

Timely Questions On Farm Answered

Question: What was the final vote by North Carolina tobacco growers on carrying on the adjustment program?

Answer: According to information secured from E. Y. Floyd in charge of the tobacco adjustment program, 180,622 persons voted for continuing the program and 1,432 voted against it. In the larger producing counties the vote was almost unanimous in favor of the program.

Question: Can I cut my lespedeza for hay and still harvest a crop of seed from the same land?

Answer: Yes, if you cut the hay early enough. Set the cutter bar high so that the crop can grow out again and the lespedeza will make sufficient growth to produce seed. However, one usually does not secure a commercial crop of seed when a crop of hay has been harvested. Enough seed is produced to reseed the same land or to harvest for use on the home farm.

Question: I am losing a lot of chickens and I think the trouble is limberneck. The birds lose the use of their necks and become completely paralyzed. What should I do to control this trouble?

Answer: Apparently your birds are affected with limberneck. This trouble is caused by the birds eating decayed animal or vegetable material which is highly poisonous to them. The best method of approach is to confine the birds until the cause is located and removed. This may be in the form of mouldy or decomposed mash or grain, a dead chicken or rat, or some other animal. It would be well to give the entire flock epsom salts at the rate of three-fourth of a pound to two and one-half gallons of water.

Keep Cut Flowers Fresh And Pretty

Cut flowers can be kept for a considerable time when given the proper care, says Glenn O. Randall, associate professor of horticulture at State College.

Cut the flowers with a sharp knife early in the morning or late in the afternoon, he advises. Then immerse the stems full length in cool water and place them in a cool place for an hour or more.

Keep flowers only in clean containers. Change the water at least once a day, more often in extremely hot weather.

When changing the water, cut off about an inch of the stems so as to provide a fresh surface through which the water may pass. Hold the stems under water while cutting off the end, as this keeps air from getting into the conducting tissue and blocking the flow of the water.

Remove the soft lower leaves from the stems, as they have a tendency to decay quickly. Keep the flowers in a cool place at night to preserve them longer.

Don't put aspirin, salt, quinine, potassium permanganate, or other chemicals in the water, for they do not help the flowers, contrary to popular belief, Randall points out.

However, an experiment at Cornell University has shown that keeping flowers in a copper vessel helps prolong their life. A small quantity of the copper dissolves in the water and hinders the growth of the bacteria which cause decay.

Do not handle the flowers roughly, as anything that tends to break or bruise the plants causes them to wither sooner, Randall adds.

Plant Fall Spuds Early In August

When the month of July is dry and hot, the fall crop of Irish potatoes in the eastern and central parts of North Carolina should not be planted until August.

Some growers have found it advisable not to plant before August 15 when hot, dry weather continues late in the summer, said Robert Schmidt, associate horticulturist at State College.

Irish Coblentz, Red Blies, and McCormick or Lookout Mountain are among the varieties recommended for fall planting. The McCormick gives heavy yields, but is not so palatable as the others.

The best planting seed is that held over in cold storage from the previous fall, Schmidt stated, but it is usually high priced and hard to obtain.

Seed from the spring crop may be used the following fall but only if it has been given special treatment, he added, for the seed has not been mature long enough to germinate readily of its own accord.

A favorite method of treating the potatoes from the spring crop for fall planting is to spread them out in the shade where they will get plenty of light but not be in the direct rays of the sun. In four or five weeks they turn green, and when planted under proper moisture conditions they usually give a fair stand.

Or the potatoes may be treated chemically with ethylene chlorhydrin. However, this method is always successful in hot dry weather, Schmidt observed.
