Caison Is 4-H State Cumulative Record Winner In Marine Awareness

Amy Caison, a sophomore at West Brunswick High School, is the 4-H State Cumulative Record winner in marine awareness. She will receive a $100 savings bond, a "behind the scenes" tour of the N.C. Aquarium at Pine Knoll Shores and free participation for two in one of the aquarium's special activities.

CAISON

Miss Caison began fishing at age 3 and SCUBA diving at 6 and has been active in district and state level 4-H demonstration contests in marine awareness.

She has attended UNC-W's summer marine biology class, "Coast Trek," and Duke University's coastal geology spring program.

These varied activities have helped her develop a keen awareness of the fragile interconnected nature of marine communities, she said. "From all the things I've done in the Marine Awareness Project, I've learned that everyone should help to protect the environment."

She was also a district winner in the gardening and electric cumulative record projects.

Martin Elected

Angela J. Martin of Supply is among 40 students who have been elected to membership in the Epsilon chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

MARTIN

She is the daughter of Larry and Pat Martin of Route 2, Supply. The math major is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society and is a University Marshal. UNC-G is one of only five colleges and universities in the state which has a Phi Beta Kappa chapter.

Students were elected to the honor society on the basis of their academic achievements in the liberal arts and sciences during their undergraduate years at UNC-G.

Lewis Performs

Ricky Lewis, a senior at West Brunswick High School, performed for men and women involved in Operation Desert Storm during the April 7 chapel service at Myrtle Beach (S.C.) Air Force Base.

LEWIS

Lewis was invited to play his trumpet at the base after a recent concert of "The Singing Disciples." Lewis, a four-year member of the Trojan band, also is lead singer for the gospel group.

He is the son of Bobby and Carolyn Lewis of Shallotte and is an active participant in the Praise Band of Living Faith Church in Myrtle Beach.

Joyner Certified

Brunswick County Sheriff's Detective Larry Joyner has been certified as a law enforcement instructor by the N.C. Justice Academy in Salemburg.

JOYNER

Joyner completed the 80-hour course April 19. The certification allows him to teach classes in criminal justice and law enforcement. Joyner is a graduate of Brunswick County High School in Southport and James Sprunt Institute in Kenansville.

He is the son of Charles and Flora Joyner of Southport. He and his wife, Wynona, have three children, Larry Jr., Nakia and Wyshonique.

Wins At Pageant

Victoria Stacy Lynn Shadid, daughter of Terrie L. Gray Shadid of Shallotte, won the ages 8-10 division of the N.C. Miss and Master of Brunswick County contest.

SHADID

Victoria won in sportswear, best smile, most photogenic and best dressed categories. She will compete in the national competition.

She is the granddaughter of Buck and Alice Gray of Shallotte and has a brother, Charles E. Shadid II.

Holbrooks Chosen

Angela Holbrooks, an honor roll student at South Brunswick Middle School, will appear in the United States Achievement Academy's annual yearbook as a United States National Honor Roll Award winner.

HOLBROOKS

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Holbrooks of Bolivia. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holbrooks and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brimer of Gastonia.

Band Cites Two

West Brunswick High School sophomores Michael Turner and Chris Carter have been named band members of the week in honor of the superior rating they received on duet performance at the N.C. Solo and Ensemble Festival held April 20.

Both play alto saxophone. Michael is the son of Mitch and Patsy Turner of Ash. Chris is the son of Robert and Julie Carter of Grissetown.

Drivers Chosen

Two women have been named co-bus drivers of the month at West Brunswick High School.

Linda Hewett of Supply drives Bus 59 and is a graduate of Shallotte High School. She has four children, Candace, Robert, Jonathan and James, a senior at West Brunswick. She attends Oak Grove Baptist Church.

Wilhelmina Slade of Calabash drives Bus 64 and is a graduate of Union High School. She has three children, Timothy, Terrence and De-shon, a senior at West Brunswick. She is a member of Pleasant View Baptist Church.

SLADE

Drivers are chosen for their concern for safety and welfare of students.

County Fair Highlights Students' Achievements

Some of the best student work of the year can be seen Saturday, May 4, at the Brunswick County Schools Curriculum Fair.

Slated from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., the fair will feature students' computer, math, science and social studies projects, as well as examples of student artwork and writing, said Gloria Yount, public information officer. The exhibits showcase the achievements of students at all 11 county schools in all curriculum areas as well as the school system's food services division.

Also, central office staff members, school principals and assistant principals will staff an administrative booth. This booth will offer parents an opportunity to talk with school administrators as well as providing printed information on school programs.

Continuous student performances in the cafeteria or on the lawn will highlight the fair, starting with the 9 a.m. opening ceremony featuring the South Brunswick High School Band.

Other performances are as follows:
 9:30 a.m.Leland Middle School Sixth Grade Band
 10 a.m.Elementary Honors Chorus

 No admission is charged to the curriculum fair.

Lower Cape Fear Hospice Will Take Indigent Patients

Lower Cape Fear Hospice has begun accepting patients again who do not have resources to cover the cost of their care.

On April 26 directors lifted a moratorium which was adopted last August due to financial challenges facing the non-profit agency, which serves Brunswick and five other counties.

However, the number of indigent patients served will be limited to 10 percent of the agency's total caseload, according to a news release from spokesman Kyle Slaton. This is an attempt to safeguard the agency's improved financial status.

Before the moratorium was imposed the percentage of indigent patients—those without insurance or cash to reimburse Hospice for its services—ran between 35 percent and 55 percent and contributed to the agency's financial problems.

The full-service caseload in the service area averages 70 patients per day.

Hospice provides a full range of care for patients with limited life expectancies, with the aim of improving the quality of life during illness, death and bereavement.

In addition to insurance reimbursements, Hospice receives support from United Way, city, county and federal grants; fund-raising events and private and group donations.
