Murderer Is Convicted

and Hanged in 3 Hours Vienus — With all the speed it could summon, justice has disposed of hand-some Alois Galdasch, twenty-one. Three hours after a special court had sentenced Alois to death for the murder of his father, he was hanged.

Even then, the proceedings might have been quicker, but Alois kept fainting, and the Austrian law requires that the condemned man shall be conscious when the noose tightens. Galdasch killed his father during a quarrel in which his father forbade him to continue a love affair with a married woman. Galdasch used a crowbar, which, it was established, he premeditatedly hid in his home.

When he had killed his father, he hid the body in a loft, and invited his woman friend to spend the evening at his home. The next day he told his neighbors that his father had gone abroad. But the body was discovered and he was arrested.

Before his execution Galdasch be queathed all his possessions to the oman.

Young Farmer Strangles

Vicious 7-Foot Eagle Helsingfors.-- A young farmer at Leppavirro, North Finland, was seriously hurt when he was attacked by a huge eagle on a lonely country road at night.

He was riding home when the giant bird swooped down on his horse. The terrified animal succeeded in shaking itself free and the bird flew off and hid behind a bush at the roadside. The farmer, who was powerfully built, dismounted and approached the bush, and when he was a few feet away the eagle left his hiding place and flew at him. Man and eagle struggled desper stely, and eventually he managed to strangle it-but not before it had ripped all his clothing to shreds and badly lacerated his body and both

The eagle was later measured and had a wing span of seven feet.
