church in Longwood. He serves as advisor to the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Convention Planning Session for Youth.

The youngest of the association's youth will highlight the program with a singspiration featuring musicians Robert and Anthony Frink, brothers from Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church.

Appearing on the program for the first time in the almost century-long history of the association are three state officers for youth: Barbara T. Hewett, state youth supervisor for the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Convention, Tania Butler, state youth president; and Supervisor Arvella Marlowe, who is also a state officer.

Mrs. Hewett is in charge of the Little Dynamics Offertory program, assisted by Miss Butler.

Each of the association's 15 churches will send a representative with their offering. The youth presenting the greatest offering will be crowned Little Dynamics 1990 by the title-holder for 1989, Kim Gore.

This program is so popular with the people of this area that it usually draws a standing room only crowd. It pays to plan to arrive early to get a seat.

Mormons Travel To Capital

About 60 local residents were expected to leave Brunswick County today (Thursday) on a trip to the nation's capital where they planned to visit the Washington Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The local group will join a group of about 300 people from Wilmington and surrounding areas for the three-day trip.

Rodney S. Earle, president of the church's Wilmington Stake, said attending the temple has two purposes: "It enriches the lives of those who are able to attend and worship in the temple, and it is an opportunity to be of service by doing proxy work for those who have passed away."

The Washington Temple, one of 43 temples of the church worldwide, is open only to worthy members of the church. It is a sacred place where marriages for eternity and other ordinances are performed. After a person has received the ordinances necessary for his own salvation, he is encouraged to do proxy work for those who died without the opportunity to complete the ordinances for themselves.

In addition to the regular ordinance work to be accomplished, a special assembly will be held in the temple Saturday for all members of the Wilmington Stake.
