

Teens To Pay For Break-In Damage At Belville Businesses

Two Winnabow teens have been ordered to pay for damages and items taken in two Belville business break-ins that they pleaded guilty to in Brunswick County District Court last week.

Frank Edward "Butch" Reynolds, 17, and John Mark Benton, 17, both of Route 1, each pleaded guilty to breaking and entering, misdemeanor breaking and entering and larceny and injury to personal property.

Each will serve a 28-day active jail term in addition to a suspended sentence.

Judge Napoleon "Poli" Barefoot Jr. sentenced both to two years for breaking and entering, suspended for three years, and placed them on three years' supervised probation.

On the misdemeanor charges, the two were sentenced to two years in prison to run at the expiration of the previous sentence. For injury to real property, they received a six-month sentence and were placed on supervised probation.

Both were charged in June by Brunswick County Sheriff's Detective Ken Messer following break-ins in May at Cape Fear South Inc. office building and Belville Mini Mart.

Taken from the Mini Mart were stereo equipment, cigarettes and coins valued at $964, the warrants state. Judge Barefoot ordered that they pay $964 to the Belville Mini Mart, $1,726 to Greg Henry of the Mini Mart, $800 to the Cape South office, $275 in attorney fees and court costs.

The young men must also enroll in Brunswick Community College or somewhere in Brunswick County where they can obtain a general equivalency diploma (GED) or a high school diploma.

They must also submit to warrantless searches and tests, not violate any laws for three years and to not use, possess or consume any controlled substances.
