MRS. WILLIAM GLASGOW MANN
...Judith Lynn Hassler

Hassler, Mann Pledge Vows

Judith Lynn Hassler and William Glasgow Mann were married Saturday, Nov. 2, at Jonesboro United Methodist Church in Sanford.

The Rev. Bruce Pate officiated the double-ring, late afternoon ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. Robert E. and Patricia Hassler of Shallotte.

Maid of honor for the bride was Laura Jane Bailey of Raleigh. Other bridesmaids were Carolyn Allgood and Colleen Blondell, both of Raleigh; Peggy Mann of Sanford and Jolanta Kellum of Greensboro.

Best man was Charles L. Mann Sr. of Sanford. Serving as ushers were Robert E. Hassler Jr. of Shallotte, Scott E. Hassler of Tuscaloosa, Ala., Charles L. Mann Jr. of Sanford and Martin Reeder of Raleigh.

Music was performed by organist Daniel Hester and trumpeter John C. McIntyre.

The bride wore a white silk gown which featured a ballgown neckline and puffed sleeves detailed with hand-beaded seed pearls. The bodice was accented with dangles of seed pearls and ovals. A ball-length skirt fell from the deep basque waistline.

The gown also had a ballgown back and was completed by a silk bow edged with seed pearls and centered with a rosette applique encrusted with pearls. Seed pearls encircled the hemline and semi-cathedral length train.

For her headpiece, the bride wore a white silk bow edged with seed pearls and centered with a pearl motif. The three-tiered veil was of illusion.

She carried a small, white Bible nestled in a spray of lilies and ivy.

The maid of honor wore a teal-length black velvet dress with a round collar, long sleeves and a deep V-back.

The bridal attendants each carried a spray of white lilies and ivy.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Women's Club of Raleigh.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Eau Claire, Wis., and is a senior claim representative at Allstate Insurance Company in Raleigh.

The groom is a graduate of East Carolina University, Greenville, and is employed by the Juvenile Services Division in the Eleventh Judicial District.

After a honeymoon in Sandals Resort, Ocho Rios, Jamaica, the couple will reside in Clayton.

Winfree, Houston To Marry Dec. 8
