IN LOVING MEMORY OF MOTHER

Mary E. Elliott
March 25, 1937

Just one year ago today
Since Mother slipped away,
To that beautiful home beyond
Where the redeemed have gone to stay.

The time seems long to us, your children,
Since you left us, Mother dear,
We miss you, O so badly,
The days seem long and drear.

But we have a sweet assurance
If we live a life of peace
We shall some day be united
In that land of perfect bliss.

So may we all strive the harder
For that home beyond the sky
Where with Mother we'll be united
And there'll be no sad good-byes.

CHILDREN.

HISTORICAL ROMANCE

This is Artist Vladimir Chenko's conception of Fred MacMurray and Claudette Colbert as they appear in "Maid of Salem," a historical romance which begins on Monday, March 29, at the State Theatre, Hertford. It's a story of love in old New England.

UP RIVER MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

The Up-River Wovans Missionary Society met Wednesday noon at the home of Mrs. Lucius Winslow. The meeting was opened by a Negro spiritual, "Its Me, O Lord," sung by Mrs. D. A. Winslow, accompanied by guitar.

Scripture, Matthew 7-7-6, comments on same, and a prayer, were read as the Devotional. At roll call each member responded with a Scripture text on the subject of work. The lesson was conducted in a very interesting manner by Mrs. Eunice Winslow who based her remarks on the study book "Racial Understanding" and also using a large map of Africa. A very interesting discussion followed. A contest on some of the Missionaries working in Africa and at other stations was then given, Mrs. Eunice Winslow winning the prize, a tiger-lily bulb, with the following verse attached:

As winner of this contest

We present to you
This little tiger-lily bulb
With my best regards 'tis true.
Place it in your garden,
Attend to it with care
And when it blossoms forth
A spotted tiger-bloom so rare,
Think of the foreign country
Where the tigers roam so free
And the lessons that we're learning
From our study of that country.

A delightful social hour followed. The hostess served delicious home made candies and fruit. Those present were: Mrs. Lelia Winslow, Mrs. Mary J. White, Mrs. Eunice Winslow, Mrs. Lucius Winslow, Mrs. D. A. Winslow, Miss Reba Winslow and Dolan Winslow.
