

WHAT'S WHAT ABOUT SOCIAL SECURITY

As another service to its readers, The Perquimans Weekly each week will give authoritative answers to questions on the Social Security Law. By special arrangement with Mr. George N. Adams in Rockv Mount, N. C., the Social Security Board has consented to pass on the accuracy of answers to questions on Social Security, which may be asked by employers, employees, and others, through The Perquimans Weekly Address inquiries to the Editor. Answers will be given here in the order in which questions are received. This is an informational service and is not legal advice or service. In keeping with Social Security Board policy names will not be published.

Question: My employer says I fill out the enclosed questionnaires for the Social Security Board. The Social Security Board want to know my religion and what union I am in, and other things asked for me?

Answer: No. The Social Security Board does not require you to fill out such questionnaires as that you sent with your letter. There has been sent to you a copy of a statement made public by G. R. Parker, Regional Director, Region IV, warning employers against distributing unauthorized questionnaires. A copy of this statement will be sent to any employer or employee who requests it. The only information asked of workers by the Social Security Board is embodied in the questions on Form SS-5, the employee's application for a Social Security Account Number. Investigation has disclosed that some employers are using undesirable questionnaires because they have been misinformed and they have been glad to dispense with the objectionable, complicated forms when they have been told of the simple record requirements of the Social Security Board. Inquiries about such forms will be welcomed from employers and employees at their Social Security Board Field Office.

Question: Is it true that every employer has to report the Social Security account number of every employee who has worked for him since last December 31? How am I going to report a number for a man who worked for me three months ago, whose number I do not know?

Answer: Each employer must report only the name and the Social Security account number for each employee. Employers must make reports on Forms SS-2 and SS-2a. Copies of these forms may be obtained from the Collector of Internal Revenue or from your nearest Social Security Board Field Office. If an employee has left your service you should try to learn his number from him. If you cannot learn his number directly from the employee you should proceed as follows: Get Form SS-5 from nearest post office or Social Security Board Field Office. Answer questions on Form SS-5 to the best of your knowledge. State reason for filing it, such as: "employees left my service on _____, without filing application." Sign with your signature, followed by the word "employer." Send completed form to your Social Security Board Field Office. You will receive notice of the proper number to use for the employee.

Question: My three brothers and myself are in the building business. We own our corporation. We have been told we came under the Social Security law as employees. Is that correct?

Answer: It is. You are employees of the corporation. The fact that you and your brothers own the corporation does not change your status as employees of the corporation so far as the Social Security Act is concerned. The income tax on wages of employees, prescribed in Title VIII of the Social Security Act, applies to the wages paid to you. The corporation is required to pay the income tax prescribed in Title VIII. The Collector of Internal Revenue is glad to give you full information.

Everything to Lose

I'VE BET MY WIFE AND THE KIDS I CAN MAKE THE HUNDRED MILES IN 2 HOURS — FLAT!

An automobile accident is invariably the result of a mistake by someone. Quite often the pedestrian is at fault; once in a great while the finger of guilt points to the engineer who designed the highway or the man who designed the car. But in three accidents out of every five the blunder is made by the man behind the wheel.

What are these driver-mistakes that result so frequently in death and injury?

An analysis of the 1936 accident reports by statisticians of The Travelers Insurance Company shows that exceeding the speed limit is the chief cause of death. Driving on the wrong side of the road is the next most common error and driving off the roadway is a close third. Failing to grant the right of way and reckless driving follow in that order.

Other common mistakes include "cutting in," passing on curves and hills, failing to signal, and passing standing street cars.

Larkspur Blue Is Used In Window Shades

By Jane Rogers

WE'VE just seen them and they are lovely! They're a glorious new cool blue for spring and summer—a blue that makes your rooms look and feel as fresh and soothing as a sea breeze.

Larkspur blue goes magnificently with the blue tones of draperies that are so smart this year—and we were impressed by the fact these window shades are made of cloth woven on a loom and then processed for long life!

We both know how important blue in home decorations will be this spring, summer and fall! And it would be not only smart of us, but extremely chic, if we ensembled windows and woodwork with the shades. You have no idea what a grand feeling of spaciousness you get when your shades blend with the rest of your decorations.

For those of you who are the slightest bit doubtful about colored shades being the latest—well, here's a tip that you order this new shade with the blue facing inside and outside facing the street, thereby achieving a uniform appearance.
