THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

WAITING FOR GOD: For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him.—Isaiah 64:4.

WEATHER AND SCHOOL AT ODDS

There is no way of knowing how far-reaching will be the effects of this enforced holiday the schools are having.

For weeks children have been out of school on account of the terrible weather conditions and the consequent condition of the roads.

While the situation has been unavoidable, it is something to be deplored. It will take a long time for the teachers to bring the pupils to the point at which they left off their work.

The closing of schools will be delayed until the weather is so warm as to make going to school irksome indeed.

Not only is this true, but farmers depend upon the older children for help on the farm in the spring, and the delay will greatly handicap the parents whose children are kept in school so long.

It might be a good idea, in case such a condition as has prevailed again arises, for the parents to cooperate with the schools by taking their children to and from school, or at least to the points on the roads where the school busses may travel.

YOUR OWN MEETING

Which of the sidewalks of the town would you rather have paved?

If you want a voice in the matter don't fail to come out to the mass meeting tonight, and express your opinion. You will be given an opportunity to do so there. If, however, you stay at home or go elsewhere and leave the matter to some one else to decide, don't be disappointed if it is decided to pass up the sidewalk in which you are most interested and to pave one you feel is less important.

This is your town meeting. Be there!

LET'S PAVE OUR SIDEWALKS

Come out to the mass meeting tonight and show a spirit of cooperation with those who are endeavoring to improve the town by taking advantage of the opportunity of securing funds from the Works Progress Administration for the purpose.

The matter is up to the town, and the town officials are trying to find out the sentiment of the people and will act accordingly.

There has been a great deal said about the failure of this community to profit in any material way, or to secure any permanent improvements, from the money spent in giving employment to the needy. We have not, as a matter of fact, very much to show for the vast amount of money which has been paid to laborers in this community.

We have the opportunity now, however, to secure some much needed permanent improvements in Hertford by the outlay of a comparatively small amount of money.

