

Search On For Those Who Heard Broadcast

BY HOLLY RICHARDS, EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT
South Brunswick Islands Chamber Of Commerce

Did you hear me on the radio last week? Well, I was on one of our local radio stations giving away cash. That's cash folks, cold hard cash! You need to register at participating Home-Town Holidays merchants for your chance to win. I'll be on again this Thursday morning to give away more money and to announce the winner of our "Best Store Front Decoration Contest."

The reason I'm asking if you heard me on the radio is that none of our "devoted" staff remembered to listen to me. I was absolutely crushed. I got to the office all excited about my live radio broadcast. None of the girls said a word about it. Hmmm, we proceeded to have our staff meeting. I asked Mary Barton to please cut a check for our first winner, Stephanie Batson of Shallotte. Still no one said anything about my radio interview. I asked Kathi Grissett to call Mrs. Batson and inform her that she had won the first of our three $100 cash prizes. Still no one said anything about my radio broadcast.

It turns out that they didn't say anything about me being on the radio because they really didn't hear me. Later, I talked with Annette Odom to finalize plans for our wonderful business-after-hours that was hosted by Paula's a Touch of Elegance. Annette didn't hear me either! I was beginning to think that no one did! Finally, around lunch I got a phone call. Someone had heard me! My faith had been restored. I was going to live.

I have assigned all the staff to listen to the radio this Thursday, and I'll be taking names. Remember, I told you we're having Secret Santa here at the office? No radio, No Secret Santa. Oh yes, I know that someone else heard me, I left the radio on at home and Corky, the cat listened to me. For those of you who read my Thanksgiving column and you're wondering how the trip home with the cat turned out, let's just say he'll be spending the Christmas holidays here in Brunswick County.

THIS 140,000 SQUARE FOOT Technical and Administrative Center will house 600 CP&L employees when completed in early 1993 at an estimated cost of $10 million.

CP&L Breaks Ground For New Center

Carolina Power & Light Co. broke ground for a new $10 million technical and administrative center at its Brunswick Nuclear Plant near Southport last week. The facility will be located on the south side of the main plant complex.

Lynn W. Eury, executive vice president for power supply groups, touted the center as an example of corporate and community partnership.

While bringing an estimated 150 jobs into the community during construction, he said, the center will also provide about 600 CP&L employees a better work environment.

Having managerial, engineering and administrative offices under one roof, he continued, should result in improved administrative coordination, increased productivity and greater efficiency of operation. The building will replace a fleet of modular office units CP&L has been leasing from the Brunswick County Schools.

Also participating in the program were Russell B. Starkey Jr., vice president, Brunswick Nuclear Project, and R.A. "Al" Watson, senior vice president for nuclear generation.

Construction was expected to be-

Completes Course

Sissy Rhyne, office manager of Margaret Rudd & Associates Inc. of Southport, has completed the Certified Real Estate Brokerage Course 304 Nov. 19-22 in Durham.

Focus was on leadership development and motivational and behavioral techniques.

The course was the last classroom prerequisite for Ms. Rhyne to qualify for the Certified Real Estate Broker (CRB) designation, the highest a brokerage manager can receive.

Ms. Rhyne has been associated with Margaret Rudd & Associates Inc. for more than 10 years. She is a member of the Brunswick County Board of Realtors and the state and national associations.

Focus On Partnership

Realtors Margaret Rudd and Sue Franks of Margaret Rudd & Associates Inc. of Southport attended a Nov. 20 program for area businesswomen presented by Carolina Power & Light Co.'s Eastern Division Women's Program Council at UNC-Wilmington.

The one-day seminar addressed the educational needs of youth at risk of educational, social and economic failure. It acquainted participants with a successful volunteer program now in operation in New Hanover County Schools and featured a keynote address by the state director of Cities in Schools of North Carolina.

"This worthwhile program emphasized the importance of the relationship between the business community and our schools," said Mrs. Franks, a school bus driver for South Brunswick High School and the mother of six children. Mrs. Rudd, president of Margaret Rudd & Associates Inc., is a member of the South Brunswick High School Advisory Council.
