State Theatre News

Today, Leah Ray, the beautiful Norfolk girl, Anthony Martin, the golden voice tenor, Helen Westley, whom you will remember from such shows as "Roberta," "Show Boat" and "Banjo On My Knee" and Bertton Churchill, who very often played in the supporting cast of the late Will Rogers, are all at the State to give you a couple of hours of glorious music, comedy and a little pathos as well. After seeing this show you will be convinced that the title is correct, "Sing and Be Happy."

On Saturday "Lawless Land" comes to the State and you will marvel at the way that Johnny Mack Brown cleans up a gang that deal in death. He tells them to scram for he's shooting on sight.

Two five dollar bills will be given away on Saturday night. Wonder who will get them. Last week they went to Troyville and Winfall.

Move aside, folks, the Marx Brothers are coming to town in the show that will knock you in the aisles. Wait till you see the three dumb brothers do their stuff. Allan Jones sings love songs to Maureen O'Sullivan and oh boy, can he sing! Beautiful dancing girls, popular songs, piano and harp solos are but a few things that you will enjoy in "A Day at the Races" on Monday and Tuesday. I almost forgot wise cracks. Oh boy, the picture is full of them.

Next Wednesday is prize night, 50 bucks—big money! and Roscoe Karns in "Night of Mystery" with Helen Burgess and Grant Withers. This picture shows a detective's shrewd deductions, how they lead to a man bent on exterminating a whole family who had succeeded to the point where only two girls were left.

Two good comedies are also slated for Wednesday night.

"Time Out For Romance" is the picture for Thursday night. The young driver of a motor cavalcade and a girl running away from a loveless marriage in search of romance fall victims to an odd assortment of events. Claire Trevor, Michael Whalen and Joan Davis are costarred in this comedy-melodrama.

AT STATE SATURDAY

Johnny Mack Brown and Louise Stanley in a scene from "Lawless Land," in which they appear Saturday at the State Theatre, Hertford.

Assaulting Female Costs Salesman $25

Whit Holt, a middle-aged traveling salesman, was fined twenty-five dollars and taxed with the court costs in Recorder's Court here Tuesday morning when convicted of the charge of assault upon a female.

There were originally three charges against the defendant, including that of assault with intent to commit rape which was heard for probable cause. Judge Walter H. Oakley, Jr., found no probable cause on this charge. The charge of forcible trespass was non-suited. He was found guilty of assault upon a female.

The prosecuting witness was Mrs. Helen Britt, a young married woman of attractive appearance, at whose home in Hertford the offense is alleged to have occurred. The young woman testified the attempted assault was made when she gave the man a drink of water in her home about 2 o'clock on Monday, that when her husband returned from work at 5 o'clock she reported the matter to him and she swore out the warrant.

The defendant, who was represented by Silas M. Whedbee, took the stand in his own defense and denied the charges. He admitted, however, that he had been in company with Mrs. Britt and her husband and another young woman, and also admitted going to the home for a drink of water.

Funeral Held For Mrs. Ida Gregory

Mrs. Ida Gregory, 66, the widow of the late W. A. Gregory, of Woodville, died at her home in Hertford on Friday afternoon after a long illness.

Funeral services were held at the Hertford Baptist Church, of which she was a devoted member, on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. D. S. Dempsey, pastor of the church, and Rev. L. M. Dixon, of Colerain, a former pastor, conducting the service, and burial followed in Cedarwood Cemetery, in Hertford.

Active pallbearers were Charles E. Johnson, C. G. Stephens, Sr., Robbins Blanchard, Marshall Owens, C. Y. Parrish, of Edenton; T. C. Moore, of Raleigh; C. H. Perry and T. C. Partin, both of Norfolk, Va.

The honorary pallbearers, who included the members of the Board of Deacons of the Baptist Church and others, were D. J. Pritchard, J. P. Perry, W. F. C. Edwards, R. R. Moes, J. J. Fleetwood, T. R. Winslow, Dr. I. A. Ward, W. M. Madre, V. A. Holden, J. C. Blanchard, T. S. White, Dr. C. A. Davenport, C. M. Harrell, L. R. Holmes, of Elizabeth City, J. F. Elliott, Riddick Chappell, G. C. Buck and P. L. Stephens.

