

Seaside Church Slates First Kite Festival And Workshop

Kites and more kites, all shapes, all sizes.

That's what Seaside United Methodist Church wants to see at its first annual kite festival, to be held Sunday, April 5, starting at 2 p.m. on the strand at Sunset Beach.

To double the fun, the church is offering a free kite making workshop Sunday, March 29, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the church on N.C. 179 near Ocean Isle Beach. Material and creative guides will be provided, said Joseph Causey, one of the organizers.

At the kite festival itself, recognition is planned in six categories: highest flying kite, largest flying kite, smallest flying kite, most artistic/creative homemade kite, youngest participant and oldest participant.

Klig's Kites of Myrtle Beach, S.C., will stage an exhibit at the festival as well as judging the contest.

Participation is open to everyone, and there's no charge to enter, said Causey.

April 12 is the rain date.

More information is available from Seaside UMC's office, 579-5753.
