

Busy Week Set For Easter Bunny

Numerous Brunswick County Easter egg hunts are on the calendar for the Easter season, beginning Sunday.

The Long Beach Parks and Recreation Department will combine its event with a puppet show that will begin at 3 p.m. at Middleton Park, followed by the egg hunt. Times will be staggered for various age groups, with children age three and under participating at 3:30 p.m., ages 4 through 6 at 3:45 p.m. and ages 7 through 10 at 4 p.m. Children are to bring their own baskets and should be on the lookout for a furry visitor.

A twist to this year's program will be the Egg Drop at 3:30 p.m. The Long Beach Fire Department will give participants the opportunity to cushion the landing of a raw egg with materials of their choice. This event is for kids age 10 and older as well as their parents. For more information, call 278-5518.

April 18 is the date for two other egg hunts. The Brunswick County Government Center in Bolivia will be the scene of a 2 p.m. hunt, with participants asked to meet at the Public Assembly Building.

A spring bonnet contest will also be featured, so participants are to bring their bonnets and baskets. This is open to all youngsters age 9 and under. More information can be obtained by calling Emma McGraw at 253-4357 or 1-800-222-4790.

Calabash Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7288 holds its April 18 egg hunt from 10:30 a.m. to noon for toddlers to age 12, on the post grounds in Traders Village. Refreshments will be served.

On Easter Sunday, the Calabash Volunteer Fire Department will hold a 2 p.m. egg hunt for youngsters in its service district at the Calabash fire station on Persimmon Road.

Fire-engine rides and refreshments will also be available for the children, and the Easter bunny is scheduled to make its appearance.

CEDAR GROVE AREA NEWS

Following In Their Footsteps

BY BARBARA T. HEWETT

Three students from the Cedar Grove community who attend Shallotte Middle School appear to be following the excellent example of some of the community's finest and most successful native sons and daughters.

They are Richard "Rich" Bernard, son of Uzema and Samuel Bernard II; and Rhonda and Nicole Galloway, daughters of Carrie Mae and Thomas Galloway II.

Rich likes school, hunting, fishing and participating in missionary services on the local, district and state level.

Rhonda and Nicole, youths of the month at Cedar Grove Missionary Baptist Church, are dedicated to mission participation on all levels. Their hobbies include homemaking, cooking, sewing, sports and going to state mission ministries in Raleigh, Charlotte and Winston-Salem. They're already booked to go to the Leaders Workshop of the Woman's Baptist State Convention in Raleigh.

In Their Steps

These three appear to be following in the steps of some of the most successful products of our community.

I'm talking about young people who were not afraid to knock their heads against a college wall until they could bring home the sheepskin: attorney Willie Hewett, an attorney in a congressman's office; Earnest Hewett, a successful condominium builder in St. Thomas; Wanda Bryant, a past assistant 13th District attorney; and their predecessors, Kenneth Johnson, a successful lawyer in Greensboro; Dr. David Leon Gore, a general practitioner in Hampton, Va.; and Joseph Gore, Ph.D., dean of Mary Holmes Junior College in Mississippi.

In a recent conversation some of these successful young adults were wondering if their lights were shining bright enough to give a glimpse to the youth today in their pursuit of balancing the civic, social and Christian components of their lives, each in their rightful place so that joy and triumph are the consequence of their mission in life.

It seems we do have young people today willing to follow the example of hard work and dedication set earlier in our community.
