

WEST PLANS CHEAP INNS FOR TOURISTS

Chain Would Link Up With Those Now in East.

San Francisco, Calif.—A campaign for simple, inexpensive inns, where young people can stop while traveling in the west, has been launched by Miss Josephine D. Rarrall, director of the San Francisco recreation department.

The chain of inns in the west would link up with those already in existence in the east, where 35 have been constructed since the idea was brought from Europe.

The youth hotels, Miss Randall explains, already have been established in 18 different European countries. There it is possible for young people to travel widely by bicycle, foot and canoe for six weeks at a total cost of $30. These inns had their inception in Germany, but have now spread to nearly all European countries.

The idea was introduced into the United States by Monroe and Isabel Smith and has proved a success in the east. Miss Randall hopes to complete the system throughout the western states.

The general plan will always be the same—separate dormitories for boys and girls, with community kitchens and recreation halls.

The hostels provide beds, mattresses, blankets and cooking utensils. The charge is 25 cents for a night's lodging, with 5 cents to 10 cents added occasionally for fuel.

Miss Randall hopes as the first step in her program to have the national park commission construct a "loop" of such hostels over a suitable area that will enable young travelers to make the entire tour by foot in 15 days. With this as a demonstration, she expects to be able to link up not only a complete western but national system of such inns.

Young Teachers Found to Lead in Efficiency

Bloomington, Ind.—The young instructor, fresh and vigorous in his pursuits, holds an advantage over the more experienced professors in institutions of higher learning, according to Dean Ferdinand Payne, of the University of Indiana.

The opinion is contained in a new book, "An Open Letter to College Teachers," which Dean Payne co-authored with Evelyn Spieth Wilkinson, of City College, New York.

He cites experiments to show that any differences in efficiency between the young and old instructor are in favor of the former.

In one critical analysis, the instructors scored 54.74; assistant professors, 54.26; associate professors, 54.15, and professors, 50.13.

The same study also compared teachers who had taught from one to 11 years with those who had taught more than 11 years. The efficiency score for the first group was 55.68, and for the second 48.82.

"From whatever angle the approach was made, the difference in favor of the young instructor persisted," said Dean Payne. "As you would expect, there was a wide range of variation in each group. The poorest and also the best teachers among those studied were young instructors with two years' experience."

Reindeer Meat Favored as Substitute for Beef

Seward, Alaska.—Displacement of beef as a staple food in the northland by Alaska reindeer was seen as a possibility, after a meat shipment from the Arctic was delivered to Seward markets by government reindeer service.

The meat was of better quality than most venison because the animals were fat and in good condition, and were scientifically butchered. It retailed in Seward at seven cents a pound. The reindeer were originally imported to Alaska from Siberia for the Eskimos.

Critic's Bath Comment Brings Him Libel Suit

Budapest.—After seeing a score of lightly clad chorus girls in the musical comedy, "Vienna Spring," Ander Varo, dramatic critic of a daily paper, remarked somewhat sardonically in his review that obviously the chorus girls were not aware of the fact Budapest is famous for its numerous baths. The 20 girls understood that this broad hint meant that the critic did not judge them to be too clean and sued the critic for slander and libel.

Stomach "Dredge" Is New Surgical Device

Philadelphia.—Surgeons may go "fishing" in human stomachs through a new device perfected by Dr. Gabriel Tucker, professor of bronchoscopy of the University of Pennsylvania medical school.

So if you swallow your false teeth, an open safety pin or something equally dangerous, Doctor Tucker's new "tackle" is ready to be lowered into your stomach and start dredging operations.

Declared much simpler than equipment formerly used, the new invention contains a small pair of pliers at the end of the hollow rubber tube. Air is pumped in to inflate the organ and an x-ray device makes the area visible.

Click! Doctor Tucker's pliers grab the swallowed article and snake it out via the tube.

LAND PROBLEM IS ACUTE IN 4 AREAS

Resettlement Official Says Misery Will Increase.

Berkeley, Calif.—With virtually no good free land left in the United States for families to settle, the future of the country depends largely on the conservation and conversion to proper use of vast tracts that have been made useless by abuse in the past, believes L. C. Gray, assistant administrator of the resettlement administration.

"Less than a century ago," said Gray, "there were hundreds of thousands of acres of good land in the public domain available to citizens who wanted to stake out a homestead. Today not only is there scarcely an acre of such land but countless thousands of acres that once were profitable have been ruined unless they can be converted to other uses or restored to their original productiveness."

Gray cited four great districts in the United States where the misuse of land has not only made it unprofitable but in many cases has reduced the occupants to economic misery.

Poverty in great portions of the southern Appalachian mountains where living conditions are particularly severe, he said, is the direct result of an unscientific use of land.

Forests Rapidly Thinned.
Forests, which formerly provided the chief income, were cut off without any care for the future reproduction of trees.

The land as a rule is too steep for farming; cultivation only aggravates the problem by encouraging soil erosion, and with both the forests and top soil gone the standard of living of the inhabitants has decreased steadily.

The old forest region bordering the Great Lakes, which presents a similar problem; the western plains, where the destruction of forests has eliminated moisture and produced dust storms in recent years, and finally the old cotton belt of the South, he said, are instances of the misuse of soil that is now causing poverty for great portions of the people.

Problem Grows With Years.
The situation, he declared, is even graver for the future than it is for the present. With an inevitably increasing population the nation will require more land under cultivation in the future than now.

Whenever industrial depressions occur hundreds of thousands will go back to the land as they did during the present one.

With no virgin land left and with great sections of the country made profitless by misuse of the land in the past, the problem, he declared, can only be solved by a well-defined governmental policy of soil conversion and conservation.

Studies made by the resettlement administration, Gray believes, show that unless all people living off the soil can do so profitably a great burden of taxation is thrown on persons in other parts of the country.

Time To Give Talk On Cotton Growing

With cotton planting time nearby, a radio talk on the subject will be delivered on Saturday, April 4, by P. H. Kime, plant breeding agronomist at State College.

One of the recommendations which Dr. Kime makes is the planting of fewer acres. He declared that on this reduced acreage, farmers can produce more cotton per acre of better quality at a lower cost per pound of lint.

He will also discuss soil types best adapted for the growing of cotton fertilizers, the necessity for using good seed of an adapted variety, and the proper methods of cultivation.

Also included in the week's schedule is a discussion of coccidiosis in baby chicks, which will be presented by H. C. Gauges, poultry disease specialist.

The next in the series of talks on cotton marketing will be presented Wednesday, April 8, by Glenn R. Smith, associate agricultural economist. The subject of his talk will be "Methods Used in Buying Cotton in Local Markets."
