

Judge Orders Two Men To Pay Back Unemployment Benefits

Two men who pleaded guilty last week to giving false information to the Employment Security Commission must pay back unemployment benefits they received while working in 1989.

Bobby A. King, 32, of Route 1, Ash, and David L. Robinson, 49, of Shallotte, each pleaded guilty in Brunswick County District Court last week to employment security law violations.

They had been charged in February with the offenses by Patricia Long, fraud investigator for the N.C. Employment Security Commission office in Wilmington.

King was found guilty of nine violations while Robinson was found guilty of four violations by Judge Jerry A. Jolly.

Jolly ordered that King repay $792 he received in June 1989. According to the warrants filed Feb. 18, King was working at Sea Trail Plantation in 1989 when he received the unemployment payments.

King was given a one-year sentence, suspended for two years, placed on two years' supervised probation, ordered to pay court costs plus $100 in attorney fees, to not violate any laws for two years and ordered to serve 48 hours community service within 60 days.

Jolly ordered that Robinson repay $219 to the state. According to the warrants, Robinson was charged for receiving unemployment payments in June 1989 while he was working with Wilmington Shipping Co.

Robinson was given a one-year sentence, suspended for two years and placed on two years' unsupervised probation. He was also ordered to not violate any laws for two years and to pay court costs.

Judges Jolly and Napoleon "Poli" Barefoot Jr. also heard the following cases in District Court last week:

VICTIMS' RIGHTS WEEK

APRIL 21-27, 1991

In a Proclamation issued by Governor James G. Martin he stated, "Because victims may be overlooked, it is important to recognize their rights. This year the theme of National Victims' Rights Week is 'A New Balance.'" A major goal of this observance is to achieve fairness and equity for the innocent victims of crime in our Criminal Justice System.

THE VICTIM BILL OF RIGHTS

It is the policy of the State of North Carolina that victims of crime should be treated with dignity, compassion, and respect; that they should be informed about the progress and outcome of their cases; and that damage done to them be considered by the court as it decides their case.

To that end, and to the extent possible subject to available resources, victims of crime in North Carolina have a right:

1. To be informed by local law enforcement agencies and the District Attorney of their role in the criminal justice system including what will be expected of them.
2. To be notified that a court proceeding which they are required to attend will not go on as scheduled, in order to save unnecessary trips to court.
3. To receive protection from harm and threats of harm arising out of their cooperation with law enforcement efforts, and to be provided with information about the amount of protection available.
4. To be informed of financial assistance and other social services available as a result of being a witness or victim of crime, including information on how to apply for assistance and services and the procedure to be followed in order to apply for and receive any witness fee to which they are entitled.
5. To be provided, whenever possible, with a secure waiting area
