A WORTHY ORGANIZATION

The Perquimans Weekly is pleased to learn of the existence in Hertford of an organization of young Negro men known as the Young Men's Progressive Club.

The organization, which is something more than a year old, has for its objective better citizenship and community pride.

That nine of the eleven members of the club are graduates of the Hertford colored school is significant. Not a very high percentage of our Negroes pursue their education to graduation, and few probably of those who have finished the course at the Hertford High School have remained at home. But among these there is this group of young men who have banded themselves together in an organization of this character.

The kind of training which develops this type of citizen is the kind of training our young people, both white and colored, need.

With a little encouragement and help from the citizens of the town, this young Negro organization may exert an influence on other young men of their race which will be of inestimable value.

THE LAST ONE!

A little boy held fast to his mother's hand and watched the laying of the cornerstone of the Hertford Baptist Church on a bright spring day a long long time ago, eighty-two years, to be exact.

Of all the company present on that occasion William Mardre, who stood that day at his mother's side, is the only one left to attend the eighty-second anniversary of the church which will be observed next Sunday.

Many springs have come and gone since then. That was almost a decade before the War, of which Mr. Mardre is the last veteran living in Hertford.

How many ten-year-old children who attend the eighty-second anniversary of the church next Sunday will attend the one hundred and sixty-fourth?

HIT OR MISS

"For sweet April is a-weeping, and 'is laughing as she cries, And she gathers up a rainbow end and wipes her pretty eyes."

Do you know of some one in Perquimans who is a good entertainer? Tell them about the ten-dollar prize they may win in the amateur performance on April 17.

With so many stores in Hertford making improvements and dressing up, the town is beginning to look prosperous. It has often been said that the stores in Hertford were better looking stores than are found generally in much larger towns.

The new department at Blanchard's on the second floor looks like a city place.

W. M. Morgan is making over his store almost entirely, and it is going to be a fine looking place when it is finished.

Simon's Store of Values was recently remodeled, and he is still making improvements, just now putting in some new lighting effects.

There isn't an unattractive looking place in the business district, and there isn't a single vacant store in the Town of Hertford, and hasn't been for months.

I wish I were a little rock, a settin' on a hill,

A-doin' nothin' all day long but just a-settin' still!

I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't think, I wouldn't even wash!

I would set and set a thousand years, and rest myself by gosh!
