

U. S. TO SPEED UP HUNT FOR REDFERN

Missing Aviator Reported Alive in Jungles.

Washington.—A dramatic State department report just made public has added color to the belief that Paul Redfern, American aviator missing for eight years, is alive in the jungles of Dutch Guiana.

Plans for an expedition of crack army fliers to hunt for Redfern were at once speeded up. The report was the first-hand story of a Roman Catholic teacher of Dutch Guiana, who, from the lips of a jungle Indian, heard the story of Redfern's crash and how he was pulled from the wreck of his plane.

It corroborated the story told by William La Varre, noted explorer, who during a recent trip into Guiana learned of the "white man who fell from the skies."

Consular Agent Reports.

La Varre has turned his data over to Maj. Willis Taylor, ace army explorer stationed in the Panama Canal zone, who will be in charge of the rescue expedition.

James S. Lawton, American consular agent at Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, reported he interviewed the Creole teacher, M. A. Melcheris, stationed at Drie Tabetjes on the Tapantash river.

Last April the Creole said an Indian named Kapan came to him from Sapakunu, suffering with yaws, a tropical disease. The report quotes the Creole:

"He told me there was a white man on the Paloemeu river in the village of the plain; that he, Kapan, had seen him, and that he was crippled so that he could not walk; that he had come out of the sky and he had seen his machine, which was wrecked on a savannah and not a mountain.

"Also that one Sapakunu, chief of the village where he lived and after whom the village was named, helped the white man from the machine when he crashed."

Approval Awaited.

The report added that the Creole teacher was very intelligent and his honesty was vouched for by mission priests.

Only approval of the department commander is needed for Major Taylor to attempt the rescue.

La Varre declares there is strong evidence that Redfern, reported to be a hopeless cripple, is still in the Indian village, about 200 miles airline from Paramaribo.

The State department report said there are areas where a plane might land.

Redfern disappeared eight years ago while attempting a flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Rio Janeiro. His wife never has given up hope of his rescue.

La Varre penetrated within 75 miles of the village by canoe, then was forced to turn back.

At one point, as he worked his way up the Suriname river system with a party of fierce Djukas, he heard mysterious whisperings of a "white man" who ruled a Djuka village called Dahomey. La Varre explained:

"He proved to be an Albino native, with platinum hair and blue eyes. The Djukas almost worship him."

Indian Learns to Write

at 51 in a CCC School

Assonet, Mass.—At fifty-one, Joe Starr, full-blooded Blackfoot Indian and member of the CCC camp here, has achieved a lifelong ambition.

After months of study under Camp Instructor Abial S. Hammond, Joe has learned to read and write. His first letter was to Maj. Gen. Fox Connor, commander of the First Corps area, and read as follows:

"Dear General: I thank you for the chance to write English. I am a Blackfoot Indian and the CCC teach me much. Sincerely, Joe Starr."

Joe was born in Butte, Mont. When seventeen he went to sea on a square rigger bound for Singapore. From there he wandered all over the world.

Wearied of the sea, Joe turned to road building and lumbering. He arrived in Boston without home or food and found a haven in the CCC.

Sacred Relics in Paris

Cathedral Turn to Dust

Paris.—The sacred relics enclosed in the cock at the top of the spire of the Cathedral of Notre Dame here, which were regarded as costing their protection over the capital, have turned to dust. This discovery was made by the removal of the great bronze cock for cleaning during repairs to the spire, built during the last century by Viollet le Duc. The relics, which were of Sainte Genevieve and Saint Denis, always regarded as patron saints of the capital, were placed in the cock in 1800.

Military Music Academy

Set Up by German Army

Berlin.—The sudden reindroduction of a military music academy in Germany has drawn much attention among people here. It is only now that the army—any German—had a military music academy. The academy was set up in 1913 and was closed in 1918.

Napoleon had died May 5, and his body remained in its island tomb until 1840, when, by direction of King Louis Philippe, it was conveyed to Paris and placed in a magnificent sarcophagus under the dome of the Hotel des Invalides.

Big Ones

Charles, a city boy, was visiting his grandparents in the country. All the morning he helped his grandpa pick cucumber pickles. Later in the day they delivered them to the grocery, where the grocer had a row of watermelons lined up for sale.

"Oh, grandpa! Look at those big pickles!" said Charles.—Indianapolis News.