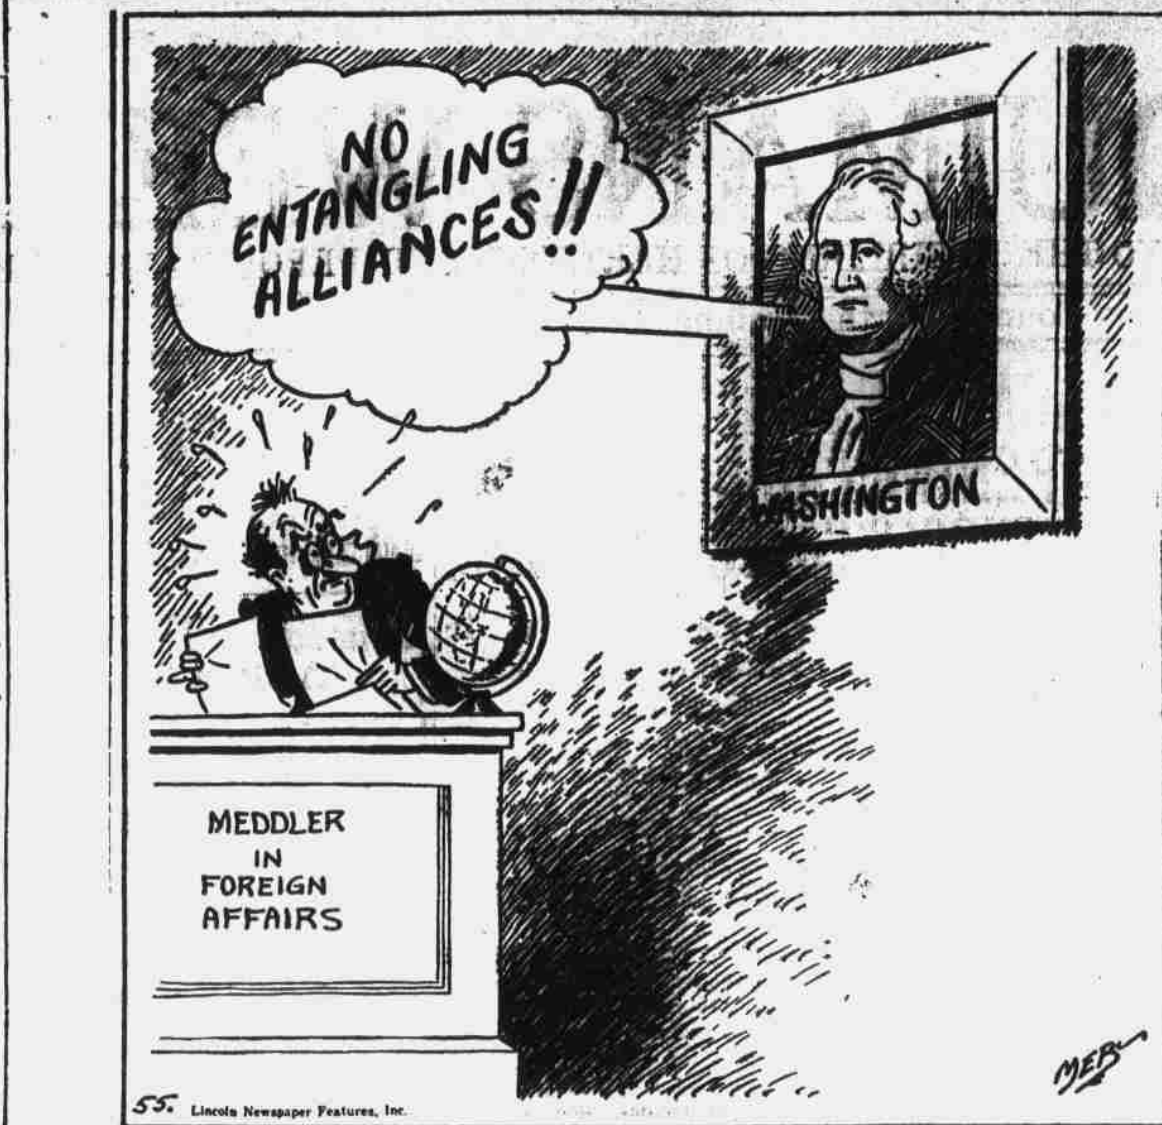

The Works Progress Administration will pay for the labor, and in addition will pay one third of the cost of the material, provided the material does not exceed in cost thirty per cent of the total labor cost.

The Town of Hertford must not fail to take advantage of this opportunity to get these permanent improvements at small cost. The opportunity will never come again. The city is that all of the sidewalks of the town cannot be paved through this method. This is said to be impossible. Only about half of the six miles of unpaved walks can be improved through the WPA because of insufficient labor.

That property owners should not be willing to bear their share of the expense of this improvement to their property is unthinkable. But it is going to be left to them.

N. C. Has Lower Farm Income During 1935

North Carolina is among the eight states showing a decrease in farm income in 1935, according to the report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. For the whole nation there was a 12-percent increase in farm income.

Total receipts from sales of principal farm products and from rental and benefit payments were $6,832,932,000 in 1935, compared with $6,102,901,000 in 1934, with $4,871,608,000 in 1933, and $4,235,362,000 in 1932.

Smallest improvement in income was in the South Atlantic region. The only states showing reduced income in 1935 were Main, Nebraska, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama, and New Mexico.

Increased farm income last year was due primarily to a 20-percent rise in the general level of farm prices, says the report. Crop prices were relatively small, "but prices for livestock and livestock products advanced considerably, causing a marked variation in the different regions in the extent of the improvement in farm income over 1934."

In North Carolina the lower price of cotton for the 1935 crop was reflected in moderate losses.

Set Up Machinery For AAA Payments

Machinery is being set up now for distributing the unpaid balance of AAA payments due North Carolina farmers, Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College, has announced.

The first step, he said, will be to complete the job of going over and approving all 1935 contracts, and ironing out technical errors wherever they are found.

As soon as the contracts have been approved, the next step will be to deliver checks to the growers.

Contracts which are not in the proper form, and which can be approved without delay, will be cleared first, the dean said, and in all probability the checks for the growers who signed these contracts, will be forthcoming in the near future.

However, he said, it will probably take some time to set the machinery in operation, and he could not give a definite statement as to when the contracts would be cleared, particularly those contracts in which technical irregularities are found.

He also said he did not know the amount of money still due North Carolina farmers by the AAA for their cooperation in the crop control program.

Provision has been made by Congress for paying cotton growers their adjustment payments of not more than two cents a pound, but at present the dean has not been informed just what procedure would be used in making these payments.

He has been informed by C. J. Cobb, director of the AAA cotton division, that an announcement of the internal revenue bureau has been interpreted to mean that there are now no Bankhead restrictions on the sale or transportation of cotton either with or without ten tags or bale tags.
