BIBLE THOUGHT FOR WEEK

LIGHT: I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life.—John 8:12.

COME UP TO SEE US SOMETIME

The Norfolk Virginian Pilot, speaking editorially, says: "It is easy enough to understand the perplexity with which Edenton is reported to be pondering the North Carolina General Assembly's acceptance of its invitation to hold a one-day session in the old capital. The invitation was based on the assumption, as the statesmen in Raleigh were told, that Edenton was the first capital of North Carolina. But that characterization was a challenge to the pride of various other capitals, of which North Carolina has had more than its share; and by the time these claims had been aired in the General Assembly other capitals had got their names into the discussion and the formal invitation had been amended to "one of the first" capitals.

"Nor was that all. For although the invitation had been extended with the solemnity that is due an ancient seat whose historical past is understood by all, the Raleigh statesmen had shifted the discussion around to the "sow belly, taters and corn likker" that might be expected on such an occasion. Nor is it quite clear to our Edenton correspondent why the invitation should have included references to "the silvery Chowan," which, according to the Edenton explanation, is "a broad, mud-colored stream to the west which even the shad have avoided in recent years."

"The explanation would seem to lie somewhere in that realm of uncertainty that will never be entirely clear until the race understands better what makes legislators behave like legislators. But the doubts, the uncertainties, and the perplexities will, we trust, be resolved. Whether the allure is sheer history or sheer hospitality, Edenton deserves a session of the General Assembly. The legislators will never get away without being aware of both."

The Perquimans Weekly suggests that while the visitors are down in the Albemarle they might find it interesting to drive on down into Durants Neck and visit the settlement in Perquimans County once known as Little River, where the first clearing in the State was made, prior to 1661, the scene of the earliest happenings in Carolina. They might care to visit the site of the home of Carolina's first governor, William Drummond.

Possibly, also, they might like to take a look at our ancient and beautiful courthouse, in Hertford, and perhaps, to step inside and see with their own eyes the oldest deed of record in North Carolina, with its crudely drawn bow and arrow, the mark of the maker, the Indian Chief. This is, by the way, the earliest record in America of the purchase of land by a white man from an Indian.

Some may care to rest their eyes on the clear waters of Perquimans River, than which no more lovely stream will be found in the state. But just in case the Governor of Virginia, who has been invited to Edenton on this occasion, happens to be among the visitors who might care to look in on Carolina's earliest scenes, it might be well to suggest that, in order that by-gones may continue to be by-gones, nobody, in discussing Carolina's early history, bring up the fact that Carolina's first governor was hanged by a governor of Virginia.

HIT OR MISS

By M. L. W.

Mrs. S. P. Jessup has been sick. For about two weeks she was at home and most of the time confined to her bed, from a severe cold. Imagine her surprise to read in the Perquimans Weekly last week an account of a bridge party she had given on Friday last!

The names got mixed in the account which one of the guests gave of the party. It was Miss Kate Blanchard who was hostess to the bridge club on Friday night, and Mrs. Jessup, poor lady, wasn't even among those present.

John, Your Hair is a Fright Here, Use My Fom-Oli

Wives, mothers, sisters—they're often forced to point the way to hair health to their men folk! For women know that a healthy head produces handsome hair! And that's why women everywhere are pointing to Fom-Oli, the remarkable foaming oil shampoo which first nourishes the scalp, then makes the dull, parched hair and brings it back to glowing health. Fom-Oli is so economical; a little goes a long way. Ask your druggist for the regular 50c size. Or, write for a generous trial bottle, enclosing 10c to cover packing and postage.

With its six cylinders giving overlapping power—and a decreased intensity of individual power impulses—the motor in the new Row Crop '70 runs more smoothly and with less vibration than a two or four-cylinder engine.

You'll really enjoy driving it. There's less wear and tear on both driver and tractor. With finger-tip control—planting and cultivating equipment mounted in full view of the operator—and plowing with two 14-inch blades, under ordinary soil conditions, at over 4 miles an hour—you'll get a big day's work done easier and quicker. There's more time left for other jobs—more hours to live!

There are two '70's—one operating most economically on 70 cc. gasoline—and the other on kerosene or diesel—either a combination motor. Come in and see these sensational new Row Crop '70's—with a complete line of mounted plowing, bedding, planting and cultivating equipment.
