

IT'S AN ILL WIND

By GUY A. CARDWELL
Agricultural and Industrial Agent
Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co.

The price of both meat and livestock will be higher in 1937, according to a prediction recently made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

"Because of this year's drought meat supplies next year will be about as small as in 1935 following the widespread drought of 1934. For this reason and because of prospective improvement in consumer demand the general level of both meat and livestock prices in 1937 is expected to be higher than for several years.

"The reduction in supplies next year, following the serious drought the nation has been passing through, will be most marked in pork and the better grades of beef. The decrease in supplies will be the result of the feed shortage caused by unfavorable weather which now extends over the principal feed-grain producing regions. Total supplies of feed grains may be as small this year as they were after the 1934 drought. However, hay and roughage supplies are better than in 1934, and the number of hay-consuming animals is smaller.

"The feed situation will affect this year the trend of hog numbers more than the trend of any other livestock. The number of pigs produced next year will be curtailed considerably while cattle numbers will also be reduced possibly 2 to 4 percent. Sheep numbers on farms next January 1st may be larger than last January 1st, but the number of lambs on feed for market may be smaller."

Does this prediction mean anything to farmers in Virginia and the Carolinas? Does it present opportunities to those farmers with pasture, feed, and foundation herds for profit and also for public service? If so, careful management should lead to profits for those who are in position to take advantage of the present distressing situation in the drought area, while at the same time livestock production on farms in this section might help in leveling prices, to some extent, which would otherwise heavily fall on a large consumer class.

RYLAND

Mr. and Mrs. N. Q. Ward, Eugene Ward, Johnny and Mary Elliott, from near Belvidere; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cousens and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Ward and two children, of Portsmouth, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Midyette and son, Norfleet, of Swan Quarter; Mrs. T. J. Hoskins and little son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Julian E. Ward and son, George, of Edenton, visited Mrs. H. N. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ward Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Merrill Copeland, Mrs. Herbert Lane and her son, Herbert Ray, were in Edenton Tuesday shopping. The condition of Miss Pauline Hollowell, who has been ill for some time, remains about the same.

Roy Parks and his mother, Mrs. Harriett Parks, attended revival services at Great Hope Baptist Church Saturday afternoon.

The condition of Miss Pauline Byrum, who is in the Norfolk General Hospital, is reported much improved. Miss Byrum, who is a student at Chowan College, Murfreesboro, was taken suddenly seriously ill while at home for the week-end, and was hurried to the hospital. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Byrum, make frequent trips to Norfolk to see her.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Ward and two children were in Edenton Saturday evening.

Mrs. Roy Parks had as her dinner guests Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Edge, of Suffolk, Va. They were attending conference at Happy Home Friday night and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davis and their daughter, Lois, from near Sign Pine, visited Mrs. Davis' mother, Mrs. Harriett Parks, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardie Henigar and children were in Edenton shopping Saturday afternoon.

Miss Gertrude Jackson visited in Edenton Saturday afternoon and evening.

Quite a number of people went to Cannon's Ferry and Hollies Wharf Friday afternoon to see how far the Chivan River had receded from its banks. To walk out on the river bed for more than 200 yards was easy, and several of the more bold drove their cars down the river bed as far as the creek.

What Will Become Of Cotton Pickers?

Considerable interest no doubt has been aroused in the south following the report that a few days ago a ponderous new machine, 10 feet high, lumbered through a cotton field. Although still imperfect, it picked in eight hours as much cotton as 75 or 80 men could have picked by hand. At once there arose the cry: "Here is another machine that will rob men of jobs."

Commenting on the situation the New York Times has the following to say:

"To concentrate our attention solely on these possibilities would be to regard the perfection of the mechanical picker as a calamity. But this would be to overlook the immense benefits that mechanical improvement brings.

"No one would wish to cancel Eli Whitney's invention of the cotton gin nearly a century and a half ago. No one regrets the invention of the wheat harvesting and threshing combine, which reduced labor on the operations involved, it has been estimated, about 84 per cent. We do not want to wipe out the whole Industrial Revolution, which has created a hundred jobs for one it has taken away.

"The mechanical picker would begin, it is true, by displacing labor, but it would also greatly reduce cost of production. As the machine will make possible cheaper cotton, so cheaper cotton, in turn, will either encourage the increased consumption of cotton goods, thus benefiting the cotton textile industry, or it will lower consumers with more purchasing power by other goods.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES For the Eastern District of North Carolina

source of child labor in the United States, is among the tenant farmers and sharecroppers, mainly negroes of the South. Perhaps the greatest single reason for their low standard of living is that hand-picked cotton is uneconomic. Mechanized cotton fields would have fewer workers, but they would be wage laborers, much better off."

INJURY JINK HITS WAKE FOREST FOOTBALL SQUAD

Chapel Hill, N. C.—Coach Jim Weaver of Wake Forest recently stated that the Demon Deacons would be heavier and much stronger this year, barring injuries. But Coach Jim seems to have hit a streak of hard luck, for about 12 of the Baptists are on the injured list. Included among these is Walton Kitchin, brilliant triple-threat back and chief ground gainer last season. With the Carolina game just ten days off, Coach Jim and his trainers are working overtime hoping to have all of the men available for the Tar Heels.
