Schools Face Off Dec. 8 For '91 Quiz Bowl Honors

"Who is the highest paid athlete in the U.S. by the hour?"

This could be one of the questions asked Dec. 8, when West Brunswick High School defends its county championship in the 1991 Brunswick County Quiz Bowl.

Teams from each county high school face off in the event, which will be held for the first time at Brunswick Community College at Supply. Starting time is 1 p.m. Admission is free and open to the public.

The quiz bowl, now in its 12th year locally, is a general knowledge competition for high school students sponsored by the Brunswick County Public Library in cooperation with the Brunswick County Schools and the North Carolina State Library.

Competing teams are selected through a process of elimination that includes a pre-test and in-school competition. Each school selects a team and two alternates.

In the double-elimination competition team members take turns answering questions posed by the moderator. The questions, which cover current events as well as a broad range of subject material, come from a volume of questions compiled by a state committee representing participating libraries.

In the final round of each contest, the respondent is allowed to consult with team members before answering.

West Brunswick's team consists of Jeremy Hewett, Rodric Gause, John Cook, Phillip Rhodes, Greg Yeager, Terry Nawara, Tim Palmer and Ben Robinson. Jim Price, team sponsor, said the team has been fortunate in having community volunteers come to the high school and work with the students after school in preparation for the contest.

Joann Absi and Fred Baldwin are sponsors for North Brunswick High's Quiz Bowl team, which includes these 10 members and alternates: Tracey Henry, Tracey Hamby, Tabbie King, Gary Martin, David Tan, George Kelley, Tim Kelly, Maggie Dees, Gwen Carmack and Jim Rossiter.

The winning team advances to the Region 7 competition next March. State finals will be held several weeks later at the state library in Raleigh.

The athlete? Mike Tyson, who received more than $1 million for less than a minute's work in 1989.

School Board Will Squeeze In Friday Morning Meeting

The Brunswick County Board of Education plans to squeeze in one more meeting before the seating of two new members next week.

A special meeting of the board has been called for Friday, Nov. 30, at 7 a.m. in the conference room at the board's Southport office. On the agenda are personnel and attorney-client matters, discussion of an extension of the board's audit contract, budget matters and concerns of the Brunswick County Education Foundation, said Douglas Deitz, secretary to Superintendent P.R. Hankins.

At its Nov. 13 meeting the board had discussed the possibility of a called meeting before Dec. 3, specifically in regard to adoption of a budget for the 1990-91 fiscal year. The board has been operating under an interim budget since mid-summer. Members Donna Baxter and Doug Baxley were to meet with the superintendent and finance officer to review the revised budget document prior to its presentation to the full board.

Plans to adopt a final budget in November were stymied with discovery by the finance office of additional irregularities that warranted attention by the auditors and that could affect the budget.

The board's next regular meeting, set for 6:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 3, will be held at West Brunswick High School in Shallotte. At that time the board will seat two new members, Polly Russ of District 2 and Yvonne Bright of District 5. They succeed Dorothy Worth and James Clemmons respectively.
