

LOCAL ARTISTS focus on animals in a juried exhibit this month at Franklin Square Gallery in Southport. The opening reception is Saturday, April 6, from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. The show was coordinated by BCC Visiting Artist Emily Weinstein, whose own interest in animals is reflected in the oil on wood above, "Man's Best Friend & Other Animals We Eat".

'Animals In Art' Juried Show Opens At Gallery In Southport

From more than 1,000 entries received, approximately 250 works are on display this month in the Animals in Art juried show, which opened Tuesday at Franklin Square Gallery in Southport.

Most, 200, are works by students. About 50 are by adults. The pieces vary in tone from serious to whimsical and are executed in media ranging from crayons to 3-D. "They are wonderful," said Emily Weinstein, visiting artist at Brunswick Community College and coordinator of the show.

Entries were judged Sunday, with winners receiving plaques designed by Miss Weinstein and lettered by volunteer Jeff McGinnis.

Receives Scholarship

Christopher Leon Russ, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip W. Russ of Shallotte, has been awarded a Grayson Scholarship to attend Mars Hill College.

RUSS

Russ is a senior at West Brunswick High School, where he is president of the National Honor Society and has served as secretary, president and advisor of the FFA Club.

Grayson Scholarships are awarded to students "with outstanding academic skills and extraordinary capacity for leadership," according to a news release. The initial award is worth $2,500 and is renewable annually, increasing in value by $500 each year, bringing the total value for four years to $13,000.

HILL BLANKENSHIP
Two Chosen For Tour

Two Brunswick County high school juniors are among four area teen-agers chosen to participate in the annual Rural Electric Youth Tour to Washington, D.C., June 15-21.

They are Bridget Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hill of Shallotte, and Sherman Blankenship, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Shirley of Southport. Other winners, from Columbus County, were Stacy Glenn Nobles of Chadbourn and Katrina Lynn Parker of Bolton.

The four will join approximately 1,000 other delegates from 30 states. They will attend seminars on government, rural electrification and cooperatives, meet with members of their congressional delegation and go sight-seeing. A highlight will be Rural Electric Youth Day, which includes an "Energy Battle" bowl competition, speeches by government and rural electric officials. Delegates will also name a committee of teen-agers to take part in activities sponsored during the year by the National Electric Cooperative Association.

Two North Carolina Youth Tour delegates will be selected to receive scholarships.

11 ATTEND CONFERENCE

ROCAME Picks Bowl Teams

The West Brunswick Area ROCAME chapter selected junior and senior high teams for the upcoming county quiz bowl at its March 18 meeting at Waccamaw Elementary School.

Members competed for slots on the two teams that will represent the local chapter of Region O Council for the Advancement of Minorities in Engineering (ROCAME) at the county competition. The contest is set April 18 at Leland Middle School.

Willie Gore, Amy Grissett, Perty Grissett and Lonnie Mitchell make up the senior high team. The junior high team features Corey Bowers, Shalana King, Tiffane Marlowe and Felicia Morgan.

Adviser Sybil Mitchell-Simmons said 17 students, five parents and three advisers attended the chapter meeting, which was the first joint meeting of the year.

Attend Conference

Eleven Brunswick County ROCAME delegates recently attended the eighth annual statewide conference of the N.C. Council for Minorities in Science, Mathematics and Engineering.

Forty-eight ROCAME students from five area school systems competed with students from three other organizations located in the Fayetteville, Greenville and Roanoke Rapids areas. All attendees participated in writing, math and construction competitions. In all 24 four-member teams participated in the various contests on the junior and senior high levels.

The local team of Julian Bryant, Perty Grissett, Tamara Johnson and Terri Smith won third place for airplane construction at the senior high level.

Smith also was a member of an all-star ROCAME team that won the state championship quiz bowl for senior high delegates.

The theme of the March 14-15 event at East Carolina University in Greenville was "Matching Talents to Ambitions."

Local delegates were Tikila Morgan and Grissett of West Brunswick High; David Bowers and Corey Bowers of Waccamaw Elementary; Madonna Gause of Shallotte Middle; Chakinnah Brewington, Smith and Johnson of South Brunswick High; and Christine Lloyd, Charity Delts and Bryant of North Brunswick High.

Other activities at the annual conference included a banquet, dance and enrichment tours of a T-shirt print design company and the university's sports medicine complex.

Brunswick County coordinators who attended the conference were Beatrice and William Flythe and Mrs. Mitchell-Simmons.

Landscape Art Outing Slated

A landscape art workshop will be offered on two consecutive Saturdays, April 13 and 20, by Brunswick Community College Visiting Artist Emily Weinstein.

Participants will meet at the BCC campus north of Supply at 9:30 a.m., in front of the Vocational Building.

Miss Weinstein said participants are encouraged to work in whatever medium they are most comfortable using.

She is willing to do a painting or drawing demonstration in a chosen medium if participants request one in advance by calling her at 842-3304 so she will pack appropriate supplies.

Orton Plantation may be the site of the first outing; participants are encouraged to offer other suggestions.

The sessions are open to children and adults. However, children under 10 must be accompanied by an adult, said the artist, "unless they are of the nature to be fully engaged in their art work."

On campus, work resumes next week on a mural that has been dubbed, "Campus Life". It involves eight full-sized human cut-outs standing around chatting, Miss Weinstein said. Volunteers work on the project Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the art room in the Vocational Building; interested artists are welcome.