Mrs. Gregory had been in ill health for a long time, having been confined to her bed for many weary months and prior to that time having suffered a great deal. The patience with which she bore her suffering was often remarked upon by those who knew her best and the sweetness and gentleness of her nature endeared her to all who came in contact with her.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. J. C. Moore, of Brewster, N. Y.; W. A. Gregory, of Fayetteville, Mrs. J. A. Perry and Mrs. W. E. Spruill, both of Hertford. One grandson, William Murphey Moore, of Brewster, N. Y., also survives.

Among the out-of-town people here to attend the funeral, were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Moore, of Brewster, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Moore of Raleigh, W. L. Moore and daughter, Estay, of Gulf, H. C. Cosley, of Gulf, C. H. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Partin, Mrs. E. J. Parrish, all of Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Parrish, of Edenton, Mrs. Walter Hoffer, of daughter, Hope, of Sunbury, Rev. L. M. Dixon, of Colerain, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie White, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. White, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Gregory, Mrs. M. R. Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gregory,

Mrs. Ellen White, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie White, of Route Three, Hertford, Mrs. G. H. Baucorn, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gregory, Miss Virginia Baucorn, A. E. Baucorn, of Fayetteville, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Carter, of Fort Bragg.

Certain Plants Help Man Destroy Insects

Some 20 species of plants growing in North Carolina help man in his endless war on insects, according to L. A. Whitford, of the State College botany department.

These carnivorous plants catch insects on their leaves and digest them, he explained.

On an acre in eastern North Carolina where trumpet plant, or Venus' fly-trap, grows abundantly, he continued, a million or more insects must be destroyed every summer.

"Wouldn't it be fine if we could plant Venus' fly-trap between rows of beans to catch the beetles, or pitcher plants in corn fields to catch the ear-worms?" he asked. Unfortunately, these plants are hard to grow except in bogs.

Venus' fly-trap is found within 75 miles of Wilmington. The spine-bordered leaves snap shut instantly on any insect that touches them. After the insect is digested, the leaf opens again.

A small plant growing in the botany laboratory at the college caught more than a dozen house flies in a few weeks.

In southern Europe, Whitford added, farmers grow a plant with sticky leaves. When hung in their houses, the plants catch flies and other insects like fly-paper.

In North Carolina the yellow trumpet plant reaches a height of three feet and has a trumpet-like leaf that can catch a half-cupful of insects, including large crickets and grasshoppers.

The bladderworts which grow in bog pools have many tiny bladders with trap doors that operate whenever an insect touches the trigger.

AN IMPORTANT MESSAGE TO NORTH CAROLINIANS—No. 1

Our New RESPONSIBILITY

PURSUANT to a special act of the 1937 State Legislature, advertisements will shortly begin to appear in national magazines and metropolitan newspapers of the East, Middle West and South inviting visitors and tourists to North Carolina, "THE VARIETY VACATIONLAND." These messages will reach a total of nineteen million families. Thousands of business executives directing the manufacture and sale of products that could be made more profitably in North Carolina will be invited to visit the State and study our industrial advantages. The leading farm papers of the country will carry the story of North Carolina's opportunity for diversified and profitable farming and many well-to-do farmers will be seeking farmlands in North Carolina.

Let us put our house in order. Every citizen of the State and every community must cooperate if North Carolina is to reap the maximum results and the increased prosperity that will come from our advertising. Let our communities put on bright, clean faces. Let us beautify our highways. Let every North Carolinian greet visitors to the State with the spirit of hospitality for which North Carolina is justly famous. Let our Police Forces and other Peace Officers exert every effort to be friendly, courteous, and obliging to the "Stranger within our Gates." Let each and everyone of us assume our new responsibility in North Carolina's March of Progress.
