North Stadium Being Improved

North Brunswick fans will watch their football team from a new perspective next season.

Scorpion fans will be cheering from the opposite side of the football field on a new set of bleachers when the 1992 campaign begins in September.

"It's going to be a nice press box and bleachers," Principal Robert Harris said. "It will be a big step up, and it will really improve the looks of the place."

The metal bleachers will seat about 900 people, Harris said, and will be set in concrete on what has previously served as the visitors' side of the field. The project will cost about $80,000.

The Dant Corp. of Louisville, Ky., recently started pouring the concrete. Harris expects the project to be finished by late April, in plenty of time for the next football season.

The existing press box, ticket office and concession stand will be left in place. Harris said more bleachers may be added to the visitors' side.

"We're looking forward to it," Harris said. "We hope that it's going to be nice, and I know it will be because I've seen the plans for it."

North Brunswick is the third county high school to see stadium improvements. West Brunswick's was upgraded last year, and South's Cougar Stadium was improved in 1990.

For all three projects, the Brunswick County Board of Education matched funds raised by school athletic program boosters.
