THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

REAL COURAGE: Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house; and his windows being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime.—Daniel 6:10.

STILL TOO MANY KILLED ON THE HIGHWAYS

Seventy-one persons were killed on the highways of North Carolina last month in automobile accidents. To be sure, this is a decrease of 12 during the same period last year, when 83 met death in traffic accidents. But it is too many.

The careless automobile driver is a dangerous person to be loose on the highways. The drunken driver should have no place on the highways.

Captain Charles D. Farmer, of the State Highway Patrol, is quoted as saying this week that the development of a "safety conscious" attitude on the part of the motorists, resulting in more careful driving, is responsible for a decrease of 12 deaths attributable to automobile accidents during the month of March as compared with the same month last year.

"The only logical reason for the decrease in the number of people killed in accidents is that the safety drives by the Highway Patrol and the newspapers at last are taking effect," Captain Farmer said. "The public is beginning to drive more intelligently and carefully."

Captain Farmer's statements are undoubtedly to the point, and to bring the matter down to our own small county of Perquimans, the attitude taken by Judge Walter H. Oakey, Jr., of the Perquimans Recorder's Court, last summer, in the matter of dealing with drunken drivers convicted in his court, has had its effect.

The first person picked up by an officer in Perquimans on a drunken driving charge in months was tried this week.

a jail sentence if he is convicted of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor is going to think twice before he gets under the wheel after he has had too much.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

Hertford is a pretty town. But there are certain spots in the place which might be improved and places which ought to be cleaned up.

This newspaper is not informed as to who the owner or owners may be of the property in the immediate rear of the stores on the west side of Church Street and in the rear of the stores on the north side of Market Street. Town authorities have stated that this property does not belong to the town. A portion of the property is used as an alley for the delivery of merchandise to certain of the stores on Church Street.

This is a neglected spot. Not only is the place unsightly, but it probably constitutes a fire hazard, with quantities of paper blowing about. The accumulation of trash and debris which sometimes is allowed to remain in the alley may also be dangerous from the standpoint of sanitation.

Why not keep this back lot cleaned up?
