CLUB BRIEFS

Tree For The Birds

Long Bay Garden Club members entertained preschool storyhour participants at the West Brunswick Branch Library in Shallotte with a social and a tree decorating workshop on Dec. 10.

Approximately 50 preschool-age children, garden club members and mothers strung popcorn and cranberries and stuffed pine cones with suet and bird seed, then used these items to decorate a Christmas tree for the birds on the library lawn.

Among the club members participating were Ann Laughinghouse, Amanda Smith, Virginia Winfree and Jean Russ.

Club women also made wreaths for the library, Shallotte Senior Citizens Center and Brunswick Adult Day Care Center at a Dec. 5 workshop at the library.

Seniors Give

Leland Volunteer Rescue Squad recently received a donation of $50 from the Leland Senior Citizens.

The presentation was made at the Leland Senior Center, said Leland VRS Capt. Nancy Long. "That was a lot of money for them. We really appreciate it," she said.

Equipment Given

A word processor was donated to the Brunswick County office of Lower Cape Fear Hospice recently by members of the Calabash Elks Ladies Auxiliary.

Auxiliary President Judy Whitman and members Dottie Hill, Jean Green, Ann Schubeck and Bev McKee presented the gift.

The item was on the holiday "wish list" published by the local Hospice office. Also on that list are a postage scale, an adding machine with tape, a two-drawer file cabinet and a desk chair.

More information is available from the Hospice office on Holden Beach Road in Shallotte, 754-5356.

Gift Honors Memory

The Ladies Auxiliary to Calabash VFW Post No. 7288 is donating $100 to the Brunswick County Literacy Council in memory of the late Mary Katherine Bachmann.

"We wished to express the sorrow we feel for the loss of our auxiliary president and friend," a news release indicated.

A memorial service was held Dec. 11 at the post, with members and friends bidding their farewells "to a nice lady".

Mrs. Bachmann, of Carolina Shores, Calabash, was killed in a Dec. 7 auto accident. Her husband, George, later died of injuries resulting from the same accident.

In addition to serving as president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Bachmann was a volunteer with the BCLC.

Ellen Oellerich is the newly elected president of the auxiliary.

Five Generations Gather

Family members representing five generations gathered in Calabash recently. Pictured are (from left) Satanna Nichole Coleman, Julia A. Coleman, Gerri G. Almond, Janice S. Graham and Lella M. Simmons, who is 87. Ms. Graham said the family members all live in the Calabash area.
