Large Crowd Present At Taylor-O'Sullivan Wedding Saturday

A beautiful wedding took place in the Hertford Methodist Church on lor, of Charlotte and Lumberton, in the presence of a large group of relatives and friends, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. D. M. Sharpe, paster of the church,

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with an artistic arrangement of summer flowers, interspersed with ferns, and was lighted by cathedral candles.

Miss Kate M. Blanchard, organist Miss Kate M. Blanchard, organist of the church, played the following selections as the guests were assembling: "Liebestraum", by Liszt; and "O Thou Sublime Sweet Evening Star", by Wagner. Just before the entrance of the bridal party, R. S. Monds, Jr., sang "The Rosary", by Melvin, and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life", by Victor Herbert. During the ceremony Miss Blanchard played very softly MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose". For the processional the Rose". For the processional the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" was

Each wore a sheer turban and slippers to match her dress, and each carried an arm bouquet of African daisies.

The bridegroom had as his best man Dr. E. L. Roberson, of Tarboro. The ushers were Dr. Luten Hedgepeth, of Lumberton; Dr. Rob Farr, of Chestertown, Md., Dr. Sam Wrenn of Washington, D. C., and Robert Graham, of Washington.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her brother, Henry Clay O'Sullivan, by whom she was given in marriage, was beautiful in a white satin gown, made princess style with a short train. Lace formed a yoke in front, and the back, from neckline to waist, was trimmed with a closely arranged row of tiny satin buttons. The sleeves, which were leg-o'-mutton style, fitted tightly from elbow to hand.

Her veil of illusion, which was of finger-tip length, fell from a simply and becomingly arranged coronet of white satin.

Her flowers were a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Immediately after the ceremony Nixon, Hollowell Nixon, Francis Ni- the bridal party, out-of-town guests xon and Ensign T. J. "THEY GAMBLED WITH DEATH"

This ordinary street location was the scene of a serious "pedestrian" accident. The injured son was an elderly man, who had left his home only a few minutes before. He stepped from the side-walk in the middle of the block and in the face of traffic moving in both directions. According to a witness, he came from behind a parked car directly in front of an approaching automobile.

The next thing I remembered," he stated later, "I was on the way to the hospital with my leg broken in two places."

Use crosswalks wherever poson the left side of the road, facing approaching traffic, and at night wear light colored clothing or carry a light.

The pastor requests that the parents keep this schedule and see that the children attend these choir practices and recreation periods. We program. want our boys and girls to have the best and most profitable summer of their lives and we believe our church is in a position to give it to them with the cooperation of the parents and children with Miss Poplin.

Work Sheets Must Be Prepared By June 12

"Don't forget that June 12 is the last day to sign a work sheet for the 1937 soil conservation program," warns E. Y. Floyd, of State College.

All growers who have not signed up either last year or this year must deliver their work sheets to their county soil conservation offices by Saturday to become eligible for payments, he added.

Work sheets are necessary in helping plan a farm's program of soil conservation and in determining how much diversion and soil building payments are earned, Floyd explained.

"If you operated under a work sheet last year, but have made a change in your farm since then, notify your county agent at he pointed out.

Finds Few Diseased Apples And Peaches

Apple and peach diseases are fairly well under control in piedmont and mountain orchards of the State, said Dr. Luther Shaw, extension plant pathologist at State College.

He found "an excellent set of fruit" in all orchards visited on a recent trip through the middle and western parts of the State.

To make more sure of getting a good harvest, however, growers should continue a systematic spray

Two extension circulars, "Spray Calendar for Apples" and "Spray Calendar for Peaches," should be in the hands of every grower, Dr. Shaw
