THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

ETERNAL LIFE: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. This do, and thou shalt live.—Luke 10:27-28.

HEALTH OFFICER RISES TO AN EMERGENCY

Dr. G. E. Newby, Perquimans County's health officer, is to be commended on his prompt and decisive action in handling the situation at Winfall with reference to the possible spread of spinal meningitis.

When it became known on Sunday that a case of spinal meningitis had developed at Winfall there was a near panic among certain residents, particularly among parents of young children.

However, when it was learned that the health officer, realizing the necessity for prompt precautionary measures, had ordered that all those who had been in contact with the patient during his illness be quarantined and the statement was made by Dr. Newby that with proper precaution he believed the situation could be controlled, the fear subsided.

While there is no treatment known which will prevent an attack of spinal meningitis, there are certain precautionary measures, the safest being the segregation of those who have been in contact with the disease until the period of incubation has passed.

It is possible that the case of spinal meningitis in Winfall may prove to be a sporadic case, and that there will be no further outbreak. It frequently happens that only one case of many and various contagious diseases occur in a community. On the other hand it is possible that one or more cases might occur in widely separated neighborhoods.

That there is danger of contagion and spread of the disease is not to be denied. Certainly a serious situation might develop. At present, however, there is no cause for grave alarm. The fact that the health officer was on the job in time and that he has done everything possible to prevent a possible spread of the disease is reassuring.

YOUTH OF TODAY NEED WISE LEADERSHIP

Fundamentally, the youth of today are just as idealistic, just as courageous, just as loyal as they ever were. What they need, though they are not always aware of that fact, is wise leadership, and one of the main causes of their unrest is that upon looking around the world they do not find enough of that type of leadership. If we of the older generation are wise, we will not waste time in deploring youth's spirit of adventure and change; we will sympathize with it, cooperate with it, and seek to guide it.—Walter D. Head, in the Rotarian Magazine.

HIT OR MISS

Something new under the sun is a classified ad which rhymes.

And fishermen who bought the big fish they caught! Bill Jordan of Hertford, Herbert Winslow and Nathaniel Riddick, of Belvidere, and G. W. Alexander, of Chapanoke, went to Nags Head and Manteo on a fishing trip last Thursday and came back with a hundred pounds of fish, and frankly admit that they bought them.

It is snake season—snake hunting season. When Perquimans fishermen go out with reel and rod nowadays they also take along a rifle for shooting snakes. If the fishing isn't so good (and what fisherman, however good he is, doesn't have days like that?), they turn to the exciting sport of shooting snakes.

Paddling along the river shore, they spy the snakes, moccasins, rattlesnakes, watersnakes, taking a sun bath on the banks, or sprawled in the low hanging branch of a tree, or in a mass of tangled vines, and it is fun to see how many they can hit.

Dr. Luther H. Butler is one of the big snake hunters. He likes to go out for the sport of shooting snakes. However, he says he likes to be at a safe distance. That statement goes to the credit of Whitley, another of the

Louisiana Linked To Virginia

A new link in the chain of events which is making the South the center of the great chemical industry was forged this week when the S. S. Malchace arrived in Hopewell, Virginia, home of the American nitrate of soda industry. The steamer carried the first of the many cargoes of soda ash from the new plant in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, that will be destined for use in the production of American nitrate of soda. This means that one of the South's great chemical products—soda ash—now contributes to the making of another famous Southern product—American nitrate of soda. Since all Southerners have been stirred by Dr. Charles H. Herby's slogan of "Southern fertilizers for the Southern farmer," the use of Louisiana soda ash in American nitrate of soda is expected to increase the demand for this popular Southern product.

By the way, Mr. Whitley killed no less than fifteen snakes on a fishing trip recently when the fish didn't bite so well. Mr. Whitley says he shoots a snake from a safe distance. These snake hunters appear to have a wholesome fear of what the snake might do if he got a chance to strike back.
