THIS WEEK'S BIBLE THOUGHT

REAL RELIGION: Pure religion and undefiled before our God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.—James 1:7.

STARVE THE FLY!

The town generally is cooperating in the clean-up movement. On every hand is seen signs of cleaning and improvement. Nobody wishes to feel that they are not keeping step when others are cleaning up. The thing is catching.

A number of the unsightly spots have already been cleaned up. This is good. A clean town is always an attractive town.

Painting, too, is being done here and there, and we have reliable information that a great deal more improvement in the way of painting is planned by various residents.

And now comes a suggestion which is timely indeed. The warm weather is upon us, the season for flies. There are, scattered about the town, many trash cans and garbage cans. Into these is dumped much which attracts the filthy fly. Many of these containers are uncovered. They should be kept covered. The owner of each container, whether it is one used by individuals, or those in use by the business places of the town, should see that there is a well-fitting top and that it is kept on the garbage can.

Let everybody cooperate in eliminating breeding places for flies and help in the destruction of the pests.

HIT OR MISS

A colored man, who was charged with the illegal possession of liquor, was on the stand in Perquimans Recorder's Court. The defendant was explaining that the liquor at his house had been placed there by some one else. On the stand he testified that while he was in jail awaiting trial the owner of the liquor sent him word that if he would not mention her name in court she would employ a lawyer for him.
